ANNUAL MEETING

Chamber of Commerce Holds Dinner and Business Meeting. Elect G. Wilbur Thompson President

The Newton Chamber of Commerce held its annual meeting on Monday evening at the Newton Club, with about one hundred members and guests present. The program consisted of interesting addresses by excellent speakers, reports from the Chamber's officers, and the election of G. Wilbur Thompson, of Newton Centre, president, and other officers for the ensuing year.

President Rupert C. Thompson presided and introduced the speakers, Mr. Henry I. Harriman, chairman of the Metropolitan planning board, Alderman J. Earle Parker, chairman of the select committee on zoning and Water Commissioner J. C. Whitney.

Mr. Harriman took for his subject the proposed new traffic gateway to Boston and the extension of the rapid transit system. He said that metropolitan Boston took in thirty-nine miles and towns and comprised an area that was the largest of its kind in the country. It also was the only one of its kind that was not controlled by one government and it had been wisely kept so, as the loss of personal touch should not be incurred. Many problems, however, must be considered as a unit, such as the water works, sewage, and parkway systems. The legislature, two years ago, had established the planning board constituted of seven members, three of whom were appointed by the governor and the others, heads of various departments which dealt with metropolitan affairs. This board had been instructed to report directly among other matters upon a northern traffic gateway from the Charles river basin to Broadway park. Last year two and one-half million dollars was appropriated for this gateway and the takings of land will be completed in about two weeks. Commonwealth avenue at present makes a fine gateway into Boston from the west and it seemed that the first consideration was to relieve the traffic congestion toward the north. The commission is now considering a southern gateway to the South Shore. The through roads are planned so as to avoid business (continued on page 2)

GIRL SCOUTS

Saturday, April 4 is to be "spring cleaning" at Camp Mary Day. The older girls from all the Troops are invited to come to camp with their rakes and hoes, wheel barrows and clippers and to help clear up the grounds. Dinner will be cooked in the Council Ring and when the work is done there will be a good game or two.

Camp Mary Day is to have a garden this summer. The ground is ready and when the time comes the girls will be asked to help plant it. The camp girls will take care of it during the summer and will enjoy picking and eating the fresh vegetables which it will yield.

The test for the Child Nurse Merit Badge was given last week at the Newton Hospital by Miss Grant to three scouts. The Dressmaker and Needlewoman tests were given at the Vocational High School by Miss Mary Owens and the test for the Craftsman Badge was given by Miss Ellis at the Art Department of the School. Next week the tests for the Cooking Badge will be given by Miss Davis, the Interpreter by Miss Ellis and the Milliner by Miss Alden. Work has been started in a number of Troops for the outdoor badges. The Pathfinder and Bird Hunter being the most popular

CHORAL CONCERT

The semi-annual concert of the Newton Choral Society was given Thursday night at Central Church, and was heard by an audience that filled that large auditorium. As usual those present were very enthusiastic over the work of the society.

Walter H. Kidder, baritone at Eliot Church, sang as solo an aria from Verdi's "Un Ballo in Maschera"; also "Sittin' Thinkin'" by Fisher; "Vale" by Russell; and "Roadways" by Denmore. Mr. Kidder's superb and resonant voice rendered these numbers in his usual brilliant manner.

Mrs. Martin Kingsbury, soprano of the Second Church, West Newton, sang the solo parts in Gounod's "Gallia". Mrs. Kingsbury's work is always heard with great pleasure, and she sings with both sympathy and power of dramatic expression.

The leading number of the program was the musical setting for the Irish ballad, "Phauidrig Crohoore", by Villiers-Stanford. This is a very unusual composition, full of color and enthusiasm and descriptive power, with romantic and sentimental passages, tone pictures of an Irish wedding, and a dramatic climax of great power. In some respects it was the most difficult composition the society has ever handled. It was sung with a great deal of spirit and careful shading. Cesar Franck's "Psalms 150" was presented in a very impressive manner, and the (Continued on Page 4)

ELIOT MEN'S CLUB

Mr. Edward E. Whiting of "Whiting's Column" was the speaker on Tuesday at the meeting of the Men's Club of Eliot Church. The President, Mr. J. Garfield Stone, presided and introduced the speaker, Mr. Whiting's subject was, "Who's Who in Washington."

We have "covered" many speakers in our time, but never before have we so wished that we had the speed and accuracy of a court reporter. From our familiarity with "Whiting's Column" we were prepared for a fluent discourse, but the Niagara of words which proceeded from Mr. Whiting's lips far exceeded anything in our experience.

Apropos of his subject for the evening Mr. Whiting said that he was once asked by the president of a Woman's Club to give a subject for a "lecture" to be given before the club. At the moment, he had but one lecture available, but feeling that it would be discourteous to disappoint her, he sent four topics, all relating to the same lecture. What was his consternation to receive a reply that the club, being unable to choose between them, would take the whole series. We are sorry that he did not say what the outcome of this interesting situation was.

Reduction in Price

During the past year, our sales have increased so largely, that it has been necessary to install larger and much improved machinery.

Due to this fact and to a generally improved efficiency throughout our factory, we have been able to effect a saving in the cost of production.

It has always been our aim to sell these Potato Chips at as low a price as possible, and we now take great pleasure in announcing that on and after Tuesday, April seventh, the retail price of the new box will be twenty cents.

We also wish to announce that the extremely high quality which has always distinguished these Potato Chips from all others, will be most carefully maintained.

 Land Court.

To George W. St. Amant, George F. Howland, Celia Haskell and Jane D. St. Amant, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; Arthur T. Winslow, now or formerly of Worcester, in the County of Worcester and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas a petition has been presented to said Court by Ella B. Smith and Mary L. Walker, of said Newton, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton bounded and described as follows: Southeast by Vista Avenue, 159.61 feet; Southwest by land now or formerly of George F. Howland, 140.60 feet; Northwest by land now or formerly of George W. St. Amant, 56.30 feet and 111.80 feet, respectively; Northwest by land now or formerly of Jane D. St. Amant, 40.40 feet; and Northeast by land now or formerly of Jane D. St. Amant and Celia Haskell, 219.71 feet.

Petitioners claim as appurtenant to the above described land right that no building shall for 20 years from Mar. 30, 1912, be erected on adjoining land now owned by George F. Howland within 45 feet from said petitioners, 45 feet from land of your petitioners, said right being by agreement dated Mar. 30, 1912, duly recorded Book 4220, Page 201, and petitioners admit that said land is subject to restriction mentioned above.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty seventh day of April A. D. 1925, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this first day of April in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-five.

centers and to this end a route has been chosen across the old Minot farm in the thinly settled part of Dorchester thence across the new Neponset bridge and down to Quincy. Later it is planned to cut a road back of Quincy so that the south shore may be reached by avoiding this congested point.

The other matter which comes up for action before the legislature this year affects Newton. There is a bill before the general court now to appropriate the money for a parkway across the Weld farm in West Roxbury to Newton street and from this point along Newton street to the junction of Hammond and Lagrange streets. Eight or ten years ago the Commonwealth bought a part of the land known as Hammond's woods at Chestnut Hill with the intention of constructing a highway as far as Beacon street. The war came on and no funds were available but this year it is hoped that the route to Beacon street will be built. The commission has been studying a route across Newton and it was felt that the large expenditure necessary for the route through Edmonds Park, Cabot Park and Jackson road was not warranted. Mr. Harriman said that for the present the highway should end at either Beacon street or Commonwealth avenue. However if a second appropriation is not made for the construction of the highway across Hammond's woods that Hammond street itself can be utilized. A highway through Newton, Mr. Harriman felt, would be a great boon to the city. He also was in favor of circular highways to conduct traffic around the centre of Boston as it seemed to be the present practice to go into Boston and out again. A circumferential highway every two miles would greatly relieve the present traffic congestion at many points.

The highway problem is only one of many that the planning board is considering and Mr. Harriman touched upon the question of the extension of the rapid transit system. Little can be done on this matter until the question of the future control of the elevated is determined. In 1925 under the present act of the legislature, the public control of the system will cease unless further action is taken to continue the present means of control by a board of trustees. It is time, Mr. Harriman said, that the people make their wishes known to their representatives in both branches of the general court so that some action can be taken. The matter of electrically operated trains passing through subways under Boston is also awaiting consideration. Later a resolution was passed that Newton's representative in the general court be asked to consider the future control of the elevated system.

A pay-as-you-go policy for all expenditures is the only way that these public problems can be dealt with at the present time and means of increasing revenue must be found. Mr. Harriman stated that we must face the question of an added auto tax, either by excise, gasoline, or by increased registration. Sixty million dollars were spent last year for the maintenance of streets and under twenty millions were received from registrations. In five years, Mr. Harriman predicted that there would be over a million cars bearing Massachusetts plates and that a 2 cent tax on gasoline would bring in about ten million dollars annually. This tax, which is sorely needed, should be handled entirely by the state. Half should be spent upon state highways in the thinly settled districts and the other half for through routes in the larger cities. The present horse-power tax is absurd, Mr. Harriman stated, and a new tax on registration should be made. A small flat tax and then a graduated tax as to the weight and load of the car or truck plus the gasoline tax is the fairest way. The present cost to the owner of a car is about eleven dollars and this should be increased to twenty or twenty-five and applied in a scientific way.

In reply to a question as to the construction of the Cottage Farm Bridge Mr. Harriman said that an agreement had been reached recently and he saw no obstacle to immediate construction.

Alderman J. Earle Parker informed the members of the Chamber on the question of the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance establishing a single residence zone in certain parts of the city. Zoning gives home owners the opportunity to go about their daily routine feeling secure that their homes are safe from unpleasant influences and encroachments from without. There must be community protection. The zoning ordinances which went into effect in Dec. 1922 provided for various classes by districts. Requests have been received for changes from districts of lesser restrictions to districts of greater restrictions. This is the situation all over the country and it means preservation of proper influences and proper values in such districts. Zoning is orderly city building, under police power, which means community power, which in turn means the peoples power or the expression of the will of the people. Twenty-four million people in the U. S. live in zones and since 1920 there have been twenty-nine cities and towns in Massachusetts which have passed zoning ordinances. Sixteen of these have single residence zones and seven others are considering the question. It is the most active of all civic matters and the present ordinance in Newton has met with general approval throughout the city. Additional benefits are now wanted and the improvement associations of Newton feel that a single residence zone is needed. Aldermen Ball last year, moved that a committee be appointed to study the situation and report on the advisability of such a district. Alderman-Madden, Collins, Baker, Gordon, Parker, Norman, F. Pratt and Pitts, representing each ward were named as the committee and they have reported unanimously in favor of a single residence zone. The restrictions will be the same as at present except that large single residences (assessed prior to April 1901) may be converted into two family houses under certain restrictions and that all future houses in the single residence zone shall be restricted to single residences. Each ward was studied separately and then jointly with the contiguous wards and the area set aside for single residences is not out of proportion to the other districts. As to the constitutionality of the single residence zone, Alderman Parker said that since the Supreme Court had handed down a favorable decision in the Brookline case this phase of the situation had been cleared up. The Supreme Court recommended the single zone because it decreased fire risk, increased the amount of fresh air per capita, offered greater opportunities for recreation of adults, as well as children, and also reduced the amount of disease. A single residence zone is advantageous for all, no matter what one's social standing might be, and it placed good homes within the reach of the thrifty whose earning power was an average. If the committee had overlooked any particular section an opportunity will be given at the hearing on Monday evening, April 6th, for anyone to be heard upon the subject. Alderman Parker stated that he already had received several complaints because certain streets had not been included in the single residence zone and had received none because of inclusion in the zone.

Roughly the single residence zone covers the following parts of the city: all of Waban, all of Chestnut Hill, West Newton Hill, Oak Hill, the district around Edmonds Park as far east as Centre street and north to Cabot street, west side of Mount Ida, district west and north of Chrysal Lake, and the district in Newton Centre bounded by Commonwealth avenue, Centre and Cotton streets.

Water commissioner J. C. Whitney spoke upon the water supply system of Newton and the contemplated improvements. Newton had been a city but eighteen months when work was begun upon a city water system and fifty years elapsed before any large expenditure became necessary. Since the establishment of the system daily consumption had grown from 300,000 to 4 million gallons. In August 1924 the board of fire underwriters recommended that a 20 inch main be laid east and west from the reservoir to Washington street and connections made with the present water lines. This would entail a large expense and the question of entering fully into the Metropolitan system which was considered would postpone the expense for a long time, possibly it might never have to be made. This however would not permit of supplying the high points in Newton with the necessary pressure and so it was abandoned. At present the present system, the reservoir and a pumping station at opposite end of the city, does not give the necessary fire pressure in case of a serious conflagration, at the high points in the city. The new line, connecting with the present cross lines will give the necessary fire pressure all over the city. It will also permit of a thorough flushing out of all the lines, a matter of which there is pressing need. The last time a flushing out of the lines was attempted the pressure was pulled down to such an extent that it was concluded that this work could only be done on a small scale. The new line will benefit the city's water quality and also quantity, as a thorough flushing out will remove the large amount of foreign matter now in the mains and a larger capacity will be the result. It is hoped that an auxiliary electric pump will be installed at the pumping station this year. This pump will safeguard the present plant, one pump of which was installed in 1876. The boilers in the plant have been in use for 31 years. In case of emergency the city can connect with the Metropolitan system and last year 100,000 gallons was taken from them at the average price it was furnished to the cities and towns using the Metropolitan system exclusively.

Questioned as to the discoloration of the water recently, Mr. Whitney said that with the new main in use a thorough flushing out of all lines would be made and while it was impossible to do this without making trouble, certain sections would be shut out at certain times and all the residents of that section would be notified. It might be necessary to draw off water to last a couple of days while the flushing out was being done. Last fall some flushing out was done while the ground water was low, it stayed low until the middle of February, then the melting ice and snow softened the water to such an extent that it acted as a solvent and the scale in the mains discolored the water. For two days the Metropolitan water was used but this did almost the same thing and it had to work off by degrees. The water at that time was not injurious to the health but was unpleasant. The present epidemic of jaundice, Mr. Whitney said, had been laid to the Newton water by some doctors in the city but he had got in touch with the state board of health and they had said that conditions were the same in other communities. Therefore he did not see how the Newton water was responsible.

Later on it is hoped that the pumping station will be electrically operated throughout but at present the auxiliary pump will suffice. The new main, which will follow practically the line of Commonwealth avenue, it is hoped, can be completed this year. The cost will be about $200,000 which will be taken care of by the issue of new bonds.

President Rupert C. Thompson turned the meeting over to Vice-President George J. Martin and business affairs were taken up. The report of the Treasurer, Mr. Walter T. Hannigan, was read and accepted. This report gave the affairs of the Chamber, the Credit Bureau and The Newton Progress. The Chamber of Commerce received a total of $13,082 of which $11,025 came from membership dues. Expenditures amounted to $13,022 of which $9,924, was spent for salaries. The balance $39.00. The Newton Progress received its largest receipts, $27,541, for advertising and reported expenditures of $27,702, and a balance of $141.11.

The secretary's report reviewed the work accomplished during the year namely: the establishment of traffic regulations in Nonantum square; the establishment of the Newton Credit Bureau, modification of the building code of the city, and a start towards the establishment of a self-sustaining merchant's association in each village and other activities. No money had been borrowed and the dues were lower than any other Chamber in the country.

The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mr. H. W. Ross and secretary C. C. Mowry was named to cast one ballot for all the officers. The following were declared elected for the ensuing year: President, G. Wilbur Thompson, Newton Centre; 1st vice-president C. Raymond Cabot, Newtonville; chairman of the civic division, 2nd vice-president, George J. Martin, Chestnut Hill, chairman of the Industrial division; 3rd vice-president, Ira S. Roe, West Newton, chairman of the Mercantile division; 4th vice-president, Robert A. Vachon, Newton Centre, chairman of the Building division; treasurer, Walter T. Hannigan, Newton; Directors, Robert H. Evans, Newton; Rupert C. Thompson, Newtonville; Henry J. Nichols, West Newton; Edwin O. Childs, Nonantum; Harold F. Young, Auburndale; William H. Rice, Newton Centre; Frank L. Richardson, Newton Highlands; Leverett Saltonstall, Chestnut Hill; George V. Phipps, Waban; Herbert E. Locke, Newton Upper Falls; Marshall L. NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

Mr. William B. Pratt was the speaker Monday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club at the Newton Club house. He spoke on the subject of rubber and told of its discovery, in the Amazon valley, how it was brought thru the two years work in the bush of an Englishman who had a vision that it could be made a matter of cultivation,—how it was propagated in the Malay peninsula, so that at the present time over 90 percent of the crude rubber of the world comes from that region.

Without this production Mr. Pratt said it would have been impossible to supply the world's demands for rubber due to the automobile.

Mr. Pratt said that a full grown rubber tree will produce about three pounds of rubber a year, the sap running slowly from the trees. It received its name from the fact that its first commercial use was to erase pencil marks.

He told how Charles Goodyear discovered that sulphur would make rubber impervious to the weather or thermometer, making possible still further use of rubber products and then told of his own business of experimenting with other products to obtain rubber thru chemical processes. It was a most interesting and instructive talk.

VIOLIN RECITAL

An interesting recital was given by pupils of Gertrude Bowes Peabody at her home and studio at 1601 Centre street, Newton Highlands on Saturday, March 28th.

Among other pupils taking part were Catherine and Martha Thompson, daughters of Dr. C. A. Thompson of Newton Highlands, Olive Riley, daughter of Dr. C. A. Riley of Chestnut Hill, and George Bennett, son of Mr. S. J. Bennett of Newton Upper Falls. The latter showed marked talent, playing a concerto with much brilliancy and feeling for a boy so young.

Mrs. Peabody spent last summer studying in France, winning a diploma from the Fontainebleau Conservatoire. She studied conducting with Andre Block of Paris, and is making a special feature of ensemble playing. Four numbers were given by "The Miniature Ensemble" composed of ten children, not yet in their teens.

The guests included parents and friends of the pupils, Monsieur Georges Longy, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and Mme. Renee Longy-Miquelle, both directors of "The Longy School of Music," where Mrs. Peabody is a member of the faculty.

SCHOOL NOTES

High Schools

The class of 1924 of the Technical High School held its first reunion Friday evening in the library of the Technical school. The arrangements were under the direction of Alfred Lynch, the class president, assisted by Albert Rottler and James Cronin. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Lynch, and Miss Caroline Doonan were the patronesses for the evening. Richard White, Arline McGourty, June Grant, Alice McKinney, and Martha Heffron, technical seniors, assisted the alumni as ushers. Alfred Lynch welcomed the class, expressing Mr. Palmer's best wishes and his disappointment at not being present.

The evening was spent in dancing and general merrymaking. The Dramatic Club will present two one-act plays on April 16 in the afternoon, and on April 17 in the evening. The plays chosen are "The Ghost Story," by Booth Tarkington and "The Maker of Dreams," by Oliphant Down.

Miss Helen A. Savage and Director Bacon will contribute a sketch entitled "The Silent Partner."

A committee composed of Miss Louise Wetherbee, and Miss Irene M. Haworth assisted by Roxanna Holden, Katharine Rich, Geraldine Herlihy, Harry Walsh and William Blakeney chose the cast: "The Ghost Story" will be played by Alice Howley, Richard Miller, Leonice Bellamy, Helen Andrews, Carolyn Pomeroy, Henry Wood, Ellis Bowen, and Carlton Redman.

"The Maker of Dreams" will include Mary Sheehan, Angela Altieri, and Robert Grant.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

Last Friday afternoon the pupils of grade seven were given a very interesting talk on Holland by Miss Bassett. Many beautiful postal cards which she had procured while in Holland were exhibited and fascinating incidents were told to the class.

A short Dutch play written by Arnold Seligman, a pupil of the seventh grade was then given. The cast included the following: Gerda Roman, John Shaughnessy, Harold Strombom and Edward Osborne. At the close of the play, Edward Osborne presented Miss Bassett with a pot of tulips supposed to have been grown on his Dutch farm. The affair proved most interesting and instructive.

Approximately twelve students—mostly from foreign countries—belonging to Dr. Smith's class of Harvard University made a visit to our primary classes last week to inspect the results in our health instruction. "Story of Milk," a short moving picture reel, was presented to the entire school on the afternoon of March 13.

Stearns Schools

Monday afternoon, at the close of school, Miss Inez Barrington, assisted by two full blooded Indians, presented an interesting entertainment. The colored lantern slides gave the children a clear idea of how the various Indian tribes responded to their environment. The lecture was followed by real ceremonial songs and dances, by Miss Barrington and her Indian associates. Such a program is highly educational and it was appreciated by the children.

Lasell

A recital by the pupils of the Music Department was held on Wednesday evening, April 1.

Today, Mr. Henry W. Poor lectures at four-thirty in the afternoon, his subject being Whistler, Sargent and Abbey. The Senior class conducts a Cafeteria dinner tonight in the dining room at Bragdon Hall, for the benefit of the Endowment Fund, and in the evening there will be a Gym and basketball game between the seniors and juniors and dancing by the Woodland Park pupils.

Saturday afternoon the seniors and sophomores will contest for honors in a swimming meet. Saturday evening Mrs. Elizabeth Pooler Rice is to read "Friend Hannah" at Bragdon Hall. Members of the school are invited to the Congregational Church Sunday P. M. at five o'clock to hear Professor Osbert W. Warrington of Boston University. This will take the place of the regular Vesper service.

Tuesday evening, April 7, the Lasell French Club, under the direction of Miss Le Royer, head of the French Department, will present the play "L'Anglais tel qu'il en parle."

The Tufts Glee Club assisted by the Lasell Glee and Mandolin Clubs will give a concert at the Auburndale Club House, Wednesday evening, April 8 at eight o'clock.

On Thursday, April 9, Lasell and Woodland Park School close for the Easter vacation.

DEATH OF MR. BOWEN

Mr. William E. Bowen, member of the New England Life Insurance Co. of Boston, died at his home on Chester street last Friday, in his 66th year.

Mr. Bowen was born in Northbridge, and has lived in Newton about twenty-five years. He is survived only by his widow, Elizabeth Metcalf Bowen.

Mr. Bowen was a member of the Blue Lodge in Northbridge, and of the Gethsemane Lodge in Newton, and was a Shriner and a Knight Templar. Services were held at his late residence on Monday, Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow of the Congregational Church officiating and the burial was at Mt. Auburn.

MAKE FINE RECORD

The Newton High School swimming team, now in its third year as a varsity sport, has made a record to be proud of in the season which closed Saturday, March 21 with the annual schoolboy championships at the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. Brookline won the meet over fourteen other teams with a total of 22 points and will retain the Lt. George R. Meehan trophy for another year. Newton finished second to Brookline scoring 16 points and threw a scare into the town team's supporters by taking first in the 100 yd and 200 yd swims. Osborne and Clark were the winners in these events.

Perry and Hammond with third places in the back stroke and plunge and the relay team with third place scored the remainder of Newton's points.

In their dual meet season Newton lost only three meets and in two of these were swimming out of the water. Exeter Academy and Huntington preparatory school defeated Newton by scores of 53 to 18 and 33 to 17 respectively. Brookline won from the local boys 39 to 23. Newton scored a total of 298 points to their opponent, in ten dual meets.

During the three seasons Newton has been represented by a swimming team rapid strides have been made and the outlook for another sterling team next year is bright as only Clark and Phelps will be lost by graduation. George Morris, the Newton Y. M. C. A. physical instructor, who was formerly in charge of the Trenton, N. J., Y. M. C. A. and high school swimming teams.

Two bright spots in the season were the defeat of Gardner which team nose-dived Newton by a wall margin last year and the defeat of Cambridge Latin in a return meet at the Newton Y tank when the Garden City mermen hung up three new records. At the meet in Cambridge the meet ended in a 25 to 25 tie and the Newton swimmers upheld the contention that Newton has the best team, by winning in the home pool 28 to 21.

Philip Perry, one of the most consistent performers on the Newton team, captained the outfit this season and his work has brought forth well merited applause time and time again. He has scored a total of 67 points, while Lloyd Osborne, his nearest rival, has hung up 62.

In the meet with Commerce it was necessary for Captain Perry to enter three events and the relay because of illness of a couple of his teammates. He came through fine by winning the dive, the 20 yd dash and the 200 yd swim.

Osborne's performances for the year are remarkable when taken into consideration the fact that he is only a sophomore and 15 years of age. James Esson, who has done well in the dive, has not reached his 15 birthday.

Merrill Hammond is another of the teams stellar performers confining his activities to the plunge he has won that event over all contenders except in the Huntington meet.

Winthrop Clark, in the 200 yd swim and the 4 yd swim, is another athlete who has more than lived up to expectations. Phelps is also another boy whom great things are predicted in the future.

The record of the team follows: Newton 43, Rindge Tech 16; Newton 18; Boston Latin 5; Newton 43, Providence Tech 7; Newton 18, Exeter 53; Newton 17, Huntington 33; Newton 33, Gardner 17; Newton 25, Cambridge 25; Newton 23, Brookline 39; Newton 48, H. S. of Commerce 11; Newton 28, Cambridge 21.

THE ETERNAL LIGHT

The life of Christ is the saddest, and withal the sweetest and most sublime story in all the world. The "Eternal Light" which will be shown at Our Lady's Auditorium, Newton, on the evenings of Palm Sunday and Monday of Holy Week, is a beautiful photo-play in which the Divine Story is portrayed with such dignity and solemnity that it is an object-lesson and an inspiration which no sermon, however eloquent, can produce.

An especially appealing qualification is that it is absolutely true in its biblical and historical setting, having been filmed in the very place where the original scenes of the Redemption were enacted.

To see depicted before our eyes this most wonderful of all dramas is a rare privilege indeed. The birth of the Saviour, His Childhood and Boyhood are most faithfully and reverently depicted. The coming of the Magi across the desert with their great caravans makes a gorgeous and wonderful spectacle. Hundreds of people were engaged in making this and other scenes, such as the triumphal Entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday. Practically the entire Life of the Saviour from Bethlehem to Calvary is brought before us. The tremendous tragedy of the Crucifixion is witnessed with breathless interest.

The portrayal of the Mother of Christ has been done with a sweetness, a tenderness, and dignity beyond words to tell. If one of Raphael's Madonnas were to step down from the canvas and play the part, the effect could not be more beautiful.

The actors move through the whole picture with a simplicity and lack of dramatic pose that is appealing. From the first scene until the thrilling climax, everything is presented in the most devotional manner. There is nothing offensive to Christian piety.

We are impressed more by what we see than by what we hear. In seeing "The Eternal Light" one will be able to appreciate more than ever, the Mystery of Divine Love, "greater than which no man hath." This greatest of all religious photo-plays will fill us with the spirit of Holy Week, such as we have never before experienced.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending March 28:—Patients in hospital 127, patients paying as much as cost of care or more 70, patients paying less than cost of care 39, free patients (including babies) 27, patients treated by out patient department 133, patients treated at eye clinic 10, accident cases 13, babies born 11, social service calls at hospital 16, at homes 13, patients transferred by social service car 16.

The trustees of the hospital at their quarterly meeting held Monday evening at the hospital voted unanimously that it is not advisable at the present for the hospital to participate in the suggested Community Chest Plan for Newton. The trustees also voted to authorize the immediate building of a power plant to cost not over $125,000. The power plant authorized has been needed by the hospital for some time and its building will be, it is hoped, the first step in the enlarging of the hospital and the building of new units recommended by the building committee appointed to study the development of the hospital.

Miss Herrick, director of the Out Patient and Social Service Department of the Hospital attended a recent conference at the Boston Dispensary at which the speaker was Dr. Roger I. Lee.

Monday's meeting of the Know More Kokki Klub was held in the class room in Founders as the recreation room in the Nurses' Home is being used to exhibit a model of the hospital and its grounds.

The women members of the board of trustees held a meeting at 7.30 Monday evening preliminary to the meeting of the full board at eight.

Last Saturday three girl scouts, Mary Hey, Eloise Barber and Evelyn Porter visited the hospital and took an examination in child nursing which was given to them by one of the instructors. At the same time the hospital was visited by fifteen girls who came out from North Eastern in a big bus. The fifteen girls were high school students in the sophomore class who had just finished courses in child and home nursing and were accompanied by their instructor.

Miss Allen, the superintendent, attended a conference on volunteer service at the Central Council last week. There came to one of the private rooms of the hospital a blind old lady from one of the many villages of Newton. After she has been at the hospital a while it became evident that she was not ill nor in need of hospital treatment but that she was physically unable to care for herself. As nothing was known about her, except that she herself had told the social service visitor made inquiries and found that the old lady owned a rather ramshackle house and thought herself fairly well off in worldly goods but that as a matter of fact she had little besides the house, and that if it had not been she were the owner of the house she would probably have been cared for by the city.

When the facts were known the old lady was moved to one of the free beds and the social service visitor started at work to try and gain admission for her to a hospital near Boston which makes a specialty of caring for such cases. Unfortunately there was no chance of admission as the waiting list was overcrowded. The old lady stayed on at the hospital and the social service visitor kept at work trying to find some solution of the problem. Then one day there was sent to the hospital a young woman to be operated on for appendicitis and the social service visitor found that the young woman was the support of her mother, her younger sisters and that during the time that she would be unable to work her family would have a hard time making both ends meet. Here was another problem for the social service worker and the way out proved to be also a way out of the problem of the old lady. If the family of the young woman would move into the house of the old lady and in lieu of rent take care of the mother of the young woman, the family of the young patient would not have to pay rent and the old lady would have some one to take care of her.

Whether the plan proposed can be carried through is to be seen but the incident serves to illustrate the work done by the hospital social service visitor and also to show that the figure given week after week of social service calls made at hospital and homes are just hints at the work the visitor is doing to prove that the Newton Hospital was established and is carried on in the spirit of friendliness to do all that it can for the people of Newton.

DEATH OF PROFESSOR WOODS

Professor Charles Dayton Woods died at his home 12 Channing street, Newton, Monday in his 60th year.

Prof. Woods was born in Brooks, Me., in 1856, and was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1882. He served as food expert for the United States department of agriculture from 1894 to 1908; as professor of agriculture at the University of Maine, 1896 to 1908; was consultant in agriculture to the United States war department from 1896 to 1920; during the same period was director of the Maine agricultural experiment station, and since 1922 had held the position with the Massachusetts agricultural department.

He was a member of numerous scientific societies and of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Psi. Besides his widow, Mrs. Mary Morgan Woods, his mother, Mrs. Maria Colcord Woods, and two sons, William Woods and Harry Woods, survive him.

The funeral service was held Wednesday at the crematory chapel, Mt. Auburn cemetery. Dr. Elmer Worcester of Emanuel Church, Boston, officiated.

POLICE COURT

Michael Flaherty of Jasset street, Nonantum, was fined $10 in Court by Judge Allen Monday morning on a charge of drunkenness, and found not guilty of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested by Patrolmen T. Riley and Maguire, but neither officer testified that he had seen Flaherty operating, and a companion of Flaherty's testified that he drove the machine.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC

EDITORIAL

We trust there will be a large attendance at the hearing next Monday evening on the proposal to establish a single residence district in our present zoning ordinance. It will be recalled that this matter was vetoed a year or so ago by Mayor Childs and while it had a majority vote in the city government, it was not possible to reach the two thirds vote needed to pass the ordinance over the veto. The original commission which worked for several years on this matter of zoning was strongly in favor of the single residence zone and there had been considerable disappointment over the situation created by the veto of the Mayor. Every effort should be made at the present time to establish a single residence zone which is absolutely needed to protect the most desirable residential sections of the city.

We note with some concern that in awarding the contract for building the new High School, the lowest bidder, the well known firm of Simpson Bros. Corporation, founded by former prominent residents of this city, has been passed over and another bidder, at a higher figure given the business. While the amount involved is not a great sum, the adoption of the principle of not awarding contracts to the lowest bidder will soon make responsible firms reluctant to submit bids for work for the city of Newton. We do not believe that such a situation is desired by the tax payers of this city.

We urge the hearty cooperation of every resident of the city in the taking of the state census which begins this week. Several important events in our civic life are based on the figures obtained by the census and it ought not to be neglected.

The news that motorists all over the country paid $80,000,000 in gas taxes last year to 35 different states, only emphasizes the loss of revenue to Massachusetts by the ill advised action on the gasoline tax bill last fall. A loss of revenue that will reflect itself many times in the lack of good roads.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

State House, Boston.—The General Court of 1925 will in all probability be prorogued early in May. The public leaders would be gratified if final adjournment could be reached before that date. Although unusually rapid progress was made in the beginning of this year's session there seems to be a general "slowing down" at the present time. Somehow or other many of the more important matters are left for the "tail end" of every legislative session. This year seems no exception to that rule. A "spurt" along the middle of this month is not unlikely and the first few weeks of May will see the closing of this year's session.

The bill of Ex-Mayor Hatfield of this city for an appropriation of $3,000,000 for further enforcement of the State Liquor law was rejected as predicted in this column last week. The Joint Ways and Means Committee's adverse report was read in the Senate Monday and accepted without a murmur from any Senator. Last Wednesday in the House the same thing happened. Not a word was spoken and the matter faded into history. The fact that the bill had no friends on the floor of either branch was something of a surprise because of Mr. Hatfield's unquestioned popularity. It is assumed that Mr. Hatfield did not expect favorable action when he found out the attitude of the committee and felt that a struggle to overturn the committee's report would be useless. If Mr. Hatfield had seen fit to enlist the services of his many friends in the General Court the result might have been different as "Charley" has influence with members of both branches. At no time was the bill taken very seriously by any legislator and for that reason the final rejection caused not even a ripple of excitement on Beacon Hill.

The House has concurred with the Senate in passing to be engrossed the bill to repeal that part of the civil service law which gives a veteran the right of appeal to city or town authorities in cases of removal. Newton's Representatives voted in favor of the bill and were so recorded on both roll calls. Mr. Saltonstall took the floor to speak for the bill. Consideration of the bill by the House was one of the most important events of the past week at the State House. Opponents of the bill, having lost out in the Senate, waged a great fight to kill the measure in the House. They were along in the end on both stages. The vote was close on both roll calls.

The House had an unexpected rumour over the bill giving the District Attorney of Suffolk County authority to appoint two additional assistants. The Ways and Means Committee was responsible for the commotion as it changed the original bill making approval of the Governor and Council necessary. Heretofore such appointments have been approved by the Superior Court Justices.

When an amendment was offered to change the bill and strike out the approval of the Governor and Council Representative Hollis voted for this amendment and Representatives Saltonstall and Luitwieler against it. The amendment was rejected, 127 to 85. Then another amendment was offered to substitute for "Governor and Council" the words "Chief Justice of the Superior Court" but that amendment was lost by a voice vote.

Reconsideration of this vote was obtained by a roll call vote. Mr. Hollis voting for reconsideration and Messrs. Luitwieler and Saltonstall against. Then the amendment was again rejected by a voice vote.

There was considerable debate in the House over a bill which provides that a person who fails in his first examination for a license to operate a motor vehicle may take a second examination within 30 days without payment of an additional fee. The present law calls for a $2 fee for a second examination whenever taken. The Ways and Means Committee wanted the bill referred to the next annual session on the ground that the loss of considerable revenue to the State. There was a roll call on referring the bill to the next annual session. Mr. Hollis voted against such reference and Messrs. Luitwieler and Saltonstall voted for it. After that the bill was advanced through its various stages by voice votes.

Gov. Fuller has established something of a record for veto having sent 10 thus far. There seems to be a general belief that he has exercised excellent judgment. Most of his vetoes referred to special bills for individuals, allowing them increased pensions or awarding them damages for injuries. There has been also for a salary increase. The Governor has pointed out special bills are reasons which the Legislature has accepted.

The Governor's action on the State budget has been in line with his general policy of economy. It has disclosed a difference of opinion between him and the members of the Joint Committee on Ways and Means. The changes that the Governor has recommended, he himself makes plain will not affect the efficiency of the State government but will keep the State tax down to $12,000,000 which is as high as the Governor believes should be allowed.

It now appears as if this year's General Court would strengthen the law for the punishment of drunken automobile drivers. The House has passed the bill and the Senate has added amendments which friends of the legislation have agreed are wise. The amendments put on by the Senate make it necessary for the complaint against a man charged with second offence to specify the court in which first conviction is alleged to have taken place. This is said to be only fair to the defendant inasmuch as he has a definite allegation which he may seek to disprove and not merely a statement from the office of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

The amendment attaching an emergency preamble is agreed to be highly essential as it will put the law into operation as soon as it is signed by the Governor.

The amendment to require that the first offence shall have been committed within six years previous is put on so that a man may not have the first offence hanging over his head throughout his life time. If one were to look at this amendment humorously one would say that the Senate believed that once in six years is not too often to commit the offence of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. But the amendment is agreeable to those who want the bill and they are satisfied that some leniency is desirable and that this form is fair and just.

One of the most impressive occasions of this year at the State House was the memorial exercises Wednesday in honor of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, at which Bishop William Lawrence of the Episcopal diocese of Massachusetts, a life-long friend of Senator Lodge, delivered a remarkable address. There were present many distinguished persons who came on invitation of the General Court.

An attempt was made in the Senate yesterday to kill on the enactment stage the bill repealing that section of the civil service law giving veterans the right of appeal to city and town authorities in cases of removal. The first motion made was to refer the bill to the next annual session. Senator Rice was recorded against the motion on the roll call. On the motion to "strike out the enacting clause," which would have the effect of killing the bill, Senator Rice was recorded against such a motion.

Women can help each other materially by this means and aid in glorifying every home, making them more beautiful, more efficient, more cheerful and more healthy for all.

Chester I. Campbell, general manager of the Home Beautiful Exposition, to be held in Mechanics Building, April 25 to May 2 is a firm believer in the Systematized Home and ardently espouses the worthy cause.

Realizing the educational value of the Home Making Department at the coming Exposition Mr. Campbell has engaged Mrs. Mattie O. Joy of Boston to direct this important feature.

Mrs. Joy has all of the necessary qualifications to supervise the Home Making Program. She is securing prominent lecturers to speak on budget systems, interior decorating, health and other kindred subjects.

For the past three years she has been Employment Supervisor and Vocational Counselor for women at the College of Business Administration, Boston University. The director has also completed courses in Investments, Salesmanship and Employment Management, and, at present, is finishing a course at Boston University and expects to receive a degree of B. S. in June.

Mrs. Joy is always interested in matters pertaining to the advancement of women, either in or out of the home. She has two sons, one being a graduate of Boston University.

If Mrs. Joy has time to study, work, and run her home surely you must have often in the back of your head that correspond with her.

Don't delay. Write out your version immediately and send it to the Editor of the Graphic with a coupon attached. If you have sent in one letter and some other idea comes into your mind,—send it along.

The following three judges have been selected: Mrs. Ernest Cobb, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs; Mr. Francis L. Bacon, director of secondary education in the Newton High schools; and Mr. Warren K. Brimblecom, assistant treasurer of the Newton Graphic.

"Gallia" made a splendid finish for a most interesting program.

The good work of the society is very largely due to the enthusiasm and faithful drill and musical genius of the conductor, Mr. William Lester Bates. It takes long and faithful drill to take a society of ordinary singers and bring them up to a point where they can do the finest work and show the capacity for expression that was displayed in this concert. Miss Lillian West, who is always a very capable accompanist, played both the piano and organ parts.

This concert closed the society's sixth season, and all singers are heartily invited to consider joining it when it resumes its work early in October.

LODGES

A notable occasion in the annals of Norumbega Lodge, of Newtonville, F. and A. M. Alfred N. Miner, Jr., worshipful master, was the past masters' night, which was held in the Masonic Temple Monday evening. The past masters officiating were Rt. Wor. Fred M. Blanchard, Past District Deputy Grand Master William S. Osborne, Walter L. McCammon and Gerald F. Zedren. Work was on the third degree. There were present representatives from the Stone & Webster, John Hancock Life Insurance Company, Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., and the Hancock Life Insurance Company. At the next meeting of Norumbega Lodge of Masons, Salvador Cornejo will speak on Masonry in Cuba.

Waban

—Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Annable of Waban avenue are enjoying a two weeks' stay at St. Petersburg, Fla. —Mrs. Roscoe, a former resident of Waban is now staying at Mrs. MacIntyre's house on Woodward street.

Newton Lower Falls

—Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert T. Mauch of Beacon street are rejoicing in twin daughters.

PLANT NOW

Let our landscape department select and plant your nursery stock for you. They know what the proper plant material is for your home grounds and how to plant it in the RIGHT manner. This is part of our service. Re-arrangement of your shrub beds by our men sometimes saves the expense of buying more material to replace dead or unsightly plants that have been crowded.

"Have it done RIGHT at no added cost."

DEATH OF OFFICER MULLEN

William J. Mullen, a member of the Newton Police Department for the past twelve years, died last Sunday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital after a long illness, at the age of 40 years.

He was a prominent member of the Knights of Columbus, of which order he was a past grand knight, a member of Bishop Cheverus Assembly of the 4th degree, K. of C., Newton Lodge of Elks, Massachusetts Court, M. C. O. F., and the Massachusetts Police Association.

Mr. Mullen leaves his mother, Mrs. Thomas Mullen; two sisters, Mrs. Maurice Meade and Mrs. Bernard Burke; and six brothers, Francis, Dr. Walter Mullen, Paul, Louis, George, and Edmund.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at his late home on Centre street, Newton Highlands, followed by a solemn high mass of requiem at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre.

Seated within the sanctuary were Rev. Patrick Waters of St. John's Seminary, Rev. David Waters, St. John's Church, Roxbury; Rev. Robert P. Barry of the Diocesan Charitable Bureau; Rev. David Hogan of Readville; Rev. Bernard S. O'Kane of St. Aidan's, Brookline; Rev. Frank Murphy of St. Monica's Church, South Boston; Rev. Dennis Donovan and Rev. Fred Driscoll of the Church of Mary Immaculate of Upper Falls; Rev. Richard Rogers, Sacred Heart Church, Mt. Auburn; Rev. M. Joseph Burke of St. Peter's Church, Cambridge.

Rev. Timothy A. Curtin, pastor, was celebrant of the mass; Rev. James F. Haney, deacon; and Rev. Joseph M. Burke of St. Anthony's Church, Allston, subdeacon.

The pallbearers were John Sheridan, Thomas Mullen, Daniel Hagerty, Thomas F. Leehan, Michael Turner, John Furdon, Dr. Walter Billings and Dennis Curtin. The ushers were Messrs. Frank Linnehan, Daniel Crowley and John Cushman.

As the body was carried to and from the church it passed between two lines of policemen, standing at salute, and also between two lines of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus who stood with swords crossed above the casket.

In addition to the official detail, more than 25 policemen voluntarily marched at the head of the funeral procession.

legislative body in the world, and that the great mass of men in that body are doing their duty as they see it. We are, all of us, too given to judge by the worst examples rather than by the best. "There are no more corrupt men in the senate than in other walks of life. In fact, there are probably less, because the eye of the public tends to make corruption difficult. Every profession has its faults, except, of course, that of journalism."

The speaker called attention to the large number of changes recently made in the Massachusetts representatives in the House, eight out of seventeen members from Massachusetts having died or left within a short period of time. We have also lost, in the same space of time, Senators Lodge and Walsh.

We were glad to learn that our President does not fear overwork in his present position. Having worked "all the time" in other capacities, he feels equal to continuing to work in the same conscientious way. Nor, according to the speaker, does he set so much value on salary as on the "quality of manhood produced by political life." It came as a surprise to us, that compared with his father, "Calvin is a chatterbox."

The speaker touched upon the wonderful career of Taft, and expressed his opinion that he is more fitted for the position as Chief Justice of the United States than he was for the position of President of the United States.

We were informed that Mr. Smoot from Utah, of whom we had scarcely heard before, was one of the best informed men in the tariff question in the Senate; and that Magnus Johnson, was a sincere man well informed, but often misunderstood.

Mr. Whiting denied the "icy" character of the late Senator Lodge, and said that of all the men whom he has known in Washington, none has been so kind to him. He paid a special tribute to the wonderful reservoir of knowledge which the senator possessed.

"Pat" Harrison—not "Patrick"—was another of whom he spoke favorably though the former was given to tearing the Republican party to pieces. He had a favorable word, too, for Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, and said that the latter was a warm friend of Senator Lodge in spite of differences of opinion.

Mr. Whiting paid special tribute to the work and character of John Jacob Rogers whose recent death will be mourned by many, and characterized John Sargent, before his election as Attorney General, as "a big lawyer in a small town."

But the outstanding figure in the senate in Mr. Whiting's opinion is Senator Borah. He is a "giant." No man in public life attracts such public attention. He is always listened to because of his distinct individuality. He is an independent, politically, standing up for his own opinions regardless of party lines. At heart, however, he is a conservative and a Republican.

Although he did not go so far as to forecast the election of 1928, Mr. Whiting did say that if Mr. Coolidge made no great mistakes in his administration, and there were no unusual and unforeseen contingencies, he thought it probable that he would be re-elected.

Although the meeting was one primarily for the men of Eliot Church, the ladies and their friends were very graciously invited to attend, a privilege which many very gladly availed themselves of, and for which we wish to thank the men of the club.

STATE CENSUS

Work on the Decennial Census of March 31st is now underway throughout the state, and it will probably take until the middle of April to complete the work of counting the inhabitants of Newton. Under the direction of City Clerk the Police Department have distributed to all families blank forms to be filled out giving a list of member of the families, and the Assistant Assessors are now making a house-to-house canvass and collecting these slips which have been filled out for them. If you have not had a slip to fill out, or have not already given the required information to an Assistant Assessor or had it given by some other member of your family you should send it to the City Clerk your name, age and home address on March 31st, 1925, and if you will give the same facts for other members of the family it will be of great value in securing accurate census.

A census of every inhabitant of the city attending school is being taken in addition to the house to house census and this list containing about 12,000 names will be used as a supplementary list to check up the family list to prevent errors and omissions. It is estimated that the present population of Newton is about 50,000 with the rapid growth of the city in the past two years it may greatly exceed this number.

Auburndale

—Mr. Edward G. Butler, a watchman at Harvard College, died at his home on Charles street on Thursday morning. Surviving him are his widow, Annie Butler, and two children, Mary and Edward Butler. Mr. Butler has been in Newton about a year and a half. Services will be held at Corpus Christi Church tomorrow morning and the burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

State Federation

Announcement is made of the Annual Meeting which will be held again this year at Swampscott on May 20, 21, and 22, the opening session being at 2:30 P. M., on May 20th. Delegates must secure their own quarters at the New Ocean House. Credential tickets for this meeting are violet. This is the popular shade this season, and the Federation may be trusted always to be in style.

The ballot of the Nominating Committee is also at hand, and the news of greatest interest to us in Newton is that regarding the new Director of the Twelfth District, Mrs. William H. White of Wellesley Hills, who has so endeared herself to us not only for her wholesome and lovable personality but for her clear thinking and sane logic, retires in the course of events, having served her allotted term. And in her place is to be elected one of our own Newton women, Mrs. Joseph Congdon, former President of the Waban Woman's Club, Waban and Newton are honored. Mrs. White is nominated for Chairman of the new Nominating Committee, so that it is evident that her levelheadedness has been discovered in all quarters. The President and many other officers will remain the same for the year, but the entire ballot will be printed for you in this column at some time before the Annual Meeting.

April 8th is Federation Day at the Boston Art Club, when the Art Chairman, Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, will assist Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith in receiving, and the artists who will receive include Mrs. Philip Hale, Mrs. Marion P. Waitt Sloan, Mrs. Elizabeth Paxton, Mrs. Walter Kilham, Mrs. Charles Hovey Pepper, Miss Margaret Fitzhugh Brown, Mrs. Carl Nordell and Miss Gertrude Fiske. The exhibition from 11 to 5 o'clock is of "Small Pictures by New England Painters." The reception and tea is from 2 to 5 P. M.

Club women who have been watching the progress of Senate Bill No. 15, the long measure brought in by the Massachusetts Civic League, with various ramifications on Civil Service powers removal and hearing rights of State Employees, as well as taking away the privilege of veterans to appointment and removal hearing, will be interested to know that the Public Service Committee having this matter in charge did not report on any portion of the bill except that taking from veterans any special privilege of hearing before the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation or before City Councils. This bill was introduced in Senate bill 341. The Senate after a heated debate on the 19th, when opponents of the bill foresaw the danger of this as an entering wedge in taking all privileges from veterans, and fearlessly attacked the problem, with remarks general and personal, passed the measure by a vote of 17 to 10. As was to be expected, the House received the matter in even more heat, due to friendly feelings for the veterans, and only passed the bill after two frenzied efforts to halt it. Aside from the fact that it is an entering wedge as claimed, the measure is not of much danger to veterans. But it certainly is significant that no other of the matters contained in Senate 15 were permitted by the Committee to live long enough to come before the Legislature!

Newton Federation

An important luncheon conference is called by the President, Mrs. Ernest Cobb, at her home, 28 Richardson road, Upper Falls, for Wednesday, April 8th, at 12 noon. To this are invited all club presidents and chairmen of standing committees, as well as the elected officers of the Federation Executive Board. (Presidents of the Associated Organizations are included among the presidents.) Plans for the Annual Meeting are to be formulated and discussed at this time, so that the attendance of all to whom the call has gone out is desired.

season of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, the annual reception to new members stands out as one of the very pleasant social occasions. It is then that the Executive Board is given an opportunity to meet and introduce all members who have joined since the last annual meeting, and more names take on vital personalities. On Friday, March 24th, Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, First Vice-president of the Club, opened her home, at 245 Woodward street, from three to five o'clock. The sixty ladies accepting this hospitality were graciously met and tagged with cards bearing their own names by Mrs. Albert H. Norton, Chairman of the Reception Committee; they were presented to the President, Mrs. Charles H. Keeler, and to three of the former presidents of the club, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson, and Mrs. B. Walter Godsoe. In the dining room Mrs. Ralph Whitney acted as hostess and assisted by Mrs. Robert Jennings and Mrs. William Camp, served dainty refreshments. The table was decorated with yellow daffodils, lavender sweet peas and yellow candles were most attractive and spring-like. The pourers were Mrs. Curtis Chipman and Mrs. Harlan J. Maynard. The music of the afternoon was furnished by a ladies' trio composed of Olga A. Steele, violin, Lillian M. McMullen, cello, and Rube Merry at the piano. Their interesting program added much to the enjoyment of this very successful social affair.

The Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus, by its concert at the Club Auditorium Wednesday evening, March 25th, proved itself once more truly deserving of the high reputation it has earned all over the State by its work, and all who heard it in its excellent program gave most enthusiastic praise. The first part of the evening's program consisted of miscellaneous numbers of both vocal and instrumental character. Three happy spring songs by the chorus set the right tone of cheer for the evening, and these were followed by an aria from "Herodias" by Massenet—the "Vision Fugue"—sung with dramatic force by Mr. Walter Kidder, whom everyone is always so eager to hear. Variety was offered in the next group—three numbers by Miss Zeleny, violin, and Miss Colby, cello—one of the selections a melody by our nation's vice-president, proving his versatility as well as his charm as a composer. Next came three songs by Mr. Kidder again, and the concluding number of Part "Romany Life" from Victor Herbert's "Fortune Teller," with Mrs. Legge singing the solo most acceptably to the chorus' accompaniment.

Part 2 was an unusual offering—a ballad by Alfred Noyes—"The Highwayman" given in cantata form, the chorus taking the major part, and Mr. Kidder interpreting most dramatically the baritone solos. Great credit is due the chorus for attempting such a number, and for carrying it through so successfully. For all the music for the evening Mrs. Mabel Stearns MacNutt served as accompanist, and high praise should be given her for her excellent work, showing the sympathy with the various artists and types of music. Mrs. Julia Ritter McCormick, who has served as Director for several years, was warmly applauded, and her hard work and achievement recognized by a beautiful offering of flowers.

The Newton Community Club on Thursday, the 26th, enjoyed yet another excellent program, once more the success of the year. The selections of the year, Robert Haven Schauflier told graphically of his many adventures, serious and amusing, with British Authors whom he came to know in their moments of leisure, so seeing characteristics unguessed by those who know them only in their moments of writing. He spoke of being with John Drinkwater, Arnold Bennett, who put him through a literary catechism at their first meeting; H. G. Wells, and Mr. Davis, whom he had at first mistaken for an Italian organ-grinder. One amusing incident was his story of the love of neatness of Arnold Bennett, who manoeuvred to distract the attention of his fellows while he crept nearer to a match that had been thrown carelessly on the green of a country club. H. G. Wells, one of the group so tricked, was not blind to what was going on, and, being a tease, he retired to the club house, where he obtained a box of as large matches as he could and proceeded to light and strike them about the lawn, in Bennett's view. We can imagine the cringing of this author at such carelessness! But it is refreshing in these days of constant smoking and as constant casting aside of matches to discover a man who dislikes seeing it, and is at the same time so much the gentleman that he manoeuvres to get the match out of the way, rather than the careless thrower by the rebuke of openly picking it up and placing it where such things belong.

At the close of his "stories," Mr. Schauflier read one of his own poems, "The White Comrade," a poem which has become one of our two best known poems of the World War.

It is not often that a local club shares honors over a speaker with the State Federation, but on this afternoon Mr. Schauflier came direct from a luncheon conference of the Literature Committee of the State Federation in Boston, where he spoke for some ten minutes, to fulfill his earlier engagement with the Newton Community Club, before whom he talked for over an hour.

Mrs. William C. Lennox, of the Literature Committee, sold the books which the club reading groups have been reading this Winter, both before and after the meeting. These were the recent books which were read by the members for the special purpose of discussion with John Clair Minot on the day that he appeared before the club.

The next day, the 27th, was Legislative Day for the West Newton Women's Educational Club, when Lt.-Gov. Frank G. Allen gave the principal address of the afternoon. Mrs. Fred Blanchard, Legislative Chairman, was in charge of the program, and introduced the speakers and guests in an able, easy manner. Hon. Edwin O. Childs, our Mayor, welcomed our distinguished speaker, Mr. Allen, to Newton, "the City of Rejoice."

Other guests of honor were Senator Abbott B. Rice, Representatives Arthur Hollis, Clarence Luitwiler, and Leverett Saltonstall, and Mr. Thomas W. White of the Board of Aldermen. A group of spring songs was rendered by Mrs. Virginia Denny Bergfeld, accompanied by Mrs. Hugo Sharp.

Mr. Allen took the occasion to pay high tribute to certain public men. He also asked that we have confidence in our elected office holders, saying that those who graced our Senate and House were as good as the general run of men anywhere. He added that we of Newton have a fine type of representatives in both branches, and admitted they were in the lead of other localities (One has only to attend a few debates to become aware of this.) He urged his hearers to be "politicians" in the best sense of the word, which he defined as "one who is vitally interested in his community and country." He stressed at great length the value and importance of the State Department of Economy and Efficiency.

An enjoyable social hour followed the program, with coffee and sandwiches.

Presidents' Day with the Waban Woman's Club on the 30th was a most pleasant occasion. A musical of high order was given in entertainment of the guests, with Clara Sexton Crowley, soprano, Anna Babette Eichhorn, violinist, and Marion Harlow Watson, harpist, as the artists. Accompanists were Cora Gooch Brooks and Minnie Stratton Watson. Mrs. Crowley sang with her usual charm and beauty, and the harpist was most pleasing with this always lovely music. That the members and visitors enjoyed every number of the program was evident.

Mrs. Hosley, President of the club, presided, and Mrs. Ernest Cobb, Federation President, Mrs. William H. White, our Twelfth District Director, and Miss Margaret McGill, President of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, were honored guests and speakers.

The tea, following the musicale, was greatly enjoyed. The President and her special guests were presented with lovely bouquets of sweet peas, and each of the visiting presidents and secretaries was also decorated with a boutonniere of the same fragrant flowers mixed with fern.

Mrs. William D. Keefe of Newton Lower Falls entertained the Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Monday, March 30th. The papers read were of special interest, one by Mrs. Keefe on "Bethlehem," and one by Mrs. Batson on "Nazareth." There was a good attendance of members, and a social hour gave pleasure after the program, with dainty refreshments served by the hostess.

An unusual program was offered the Auburndale Woman's Club at its meeting on Tuesday evening, March 31st, for two reasons—first, because this was Sons' and Daughters' night, all club members being invited to bring their young people with them as guests of the club; and second, because of the charm of the entertainment offered. Mrs. Harriet Upham Goode, formerly State Federation Chairman of the Conservation Committee, gave a most enjoyable illustrated talk on "New England Birds and Wild Flowers" with lantern slides delicately colored to show birds and flowers in their native haunts. The fact that all of these were taken on Mrs. Goode's own place, "Birdacres," which affords sanctuary to countless birds and wild flowers, only added to their charm. Repeatedly emphasized was the necessity of protecting wild life, in its various forms, that lovely specimens may not be exterminated, as there is now so much danger from wanton plucking. Mr. Harold Cook.

COMMUNITY CHEST

What is a Community Chest?

A Community Chest or Financial Federation is a central organization created either by social agencies alone, or contributors alone, or by both jointly.

By a single annual appeal it raises money to be used by the member organizations for whatever part of current operating expenses must be obtained by contributions.

An essential feature is that the contributor to this single fund is held to be "immune" from individual solicitations by member organizations, for current operating expenses, during the period of his gift.

The fund raised by the central agency are distributed in accordance with budgets prepared by member organizations and approved by the central agency in advance of the solicitation of funds.

Continuous year-round educational publicity is usually carried on by the federation, supplementary to such activities by individual member organizations.

Ordinarily it is provided that the contributor to the federation may "designate" that all or part of his gift shall go to one or more member organizations named by the contributor. Some federations, however, encourage the designation of contributions, some discourage it as being of little practical effect.

How the Chest Plan has worked in other Communities

At the close of the year 1924 there were 190 cities having some sort of financial federation, twelve of these in New England. Twenty-three cities have a population between 40,000 and 50,000 making them somewhat analogous to the city of Newton.

All figures and studies show that in Chest cities the number of contributors is increased by federation methods anywhere from one hundred to five hundred per cent. The aggregate increases of money raised in thirty-one cities was from $6,951,000 to $21,304,000 during the first year of federation methods. The amount raised does not usually increase in proportion to the number of contributors. None of the cities that have continued to maintain chests has dropped below the amount raised before chest organization but many have failed to raise an increasing budget year by year.

It is generally conceded that it is unwise to attempt to include any but operating expenses in a federation budget. Building funds should not be included.

Thirty per cent of the present day financial federations have been in existence less than seven years; sixty-six per cent, less than three years. Their experience, therefore, is hardly sufficient to justify any final judgment as to permanent tendencies, characteristics, or results.

Some Expected Advantages and Disadvantages in Newton

The experience of communities which have tried federated financing justifies the prediction that with a community chest more money will be raised and much larger number of persons will contribute. Board and staff members should be relieved from the constant necessity of money-raising and should be free to devote more of their time and effort to constructive service. Better planning, budgeting, and accounting and less overlapping of work may be expected, as well as a general improvement in administrative efficiency. Some relief will come to the community by reduction in the number of local appeals.

More important than any of these, there should be a much wider knowledge and appreciation of the welfare work of Newton through more and better publicity; and a more united, tolerant, and broadly democratic community spirit should be developed among our citizens by reason of the informed co-operative effort for the welfare work of the city.

The disadvantages cannot be stated so concretely. They depend, to the same extent as the advantages, on the character, ability, and permanence of the management. The Chest may promote extravagance and undue expansion. Comparatively it may benefit the weaker more than the larger and more widely known agencies. Finally, and this, in the opinion of the Committee, is the most fundamental disadvantage, it may lessen and in some cases destroy the personal interest of the contributor in the case to which he contributes. The gift may become an imposed tax and the real interest and management devolve increasingly on paid workers. A certain spiritual value may be lost. To us, brought up to giving to individual charities, this may not matter, but what will be the effect on a new generation of givers?

Conclusions

The Committee is unanimous in the conclusion that at least the two following conditions should be fulfilled before a Community Chest can wisely be established in Newton:

1. Federated financing should be approved by from 70 to 75% of the contributors, and by a still higher percentage of the larger contributors. In order to ascertain the opinions of contributors, the Committee tried to reach a limited cross-section of all who would be reached by a thorough city-wide canvass of contributors. The Committee prepared the leaflet "Does Newton Want a Community Chest?" and mailed it and a carefully prepared letter of explanation to 674 persons.

A reply card, not requiring signature, was inclosed. In addition to many of our larger contributors, this questionnaire reached men and women in each village known to have shown interest in public questions, all the pastors of churches of every denomination, and others representative of various elements in the city.

The results of this canvass were as follows: Questionnaires sent out, 674; no answer 388; answers received, 286. The 286 replies to the question, "Do you favor a Community Chest for Newton?" were tabulated as follows: Yes 177; clearly yes 152; favorably inclined 25; no 84; clearly no 78; unfavorably inclined 6; doubtful 25; total 286.

2. Federated financing should be accepted without coercion or reluctance by agencies whose contributions represent approximately 70% of the total contributions required by the eighteen eligible agencies. In other words, a Chest should not be organized unless charged with the responsibility of raising at least $100,000 of an estimated total of $140,000.

The phrase "eligible agencies" is intended to apply equally to the governing boards and to the paid operating staff.

The Committee almost ostentatiously has avoided investigating the attitude of the agencies. Contributors, who are in many instances trustees and directors of organizations, have been urged to record themselves as contributors and not as agency directors.

In addition to the two foregoing requirements, if any plan of federated financing is undertaken, a representative and balanced form of organization should be adopted which will give due recognition to (1) the welfare requirements of the community, (2) the financial ability of the community to contribute, and (3) the equitable apportionment of funds among the participating agencies. In an appendix to this report the Committee submits an organization set-up which may be used as a basis for discussion with the agencies.

Finally and most important of all, men and women must be found to direct the Chest. This is the most exacting requirement of all. In the last analysis the success or failure of the plan may chiefly depend on this factor. This is a public service which can not be paid for. The requirements are exacting. The general welfare of the community as presented by expert professional workers and a broadminded consideration. The financial capacity of contributors must never be strained. Old and new agencies must be treated with impartial consideration. Furthermore, the committee believes that if qualified men and women can be found, their acceptance of this responsibility should not be induced by short term of service. It is the experience of nearly every chest that the most important problems do not develop until after several years of operation. The success or failure of the enterprise may depend on the continuity of management and the development through experience, sound judgment, and every balanced control, of the complete confidence of the agencies, the contributors and the community.

Respectfully submitted by the Committee on Community Chest study, Grosvenor Calkins, Chairman; Mrs. Virginia M. Hutchinson, Rupert C. Thompson, Frank W. Remick, Fred H. Tucker, Miss Elizabeth Ross, Guy M. Winslow, Ph. D., George M. Angier.

committee was appointed to formulate definite suggestions for the organization of Volunteer Service Committees. These suggestions are to be presented to the presidents of the individual Newton women's clubs with the hope that more Volunteer Service Committees may be formed among the clubs, as has been so often urged by the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The existing Volunteer Service Committees in Auburndale and Newtonville, are affiliated with the Civics Committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs of which Mrs. W. G. Starkweather is Chairman.

The members of the continuation committee are:

Mrs. Wilbur D. Gilpatrick, Chairman; Mrs. H. Reginald Bankhart of the Volunteer Service Committee of the Newtonville Women's Club, Miss Elizabeth Ross, of the Newton District Nursing Association, Mrs. Henry A. Wentworth of the Volunteer Service Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Miss Pauline Yetten, of the Stearns School Centre, and Miss Louise Peloubet of the Newton Central Council, to act as secretary.

Y. M. C. A.

With the swimming season about over and the championships in Y. M. C. A. circles and scholastic circles over the Y. M. C. A. will hold its own little affair when the Y. M. C. A. Swimming Team will meet the Newton High School Team at the "Y" pool next Saturday, April 14th, at 7:45 P. M.

The school boys have done exceptionally well this year and came out very close second in the New England championships when they lost to Brookline. The Newton "Y" team did the same thing in their respective championship, finishing second to Worcester. The schoolboys feel that they have improved to the extent that they can turn the tables on the "Y" team when the Association team defeated them New Year's Eve.

The meet should be very interesting as each team has an equal chance in every event with certain advantages in special events which are usually offset by a disadvantage in others.

For the "Y" Captain Millard will lead the following against the High School—Eric Bang, Stanley Kimball, Hamilton Lincoln, Robert Patterson, Arthur Baird, Floyd Baird, and True Brown.

Captain Phil Perry will lead the Newton High School team consisting of Winthrop Clark, Charles Phelps, Arthur Foster, Charles Green, James Essen, Merrill Hammond, Chuck Darling and Lloyd Shorne.

Dr. Laurens MacLure gave a very interesting talk for the Fellowship Club on the subject of "Vision." Next week Mr. Charles B. Floyd will give an illustrated talk on "Birds."

The Board of Directors will meet for their April meeting at the home of Mr. Frederick W. Rust of Kirkstall road next Tuesday evening, April 7th.

The annual meeting of the Association will be held on the first Monday in May. It is expected that at that time Mr. John H. Geldart who has represented the Newton Y. M. C. A. in China for a number of years, will be the guest of the Association.

Fifteen or twenty boys from different parts of the United States, some representing high schools, private schools, and Y. M. C. A.'s will make a trip to Switzerland under the direction of J. A. Van Dis and John M. Currie this summer. While there they will play and camp with boys from many countries of the world. The Newton Y. M. C. A. has been asked to choose a boy for the trip to represent Massachusetts. No selection has yet been made but if any parents or boys are interested please communicate with H. W. Bascom, Secretary.

ST. MARY'S HEALING MISSION

After the early celebration of The Holy Communion last Sunday, The rector drove down to Fall River to take the service at St. Stephen's Church. The Rev. David R. Bailey might take the service at St. Mary's at 10:45 and preach on "Spiritual Healing." The Rev. Mr. Bailey has carried on this work of healing in his Fall River parish for the past two years and has not only had remarkable results but has obtained valuable experience which he relates to the rector of St. Mary's.

Reverend Mr. Bailey's visit was a great success and a large congregation listened to him with rapt attention as he related the positive evidences of spiritual healing that have come to his attention. Rev. Mr. Bailey is expected to be associated with Dr. Banks as will also Rev. E. B. Holmes of Natick, Rev. C. W. G. Lyon of Salem and the rector of St. Mary's, the Rev. Guy Wilbur Miner.

It is expected that the congregations during the Mission will be made up of many persons coming from considerable distances, and so for their particular benefit Mr. Banks will lecture every Week day morning at 10 o'clock and give personal help afterwards until 12.

In the afternoon at 3 a special healing service will be conducted and in the evening at 7:45 Dr. Banks will preach, instruct and conduct the Healing Mission.

From April 19th to April 24th inclusive will be the dates.

NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Newton Women's Christian Temperance Union was held under the auspices of the Scientific Temperance Instruction Department, Mrs. Sarah S. P. Stevens, superintendent, in Room 106, Technical High School, Newtonville, on Thursday at 2:30 P. M.

Miss Mabel Bragg introduced Mrs. Carrie Jackson and the Misses Effie G. Higgins and Catherine Wilder, who spoke on "How the Subjects of Alcohol and Narcotics are presented in the public schools of Newton."

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS DEXTER

Among various engagements announced at this season is that of Miss Mariel Dexter, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Frederic Dexter of 151 Ward street, Newton Centre, to Stanley Oliver Newman of Boston, formerly of Louisville Kentucky, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Newman of that Southern city. Mrs. Newman was formerly Miss Elliott, of an old-time prominent Kentucky family. Mr. Newman Sr. is a relative of the late Cardinal Newman of England.

Miss Dexter is a descendant of Roger Williams, noted in the early history of this country, and also of Gregory Dexter, who came here from England with Williams. Miss Dexter has been a student at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Boston and has given special attention to a study of the harp and piano.

Stanley Newman, who is now in business in Boston, is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, class of 1916. In the World War he served overseas as an ensign in the United States Navy.

The wedding of Miss Dexter and Mr. Newman is to take place early in June.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION

The Newton Y. M. C. A. will close their indoor season in the physical department with their annual demonstration and exhibition of physical activities on April 16th at 8 o'clock. The program is a very interesting and amusing one and will be found highly entertaining. With but few exceptions all is in readiness and rehearsals are going on regularly.

As a feature event the Boston Y. M. C. U. Gym Team will go on exhibition. Our own junior leaders Club will put two of their leaders on the class work will be demonstrated in its regular order as conducted through the winter season. A novelty feature consisting of a basketball game on roller skates should prove very interesting as well as amusing. Carlson and Maquire will put on a wrestling exhibition and the whole program will be interspersed with acts by the clowns who of course will have their hand. The clowns are in charge of Mr. Hess who is working up an active group of funmakers.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Leverett D. G. Bentley

Get Busy with your Spring Togs, folks. For April is at hand. Whatever new you buy yourself Attention will demand: You now will bloom and show some class. This is the month, you know. When flowers, grass and appetites For "style" are sure to grow.

The milliner is on the job. Millady must look "cute". The hatter has Millord to please. With something that will "suit". Dressmakers working overtime. And tailors sewing nights. The town will soon be radiant. With trim and nobby "sights".

We yearn to view the gay parade. Indeed we scarce can wait. To see our friends and enemies "Appareled" up-to-date; All Winter we, with earnest hope, Have studied every page, Wheron was pictured fashion's best. "This sure will be the rage"

Whate'er your means, strive hard and long To "step out" with the crowd. Not "too extremely" yet "too plain. Just bright and "not too loud". Whoever jokes about your clothes Is far behind the times. Pay no attention to such "jibes. But promenade "with chimes".

'Tis April, yes, that merry month Of promise and display. When "glad rags" make us feel so good.

So "cheery" and so gay: A word of caution we would give, We really can't refrain. When "all dolled up to make a hit" BE SURE YOU DODGE THE RAIN!

Warning has already been sounded in this column, which, we will admit may not be as sound as some columns (we refer to masonry and not newspapers) yet that warning was seriously intended. We refer to the custom of fire apparatus and the emergency wagon of the gas company of passing through Nonantum Square in a direction opposite the regular trend of traffic. The other night we happened to be at the corner of Centre and Elmwood sts when the apparatus responded to an alarm from a box in Newton Centre. It was some minutes after the bells had stopped ringing that the apparatus appeared. We assume that there had been a "silent second" as the smoke-eaters say. At any rate people in the square thought that the Newton Corner combination was not going to the fire. But it did and of course it passed through the square close to the bank contrary to the rules that govern ordinary traffic. We held our breath for we wondered, "What if some car should suddenly shoot out of Hall st?" Such a car would have been going in the direction of the arrow and following the traffic rules implicitly and yet there would have been an inevitable smash with results that we dread to contemplate. The emergency wagon of the gas company, which, we are informed, has the right of way, took the same course and at a high rate of speed. There was another chance for an accident but fortunately none occurred. Now we maintain that we are not carping critics or even ordinary remonstrants when we repeat that this practice is bound to end disastrously some day or night. There is the danger to life and limb, which is of the most importance, and also that to property. Someone who read what we had to say about this matter some weeks ago asked us, "Must the firemen keep away from a fire because it is on a one-way street?" That is not the question at all. The problem is guarding life in Nonantum square. The few seconds required by the fast moving apparatus to make a circuit of the bank building would mean nothing in fighting a fire. What the days when there was horse-drawn apparatus? The horses used to somehow get the apparatus there in time to save the property. If this present hazardous practice is to be continued, and we hope that it is not, let some sign or warning signal be placed in Hall street. There is hardly room in Nonantum square for any more signs dealing with traffic as about every available inch is occupied at present. However probably another sign could be squeezed in. At any rate something should be done and done promptly.

It was a morning of adventure and right at our own door, so to speak. We did our regular morning constitutional that leads us to Nonantum Square. And that place, our readers well know, is a source of inspiration to us at all times. But this day was that one on which the storekeepers were offering extraordinary inducements to obtain patronage and we were stopping as heartily as our humble resources would permit. The wind was blowing but we didn't mind that for then the rain had not started to fall. There were more than a few on the sidewalks and we were wondering whether we should write about sidewalk regulations. Suddenly we found ourselves and children who were coming in opposite directions. They were at that moment "window shopping". Each woman was wheeling a baby carriage or rather a "go-cart". The wind caught up the sailor cap of one of the infants and carried it off. We started in pursuit, not because we needed the exercise but to maintain our reputation for gallantry. That wind must have been blowing 100 miles an hour for the cap was carried from the front of Bacon block around the corner to beyond the car station. Nobody interrupted its course but many watched with interest our attempt at rescue. We finally landed on the cap with both feet (It was mud-covered, by the way) and were just about to pick it up when a dog, dragging a long and heavy chain, shot against our legs and sent us spinning backwards. We struggled to keep from falling and bumped into a masterful-looking woman who muttered something about our being "too fresh". We were determined to restore the cap but that was not so easy as we offered it to several women with children in go-carts until we found the rightful owner. It was an hour of wild adventure for the old home town but it made us forget our toothache.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"The First Year." Frank Craven's well-known comedy of married life will be presented by the Boston Stock Company at the St. James Theatre next week. Frank Craven wrote this play and played the leading role himself in a downtown theatre last season. The Boston Stock Company is producing it now at popular prices. Bernard Nedell will play the role originally played by Frank Craven, that of "Tommy Tucker." Mr. Nedell, by the way, was the first to play this role outside of Broadway, having toured the Orient in the leading role with the Frawley Players for a year and a half while Mr. Craven was still playing in the piece on Broadway. Elsie Hitz will play the bride part. There are very good roles for Anna Layne, Louis Leon Hall, Olive Blakey, Roberta Lee Clark, Roy Elkins, and Ralph Remley.

QUESTIONS ON COMMUNITY CHEST

Answered by Allen T. Burns at the Annual Meeting of The Newton Central Council, March 19, 1925

1. Would you advise us to establish a Community Chest in Newton? That is something which I cannot advise you about. No outsider knows whether you are far enough along to do this particular thing as a community. The decision is yours. Unless you make it a matter of the whole community getting together from the start you may be sure that your Chest will not succeed. It depends on whether you can do this kind of thing; whether you are up to it yet.

2. What form of organization would you suggest for a Community Chest in Newton?

One can say that in any case you ought to have a truly representative form of organization. All the elements or factors that enter into your community social service must be adequately represented in the organization. Your Chest management must be in the hands of a group who will command the confidence of all of you. In general your Chest will no doubt represent both the welfare agencies and the contributors. In just what proportion these two groups should be represented is for you to determine.

3. How can we best preserve the personal interest of contributors in the cause to which he contributes? If so, how can this be done?

In the first place I should say yes, a Community Chest can preserve the personal interest of the contributor in the cause to which he contributes but if you ask if this has been done, I should have to say that in a regrettable number of cases it has not been done. A good many Community Chests have had all the enthusiasm of a new movement and the thrill of working together in unison and some of them have thus far run along pretty much on novelty. In the long run, however most of us are going to be interested in a big community effort largely because of some single cause in which we are personally interested, just as most of us are inclined to think about the United States of America largely in terms of living conditions as we find right close at home.

4. Do you think a Community Chest would effect the earning capacity of an organization like the District Nursing Association that earns about one-half of its budget?

It ought not to lower the earning capacity of such an organization and in practice it usually has not done so in Chest cities.

5. What percentage of contributors should be in favor of a Chest before it is started? How can you find out how many are in favor?

There are two rather simple tests which can be applied to the situation in trying to find out whether or not a city is ready for a Community Chest. The first is to ask the agencies which are ready to form a Chest whether they are ready to lay their cards down on the table and submit their contributors' lists for the past year. If they mean business they will be willing to do this. You can then go through the contributors' lists and find out who are the large contributors in the community. That is, for example what percentage of the total of more than $100 or $500, to all the agencies. The second test would be to canvass these large contributors and ask each one, "If a Chest is formed are you willing to give to the Chest at least as much as the total amount that you have given to the individual agencies?" It would be desirable to canvass at least 75 per cent of the large contributors to see how they feel about this.

6. What do you think are the chief advantages and disadvantages of the Community Chest plan?

The greatest advantage is in a finer development of community life in America. Community Chests are bringing about a new spirit of community unselfishness which is an even bigger thing than the material developments in the social service field. Cities are learning to do things together as a community. The budget how much money is available for the social service field. The great disadvantage is the possibility of losing the personal interest of the contributors in the cause to which he contributes. The danger is that the contributor will think that he has done his duty when he writes out a check to the Chest. Of course if you have this danger in mind you can guard against it. Another danger is the question of the shall be given to this agency and how much to that. The Chest must have such leadership that it will command the respect and confidence of the whole community.

7. The Newton Young Men's Christian Association raises a large amount for State, National and International Y. M. C. A. work. Would such items be included under a Chest? If they are not included in the community budget and if we are prohibited from soliciting our friends for them, how will that operate?

That is a problem which each local Chest has to work out for itself. Many Community Chests include items for National organizations in cases where these National organizations have local branches. The International work of the Y. M. C. A. is usually less likely to be included in a Chest budget because this International work is likely to be thought of more as missionary work and it is therefore apt to raise sectarian issues. If an item for National agencies is not included in the Chest budget then of course these agencies must be left free to solicit contributions for themselves from the community.

Printed copies of the Community Chest Study Report may be obtained, without charge, on request to the Newton Central Council, 12 Austin Street, Newtonville (Newton North 2717.) The Council will be glad to furnish copies also, so far as possible, for distribution at the meetings of interested civic, fraternal, or other organizations.

of the State Forestry Department, had kindly arranged an exhibit in the lounge, showing the State's work in caring for our forests, and the various pests that harm the trees so much. After the lecture, refreshments and dancing were enjoyed by the club guests. The whole meeting was in charge of the Conservation Committee, Mrs. Royal G. Whiting, Chairman.

After the regular business meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, Miss Irene Eldred, secretary of the Education Department of the Boston Y. W. C. A., gave an interesting account of her work, emphasizing particularly the great need of providing wholesome occupation and recreation for the leisure time of girls and young women, beginning with "the teen age." The association has four buildings, and in two of these girls can obtain room and board for $10 a week and are under the care of a house-mother. The room registry department, with a secretary and two assistants is kept busy finding suitable lodgings for hundreds of others—they place on an average 400 a month. A new building which will be erected on the large lot of land just back of the Copley-Plaza hotel, will concentrate all the departments under one roof, but it will be some time before sufficient funds are available to complete it.

Mrs. Drake, President of the Newton Y. W. C. A., gave some information about the work here. Most people, she said, do not realize that there are 6,000 working girls in Newton. She spoke of the cordial cooperation which exists between the local Y. W. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Coming Events

The April meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club will be held on the 6th at the West Newton Unitarian Church. It will be that always fascinating program "An Afternoon of Dramatics" by club members.

Mrs. Charles Ogden opens her home, 57 Fisher avenue, to the Monday Club on the same afternoon. Mrs. L. H. Marshall and Mrs. C. A. Thompson will read papers on "Recent Discoveries." Like all the programs of this club the topic interests the imagination, and will, as usual, be as interesting as it promises.

The Press Chairman of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club announces that club members are looking forward to a very interesting meeting April 6th, under the leadership of the Social Service chairman, Mrs. S. W. Tennyson, and Mrs. Walter F. Stevens, legislative chairman.

The two committees will present their work of the year, interspersed with readings by Miss Marjorie Sumpter, who is a club favorite.

The guests of the evening will be Mrs. Ernest Cobb, City Federation President and Miss Emma D. Coolidge, Newton Federation chairman of Legislation, who will also speak. Refreshments will be served.

The next meeting of the Review Club of Abundant will be Tuesday morning, also the 7th, at ten o'clock. Mrs. Ernest Drew will be the hostess of the morning, and Mrs. A. C. Farley, Mrs. Marion Knowlton, and Mrs. Susan B. Tuttle have the papers for the club's pleasure and instruction.

Gardens and their beauty and lure take the attention of several of our clubs at this time, and it is not surprising that wise program committees, remembering the call of past Spring days, and the radiance of bloom in past Summer ones, have given this exciting, and exciting, topic to their members.

Flower lovers and garden enthusiasts, therefore, will welcome Mr. Herbert W. Gleason of Boston who is coming to Lincoln Hall on Tuesday, April 7th, to give to the Newton Highlands Woman's Club his lecture on "Island Gardens of Mount Desert." The pictures shown with the lecture are the product of first hand study by Mr. Gleason and are colored from nature by Mrs. Herbert W. Gleason. The Conservation Committee, Mrs. William N. Beal, Chairman, is in charge of the afternoon.

The annual exhibit by local artists and craftsmen listed in the year book for April 10th has been postponed for two weeks and notice in detail will be given later.

Tickets for the buffet luncheon which precedes the annual meeting will be on sale before and after the meeting on the 7th and all reservations must be made before April 14th. Send checks and name to Mrs. Albion H. Brown, 9 Saxon terrace.

Plans for a visit to the Birds' Sanctuary in Sharon on April 15th are being pushed forward by the Public Health Committee and Mrs. Fred G. Sandford will lead the party. The automobile ride to Sharon and the outdoor basket luncheon insures a good time for all.

In the afternoon of this same day another delightful program for garden lovers will be given at the Newtonville Woman's Club. Miss Grace Tabor, landscape architect, and well-known also as the editor of the garden department of the Woman's Home Companion, will give practical and fascinating suggestions not only for the garden in itself but in relation to the house and harmony of surroundings. To those who have begun either in thought or in fact to plan that wonderful garden, or even the bit of flowering plot, this is an opportunity that should be both inspiration and information.

And at the next meeting of the Social Science Club on April 8th, Professor Frank A. Waugh, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, will give an illustrated lecture in the hall of the Hunnewell Club on the subject: "What Makes a Garden?" to which guests may be invited. All in all those planning and dreaming of gardens have many opportunities to find ideas and aid and to lose them would be a pity.

Thursday, April 9th, at 10.30, in the Newton Centre Club House. Mrs.

Grace Morrison Poole, master hand at Current Events, will talk before that club. It is hardly necessary to remind any member of a club who has been a delegate in the past few years to a State Federation meeting, that this is an opportunity to learn, laugh, and linger for more of the logic and wit which marks Mrs. Poole's talks.

The same day at 2.30 in the afternoon, a most unusual program is scheduled for the Newton Community Club at the Hunnewell Club House. Mrs. Maud Huntington Benjamin has been secured to read "The Fool," the four-act play of Channing Pollock's that had such a long and successful stay in Boston last Winter. Not only is the play unusually strong and inspiring, but Mrs. Benjamin has won a reputation as its reader that insures a wonderful afternoon for all who are fortunate enough to be able to attend. Mr. Pollock himself has said that her interpretation of his story was delightful and satisfying—high praise from the author of a work who knows so well in his heart all that he has striven to make his story portray. That his pleasure was sincere is attested by his having offered Mrs. Benjamin the exclusive rights to read his next play, when it is ready for production.

The Newton Community Club is also planning a Card Party on April 17th to raise money for that most necessary club activity—the Philanthropic Fund. This will be in the Hunnewell Club House at two-thirty o'clock. Members and others are welcome, and cordially invited to join in the good time, for a good cause. Mrs. Joseph W. Gerrity, the chairman for this party, asks those buying tickets to furnish their own cards. She also announces—perhaps to set you wondering and wishing—that there will be prizes for each table!

On Tuesday, April 14, is the annual meeting of the Abundant Woman's Club at the Club House. Luncheon will be served promptly at 12.45, after which comes a short, unusual program at 2.15, followed by the business meeting. Tickets for the luncheon at 75c may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Burbank or Mrs. Alice Smith, or at any time at Keyes' Drug Store. No tickets sold after April 11th, and none reserved. Members may bring guests to luncheon. Polls for election of officers for ensuing year open in Lounge from 11 A.M. to 2.45 P.M. Miss Bunker Treasurer, will be on hand after 1.00 to receive dues for next year and members are asked to please pay promptly.

A most interesting Community Mass Meeting under the auspices of the Education Committee of the Abundant Women's Club is to be held on Wednesday, April sixteenth, at the Abundant Club House at eight o'clock.

The Committee in charge of the occasion consists of Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, chairman, Mr. George H. Burnett and Mrs. H. H. Lottell. A program is being arranged that should stimulate the interest of young and old; and all are urged to be present and launch this movement for a library for Abundant with the support of the whole community.

"DEACON DUBBS"

Yes, the genial Deacon Dubbs of Sorghum Centre, State of West Virginia, has come and gone, but it is rumored that he may return again in the near future, as many would like to see the play again.

"Deacon Dubbs" was given in the beautiful new Odd Fellows' Hall at Northgate Park, West Newton, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 24th and 25th, and was largely attended by appreciative and enthusiastic audiences both evenings, everyone voting it one of the best amateur plays ever presented in this locality. It was full of fun and amusing situations from start to finish and went far beyond everyone's expectations, being well worth the price of admission.

From the time the curtain rose till it went down on the final act ripples and outbursts of laughter were heard from the audience.

Mrs. Tillie Harley, Vice Grand of Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, who sat singing when the curtain first went up, was a wide awake perfectly easy actress, who entered with a vim into the full spirit of the play. All her words were witty and distinct and her action true to life. She held the full attention of her audience whenever she appeared, and although she lost her wig while she was sleeping, as a rule she was very wide awake. Her part was well done.

Little Jennie Yensen, the hired girl from Sweden, was taken by Mrs. Marguerite Robinson, Noble Grand of Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge. She won the hearts of all the moment she stepped onto the stage. Her attempts to buy a husband "for sixteen dollars and sixty-nine cents" and her cute little Swedish expressions and mannerisms, added zest to the play.

Mr. Waldo Weldon, as Deacon Dubbs, represented the awkward country boy in a most realistic manner and every time he blundered onto the stage he sent the audience into peals of laughter. His droll attempts at love making and fear of the little Swedish girl, who finally captured him, was most amusing.

The part of the richest girl in town was taken by Mary Hopwood, as Emily Dale she sailed around in true self confident manner. She made a lovely picture but her snobbish manner and "cattish" ways, as Trixie dubbed them, helped to prove that beauty and riches did not count after all. Miss Hopwood did well.

Mr. Frank Stevens, Noble Grand of Waban Lodge certainly distinguished himself as an actor. He took the part of "a wolf in sheep's clothing" and surprised all with his realistic acting. He put himself right into the part and brought thrills of excitement whenever he appeared. He earned words of praise from all. The part of the leading man, Amos Coleman and the leading lady, Rose Raleigh, were taken by Mrs. Evelyn Weldon and Mr. Edmund Buell.

Mrs. Weldon made a very attractive little "schoolma'am" and a sweet little bride, while Mr. Buell took the part of the ardent lover in strictly up-to-date bashful manner. His

"You'll have to tell her, Rose, I can't" when they attempted to tell their "secret" to Miss Philomena, was typical of the bashful but ardent lover, and he brought forth a keen ripple of amusement when he announced that "he would go crazy before this day was over" in true prospective bridegroom fashion.

Mrs. Weldon and Mr. Buell took the serious parts in the play and their role was a difficult one.

The Deacon, Mr. Edgar Locke, only added one more to his list of laurels in the theatrical line, for he made an excellent "Deacon Dubbs" his part was an unusual one to take, in these times of prohibition of course, and it was truly remarkable how his great interest in the Major's "legal documents" did tangle up his tongue and feet. However, to the great relief of some in the audience, the "legal documents" actually proved to be nothing more than cold tea, as he rapidly became untangled enough to put the representative of the Empire State Trust Company into the well, slamming the cover down and calmly sitting on it, to the great enjoyment of the audience. His ardent wooing of Miss Popover and his discomfiture and anger at his mischievous niece's pranks made things interesting and the Deacon certainly proved himself "dabster hand with the women."

Mr. Fred E. Perkins took the part of Major McNutt, the auctioneer and Justice of the Peace. He was received with a burst of applause the moment he stepped onto the stage and his "legal documents" and "awful hot, ain't it" condition caused a general burst of laughter. His sympathetic scene with Rose Raleigh, the Country Auction Scene, his human enjoyment in finding a red ear at the Husking Bee, and final announcement of Rawdon Crowley's death, all showed the ease with which he interpreted the various parts. Mr. Perkins, instead of being a plunger in real life, should have been an actor. And last, but by no means least, we must mention the little mischief, Trixie, who as her name implies, was ever busy playing tricks all through the play, to the great discomfiture of the deacon and the disgust of Miss Philomena. Miss Marjorie Pierce Perkins took this part and her own thorough enjoyment brought forth hearty response from the audience every time her curly head unexpectedly bobbed up. Her clever handling of her own little love scene, when she naively turns Deacon's affections over to little Jennie Yensen who wants to buy a husband for sixteen dollars and sixty-nine cents, although Trixie has already told her that "husbands aren't even worth that much," was a cute life and merriment to the play.

Trixie kept things stirred up in general and her ever present pranks gave life and merriment to the play. Everyone liked Trixie. The old time Husking Bee and the singing of old time songs added much to the play and the Virginia Reel with music by Mr. Charles Goddard who took the part of the old Country Fiddler in truly realistic manner, made an interesting Country picture, and the curtain went down all too soon for all were sorry when the end of the play came.

Among the singers were Mr. Norton Chappel, Mr. Alfred Hastie, Mr. Howard Eagles and Mr. Henry Buck, and music was furnished by Mr. Charles Goddard, Mr. Arthur Haynes, Mr. Edmund L. Buell, Mr. Fred E. Perkins, Violinists, and Mrs. Mary E. P. Perkins, and Mr. Charles W. Dorris, Pianists. Mrs. Blanche Buell, Mrs. Susie Hopwood, and Mr. Ricard Mason took the part of Villagers. Miss Evelyn Cunningham coached the play and Mrs. Blanche Buell gave her untiring services as Stage Director. Mrs. Charles H. Delaney had charge of the electric lighting and Mrs. Millie Beardsley and Mr. Harvey Purdy acted as ushers. Mrs. May Smith was the chairman of the entertainment. Mrs. Smith was presented with a beautiful bouquet the second evening. Others in the cast also received bouquets. Much credit is due to all those who took part, and it is sincerely hoped that the play may soon be repeated, as many have expressed a wish to see it again.

There was dancing after the performance each evening.

PROFESSIONAL NOTICE

Dr. Wm. Duncan Reid, of 327 Franklin street, Newton, wishes through the columns of the Graphic to correct an impression that is frequently embarrassing him in his professional work. WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Association of Central Church, Newtonville, held its Easter luncheon on Wednesday, Mrs. William H. Allen, President, presiding.

The speaker was Mrs. Howard Ives of Portland, Maine. Mrs. Ives took as her subject the attitude of Christians towards the unfortunate.

She dwelt upon the fact that social work was at first done entirely by the churches, but of late years, it has become institutional. Social service development has been a protest against organized orthodox religion.

Two reasons for this protest lie in the fact that Christians as a body have kept themselves too aloof from conditions of suffering, and that they have emphasized too much the power of money.

Mrs. Ives said that there should be a kind of spiritual confidential exchange such as social agencies use, and to which they could refer when spiritual help is needed.

She emphasized the crying need of Christian homes for those whose lives are broken, and said that the church must come into closer touch with suffering humanity.

She spoke of conditions in our insane asylums and hospitals, and said that we should follow up cases which are sent there, and stand by them until the end.

In conclusion she made a moving appeal for more vital Christianity.

Mrs. H. J. Baringer was chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Stanley Horton chairman of the serving committee. The table decorations were in keeping with the Easter season.

NEWTON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting and dinner of the Newton Athletic Association will take place next Thursday evening at the Newton Clubhouse, Newtonville. Members of the track, hockey and swimming teams of the Newton High School will be guests of the Association. There will be an election of officers for the ensuing year and an entertainment.

CITY HALL

Buildings Commissioner Chadwick reports an increase in building permits for March over previous years. He has issued 130 permits valued at $1,642,975 making 263 permits for the year valued at $2,557,920 as compared with 239 permits valued at $1,299,355 last year.

BOY SCOUTS

The Ohio will be a busy place the next few week ends as the trees which are to be furnished by the Commonwealth are shipped, or at least a part of them, and the scouts will have to get the planting done quickly. Mr. George Crosbie, of Newton Centre, the Council Forester, is in charge of the work and will be at the Ohio every Saturday to instruct and oversee the work.

Troop 7 and Troop 9 of West Newton are planning to get the material for their new cabins to the Ohio the 20th. The Scouts are very enthusiastic over the prospect of having a cabin as the objective for hikes and are looking forward to having their regular section to go to. Troop 2 of Abundant is also about to add to their present cabin in order to have sleeping room for several more scouts.

The Parents' night and entertainment of Troop 5, Newton Centre Thursday evening was attended by over one hundred and twenty-five people and was very interesting. Motion pictures of the dedication of their camp and troop activity were much enjoyed and many had the thrill of seeing themselves in the movies for the first time. Much credit is due Mr. Hollis for taking and making the pictures and to Mr. Breed, the scoutmaster, his assistants, Messrs. Crosbie, Henderson and Perry for planning and executing so well the details of the evening.

Troop 8 of Newton Centre has been registered with a scoutmaster, two assistants and thirteen scouts. Meetings are being held at the Playground House Thursday evenings and there are a large number of candidates. The scoutmaster is Mr. Thomas P. Dean, the assistants, Messrs. James P. Reynolds and John P. White and the troop committee, Messrs. Edward W. Joyce, Augustus Waters and Paul A. Waters.

Troop 7 of West Newton are to have their Father and Son banquet at 6.00 P. M. tonight (Friday) in the Second Church, West Newton. Mayor Childs is to award the Eagle Scout badge to Scout Edward Stearns at the dinner and every scout is expected to see that his father gets to the dinner. Scoutmaster Underwood is in charge of the arrangements.

DEATH OF MR. COTTON

Mr. Leonard M. Cotton, President of the Cotton Automobile Bodies Company of Boston, died at his home 1735 Beacon street, Waban, on Tuesday in his 50th year.

Mr. Cotton was born in Chelsea, and has lived in Newton about 20 years. He was a member of the Union Church, Waban, and of the Waban Neighborhood Club.

He is survived by a widow, Helen Luella Leonard Cotton and by three children, Charles, Phyllis and Robert Henry Cotton.

Services were held at his late residence on Thursday, Rev. Charles M. Cutler of Union Church officiating, and the burial was in the family lot at Dedham.

We cordially invite the public to patronize our "movies" as generously as they have our other entertainments. We are sponsoring the very best.

Thursday, March 26, the girls held a gymnasium meet with contests and basketball. The seventh grade came out ahead with a score of 28; the eighth, a score of 10; and the ninth, a score of 8. The ninth grade won the basketball game with the eighth grade 14-8. All three classes now have five points respectively toward the Girls' Cup.

A Ukulele Club under the direction of Miss Hinkley made known its organization last week. It has many enthusiastic members.

Mr. Howard Bushway presented to the cooking classes a Dutch picture, "The Flower Girl." With the new rug in the little dining-room, this alcove presents a very home-like appearance. It has been the scene of very daintily-served luncheons—the most recent one being given under the hospitality of the girls of 1B.

During the weekly assembly which was in charge of Mrs. Sandwall, a musical program followed by a film "Cuba and the Sugar Trade" was presented by Betty Farnum. Sally Drew and Marjorie Mighill furnished the musical entertainment.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Largest Docket on Record. Budget over Three Millions. Override Mayor's Veto on Central Garage

What is believed to be the longest docket considered by any board of aldermen in the city of Newton was taken up at the regular meeting on Monday night. Besides the passage of the 1925 budget, which will be found in another column, the board held 88 public hearings in addition to the regular routine business. The board met at 5.00 P. M. to consider the budget and at about 6.30, after consideration of the recommendations as made by the Finance Committee, passed the budget without change. Adjournment was then taken for supper. At 7.45 the aldermanic chamber was crowded with the largest audience ever attending an aldermanic meeting, about 300 being present. Many of those interested could not even get inside of the chamber, and were forced to stand outside in the entry. The main topic of interest was the much advertised hearing on an amendment to the zoning ordinance whereby a single residence zone would be established in Newton. Another topic of considerable interest was the action the board would take on the Mayor's veto of the permit granted the Central Garage Inc., for a 150-car garage in Newtonville, at the last meeting of the board. This permit was granted, after seven or eight weeks' consideration by the committee on Franchises and Licenses, but was not approved by the Mayor.

or owing to a petition by Helen E. Bassett, et al., requesting reopening and granting a new hearing on the garage petition. The question was for the board to uphold or override the Mayor's veto. A rollcall vote was taken and the veto was overridden by a vote of 16 to 5. Aldermen Gallagher, Heathcote, Leahy, O'Connell, and Walton voting to sustain the veto. The meeting was not without an element of humor, although confronted by a large amount of business. Residents of Ricker Terrace, appearing in favor of the laying out of that street, were unanimous in their classification of the road as the worst street in the city. One resident, Mr. Fred W. Dunne, said that there was no street in Newton that could compare with Ricker Terrace. Some time ago he was unfortunate in having a fire in his home and the Newton fire apparatus, responding to the alarm, had to go across the line into Boston and come through from the other end of the street and lay hose lines across a field in order to avoid the mud. He also declared that every time it rained Newton cellars were flooded by Boston rain and mud. One reason for delays in the collection of ashes at the city was the fact that sometimes an ash truck would get stuck in Ricker Terrace and it would necessitate sometimes three other trucks several (Continued on Page 2)

DINNER TO ATHLETES

The Newton Athletic Association gave a dinner to the winter teams at Newton High School at the Newton Club last night. About one hundred were present, including the members of the track, hockey, and swimming teams and many of the alumni, who formerly represented Newton in various sports. Seth Wood, president of the association, presided. "Bucky" Chandler filled the role of toastmaster in his customary excellent manner, and introduced the speakers by means of amusing and clever stories. The speakers were Charles Linnehan, coach of athletic teams at Brown and Nichols, Mr. U. G. Wheeler, superintendent of the Newton schools, George Owen, former Newton and Harvard athlete, Jimmy Knox, football scout at Harvard, and Allie Dickinson, coach of the Newton teams.

Mr. Linnehan touched upon the subject that the aim of school athletics should be to have a number of teams in each sport, such as Newton has in baseball. To do this would require equipment, coaches, and playing fields, and he hoped Newton would enlarge the field as is being contemplated. Mr. Linnehan had a great deal of praise for Newton teams inasmuch as he said he had yet to see a Newton boy playing dirty or shady in any way. Speaking of Coach Dickinson, Mr. Linnehan said, of the thirty or forty coaches in greater Boston in the last ten years, Mr. Dickinson was the only one who still coached the same school he did at that time. This he considered (Continued on Page 6)

THREE MILLION BUDGET

The annual budget as submitted by the Finance Committee and passed, without change, by the board of aldermen on Monday night, carries a total of $3,290,010.80 for general expenses and $192,240.50 for water expenses. A reduction from the figures as submitted by Mayor Childs of $150,272.31 for general expenses and about $4,600 in water expenses, and a decrease of $73,631.87 from the appropriations of last year.

The largest cut is in the Buildings department, where $57,150 is saved to the taxpayers largely in the maintenance of school and other city buildings accounts. The next largest cut is in the Street department where $31,219 is cut out. $10,000 is through the item of snow and ice removal, $10,000 through the item of street lighting, and the remainder in smaller cuts of other items.

The Finance Committee and the board favored substantial increases in the salaries of all the heads of the departments recommended by the Mayor, although in every case except the Street Commissioner they reduced the Mayor's recommendation by various amounts. The largest increase, $800, went to the City solicitor. Other increases of $150 to $500 went to the chairman of the board of assessors, the city clerk, the public building commissioner, the street commissioner and the water commissioner, the latter not having asked or even expected an increase of salary. In addition there were many minor increases to clerks and other officials.

Other interesting features of the 1925 budget are the disapproval of $5,250 recommended by the Mayor for a new Cadillac ambulance in the Police department, disapproval of $1,200 recommended by the Mayor for concerts by the Playground department, approval of but four additional patrolmen to the police force in place of six recommended by the Mayor, and twelve requested by the police department, approval of only two additional firemen in place of five recommended by the Mayor and ten requested by the fire department, recommendation of $801,932.67 for salaries of school teachers as recommended by the Mayor and the school department, an increase of about $30,000 over last year.

Alderman Pratt of the Finance Committee made a tentative prediction that the tax rate increase for this

GIRL SCOUTS

"Housecleaning day" at Camp Mary Day was most successful. About sixty scouts and officers arrived early in the morning, many of them with rakes or hoe over their shoulder, all smiling and ready for work. The camp grounds looked very differently by dinner time and the girls were all ready for hot dogs, sandwiches, doughnuts and a delicious cold drink.

After dinner, work was started again and by three o'clock so much had been accomplished that working implements were laid aside and a very exciting game of baseball was played.

Among other things, the girls laid out and started cleaning the ground for a tennis court. This would add greatly to the fun in camp and if the girls continue to show their interest in it, there will be that added attraction to our now very attractive camp. Miss Freeman will be at camp on Saturdays for the most part of the spring and will welcome any scouts who would like to continue the good work started last week.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Mrs. Joanna DeFazio, 50 of 50 Auburndale avenue, West Newton, whose skull was fractured Monday night in a peculiar accident on River street, West Newton, died early Wednesday morning at the Newton Hospital. Monday evening as Mrs. DeFazio was crossing River street an automobile owned and operated by William F. Ryan of Washington street, West Newton, approached. The driver of the machine turned out to avoid striking the woman and drove his machine into a hedge on a private lawn. According to Ryan, he did not strike the woman and witnesses of the affair substantiated his story saying that they saw the woman fall after the automobile had passed her. She was picked up unconscious and found to have a fractured skull. She was taken to the hospital and placed upon the dangerous list. Ryan was exonerated by the police from all blame. Funeral services for Mrs. DeFazio were held today.

year would be between 10 and 25 cents on a $1,000 valuation and there was even a possibility of a slight reduction from the 1924 rate. In five years property valuations in Newton have increased from $86,000,000 to $120,000,000 and this increase, due to the largest building boom the city has ever experienced, may be sufficient to permit of a lower tax.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Leverett D. G. Bentley

Apparently we are not to have the pleasure of a call from our old friend the census-taker. Instead, each of us, if we have not done so already, will sit down and write our name, our age at our last birthday (we hope it may not be the last birthday for ourselves or of any who read this column) and also whether we are male or female. It is a simple matter to fill out a brief questionnaire, but not half as entertaining as being interviewed by a "census-taker." We say, "entertaining." Some may dispute us, but we insist that our world is wisely chosen. There are those who dislike to be put through the third degree, and who will say it is a good thing that the Commonwealth has cut-out all this "nonsense." We feel we appreciate their state of mind but must disagree with them. Nothing refreshes one's memory so completely as to be required to put up a lot of things in connection with one's family history.
That, however, was not and never has been the "entertaining" part of the census. To us the person appointed to call at our house supplied the interest. We vividly remember a dignified woman, gowned in black, with eye-glasses to which was attached a gold chain. She was the first census-taker that impressed our boyish mind.
She was as cold in her manner as if someone had accidentally stepped on her toe. When ushered into the living room she promptly chose the "best chair" as if it had been placed there for her occupancy. She spread the big book of information on her lap, pulled her pencil out of its holder and began in a judicial tone to find out all the Government demanded should be placed on record. She sought to convince all within sound of her voice that it was an indictment, not only of ourselves but of our ancestors. Somehow, this woman could make family pride wither quicker than the heavy breath of scandal. As we recall the questions were as numerous as they were searching. Nothing, apparently was overlooked. The whole occasion was as solemn as a murder inquest, with the lady census-taker pointing the accusing finger at each member of the household in turn. You may wonder where the "entertaining" part came in. Mark you, we did not say "amusing." The fact was that every household where this woman called had a similar experience. There was a thrill in every question. After she had gone came a family discussion as to the accuracy of some of the information vouchsafed. As we recall no family in our neighborhood recovered from the census-taker's visit for several days.

"You seem to have overlooked one of the most obnoxious of elevator patrons," writes D. R. F. "in your illuminating article on the people who take the joy out of life by their bad manners in public. What you wrote about the person who insists upon showing others aside to board a 'lift' is perfectly true, but there is still another pest I would like to see shown-up in your column. It is with difficulty I use mild language for the referring to him. Sometimes it is a 'her,' but for the purpose of this letter
I am merely going to call this individual a 'him.' Really, he gets my goat quicker than anybody else. I mean the fellow who is bound to be first on an elevator and when he gets aboard stops right in the doorway and forces the remaining passengers to crowd by him. Just what this kind of a bird has in mind I do not know.
Maybe he thinks he owns the elevator. I have seen him on several occasions. I have nearly broken my neck coming into collision with such a person. The system is always the same and it always fools me. I am ashamed to say. I am modest myself, and I usually hesitate at showing other folks aside. Sometimes I am second, though, and when I am it always happens that right ahead of me is the (or woman) who steps on the 'lift' and then turns around in order, I suppose, to be right at the door. Many a bump have I experienced. Honestly, I have barely avoided falling over backwards more times than one. When I was young they used to call such behavior 'gall.' Now they have other names for it, I believe. But whatever describes it best makes no difference with me. It 'gets my goat' and that's all there is to it."

We read with interest an item in our esteemed contemporary about dogs barking at night, and raising the question why complain only of dogs when cats also make a racket during the nocturnal hours. At least it was something like that, as we recall. To us it seemed to suggest a neighborhood row, but it may not have been anything of the kind. It contained a plea for the "honest watch dog's bark," according to our recollection.
Unfortunately we have mislaid the clipping and are forced to rely upon our memory. If we are guilty of misstatement of fact we hope the writer will bear with us and remember our intentions are of the best. Every neighborhood has its dogs and its cats.
Also every neighborhood has a resident who dislikes such animals. This latter individual usually devotes many waking hours to complaining about the depredations of a neighbor's dog or the wailing of a neighbor's cat. It seems a part of suburban life that every neighborhood must have its "kicker." We cannot deny that dogs and cats may annoy those whose nerves are sensitive, although it is difficult for us to grasp at all times

the "kicker's" attitude. It is an easy thing to start a neighborhood quarrel and a very hard thing to settle one.
There are people who revel in the fact that they set the standard of behavior for their neighbors. If they were content with that satisfaction all would be well. But usually they seem to feel a right of proprietorship towards the rest of the neighbors and in proving it exercise supervision over the conduct of all who live in their vicinity.
Their own shortcomings they overlook, probably because they are too busy checking-up on the neighbors.
If they fail to remove snow from their sidewalk it is quite all right, but if the neighbors slip-up in this regard the telephone is put in use and the police are promptly notified. It seems a bit inconsistent this constant struggle for neighbor quiet, attainable only by long complaints of the playing of children next door, the running across the lawn by a neighbor's dog, etc. It must have been something like this that inspired the ancient woee about the man who declared, "I'm going to have peace if I have to fight for it."

It may be true that a leopard cannot change its spots, but it is a fact that the Boston Elevated can change its stops, and without any difficulty.
Demonstration of this latter fact has been made recently as patrons of the road can testify. It is likely that some of the regular riders will do more than testify; they may have a few comments to add that are not especially complimentary to the Elevated management. On behalf of the road it is pointed out that the change is for the benefit of the riding public and therefore necessary in order to make the operation of the cars more efficient. According to our observations a passenger who boards the car in Newton and secures for himself a seat is not particularly distressed if the car bowls its way to Boston safely and with few stops. In fact the average passenger is inclined to express satisfaction, if not pleasure, when the crew of a car decide they have enough
"freight" and roll by waiting groups of men and women in Allston or Cottage Farm. This is not written to prove that some people are selfish.
That attitude of the human mind has made plans for many years, and long before trolley cars came into being. We are not pessimistic but we feel no hesitation in saying the selfishness will exist long after trolley cars have faded from the landscape. We are wondering if fewer stops on the electric car lines is going to do all the management of the road hopes. For our part we feel confident it will stymie pedestrianism.
To have a car-stop handy to one's house is of course a bad thing for the community. The rider doesn't get the exercise he should when not required to walk a quarter-of-a-mile or so out of his way to board the trolley. He needs a walk after breakfast, and on a pleasant morning nothing could be more inspiring than a promenade in the sunlight. It may be that the Elevated wishes to encourage walking and discourage laziness. If so it has gone about it in an excellent way.

There are some individuals who find it difficult to travel long distances on foot. Maybe the Elevated does not know that there are such people.
Many physicians will advise the officials to the contrary if they should desire further information. We cannot see how the system of fewer stops is going to help this latter class. It may, but we doubt it very much. Often we have heard people say that a long walk from the car line after a hard business day is nothing if not discomforting. We should think it would be. Just how the men and women are going to feel when compelled each evening to tramp twice the distance as formerly we are not prepared to say. We believe, however, that we can imagine their attitude towards the change. They may scarcely be expected to write letters to the road congratulating the management on its new policy. Yet we, as a patron of the Elevated, think there is a little bit of compensation to be found in this elimination of certain white spots.
If one is riding between 5 and 6 P.M.
from Boston to Newton on a crowded home-bound trolley it is a bit wear-some to find that the car misses not a single white post—that somebody wants to alight whenever opportunity is offered. If there were more white posts there would be more stops. Sometimes the journey from Boston to Newton during "rush hours" is lengthened by twenty minutes through the delay occasioned by frequent stops. We fear there will be some who will disagree with us and declare that we are among the selfish ones referred to in the paragraph above. They will admit, we feel, that the halts and hitches and the pauses that an outward-bound car makes at night are somewhat trying even to one possessed of marked patience. Inasmuch as protest against cutting out stops will hardly gain anything to the people of our home town we advise that they reconcile themselves with the thought that the fewer the stops the faster the speed. We do this because we do not know of any other suitable suggestion at this time which would be more Pollyannish, for, after all, you must be a true Pollyanna if you patronize the present system of transportation provided by public corporations.

DEATH OF MR. PIERCE

Mr. Abner F. Pierce died at his home, 67 Circuit avenue, Newton Highlands, last Friday in his 73rd year.
Mr. Pierce was born in Revere, and has lived in Newton six years. He was for many years engaged in the produce business in the market district.

He was a member of Soley lodge, Masons, of Somerville, where he formerly lived. He married Mary A.
Simpson of North Cohasset, who survives, together with a son, Royal K.
of Burlington, Ia., a daughter, Mrs.
Robert D. Flansburgh of Newton
Highlands, and two grandchildren.
Services were held at his late residence on Sunday Rev. Samuel H.
Woodrow of the Congregational

TWO ALARM FIRE

hold of Herbert L. Felton, Chestnut street, West Newton, were rescued by police and firemen early last Friday morning at a fire in their home.
The fire was discovered by Miss Ann Felton, thirteen years of age, who was awakened by smoke. She warned the other members of the family and Mr.
Felton telephoned the fire department.
Escape by the stairway had been cut off and the family went to the roof of a porch from which they were removed by Patrolman John Donahue with the assistance of Lieutenant Henry Seaver of Truck 1. In another wing of the house three servants were sleeping and Mr. Felton had been unable to warn them of their danger.
Patrolman Joseph Charlton attempted to enter the front door but was driven back by the flames. He forced a rear door and groping his way through thick smoke reached the maids' quarters. He then aided the maids in escaping. Both patrolmen were officially commended on the police blotter.

Louis S. How of Newtonville, a member of the board of fire underwriters, was one of the first to reach the scene and he immediately, upon seeing the flames bursting out through the second-floor windows, rang in a second alarm from Box 391. This was 4.25 A. M. Fog and haze hindered the fire apparatus from making greater speed and in some cases firemen ran ahead of the trucks to tell the drivers when to turn the corners. Apparatus was driven into the driveways to permit the use of chemicals but it was necessary to lay several lines of hose to combat the flames.
The blaze started in a linen closet on the second floor, ate its way through a wall into the stairway well and burst through two windows. The brick shell of the building kept the flames confined for a while but eventually they burst through the roof.
The firemen kept the blaze confined to the linen room and the area over the stairway though it broke through into the dining room on one side and Mr.
Felton's room on the other. After the blaze was extinguished the firemen found an electric iron in the ruins of the linen room and Fire Chief Charles W. Randall blames this as the cause of the fire although defective wiring might have caused it. The damage was about $10,000 but Mr.
Felton's extensive library was uninjured. Invitations to a masquerade ball, which was to have been held at the Felton home Saturday night, were immediately cancelled.

Randall was cut on the left hand by glass.

ST. MARY'S HEALING MISSION

Dr. A. J. Gayner Banks, Director of The Society of The Nazarine, who is to conduct a Healing Mission at St.
Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, April 19th to April 24th inclusive, conducted a Mission at St. James' Church, Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, recently.
This is what "The Evening News," the local paper, says about it:
"Hundreds thronged St. James Church again last evening to attend the healing mission service conducted by Dr. A. J. Gayner Banks, director of the Nazarine, and scores were turned away. So many were unable to get into the church that Dr. Banks urged as many as possible to attend the morning services, thus making it possible for those who could not attend in the morning to secure seats in the evening."

"That persons are being physically healed and benefitted as a result of the mission was made plain when testimonials, both verbal and in writing, were received from grateful men and women, one of whom, Mrs. Michael J.
Belding, of 1501 Minneapolis street, sending a letter which told of her being able to walk without crutch or cane for the first time in fifteen years.
"A girl kneeling at the altar rail cried out, just after the laying on of hands: 'Oh, Dr. Banks, I can see. I can see.' She had been blind in one eye, and her sight was partially restored, at least. A man afflicted with a broken neck testified that he had enjoyed his first night's sleep since the injury was inflicted. Others told of relief from lesser physical ailments."

"About sixty-five persons, infirm in body, soul and mind, responded to the invitation to come forward for the sacrament of the laying on of hands, administered by Dr. Banks and the Rev. R. F. McDowell, rector of St.
James'."

The following was printed in a later issue of the same paper:
"One woman who has been deaf for fifteen years testified to an improvement in her hearing, as a result of the healing mission being conducted in St. James Episcopal Church, and more than forty raised their hands this morning when the direct question was asked:
"How many have been benefited, spiritually, mentally or physically, by the mission services thus far?"

The question was put by Dr. A. J.
Gayner Banks, director of the Society of The Nazarine, in the course of the services which preceded the communion sacrament.

The church last evening was crowded to the utmost limit of its capacity, and several hundreds were turned away for lack of room. This morn-ing's attendance was considerably larger than that of yesterday morning.

Before the question was put Dr.
Banks made it clear that he wanted those to raise their hands who have received a specific benefit, some definite physical or spiritual healing, and not merely a general inspirational help.

ROTARY CLUB

The Newton Rotary Club held its weekly meeting at the Newton Club
last Monday. Mr. B. F. Griffin, associate editor of the Boston News Bureau, was the speaker and he gave an interesting talk upon "Our Economic Age." Mr. Griffin has been described by an associate as one of the best posted men in this part of the country, and his talk proved that this

DEATH OF MISS FULLER
In the passing of Miss Lucretia J. Fuller, Newton has lost a loyal citizen, one who was thoroughly devoted to her best interests. Miss Fuller was born in Newton, August 17th, 1845, the daughter of Henry Fuller and Hannah Woodward Jackson. She had spent all her years in the same home, living a quiet home life, devoted to her friends, and conscientious in her giving.

In early life she united with Eliot Church, of which her grandfather, Hon. William Jackson, was one of the founders, and was a true member to the last. She belonged to the Newton Community Club, and was a member of the Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution.

Her many friends will miss her from the simple walks of life.

DEATH OF MRS. FREEMAN
Mrs. Harriet M. Freeman, widow of Fred W. Freeman, died on Wednesday at her home, Mt. Vernon street, West Newton following an illness of several months.

Mrs. Freeman was born in Somerville, and has lived in Newton about fifty-five years. She has been active in the First Unitarian Church of West Newton of which she was a member, and in the West Newton branch of the Red Cross.

Surviving her are four children. Mrs. Harold G. Arnold of West Roxbury, Frederick W. Freeman of Portland, Maine, Miss Ethel Freeman, and Miss Caroline L. Freeman.

Services will be held this afternoon at 2:30, the Rev. Harold G. Arnold, pastor of the Unitarian Church, West Roxbury officiating, and the burial will be in the Newton Cemetery.

EDITORIAL

In these times when hours of labor have been reduced, people should have more time to make their places more attractive.

One of the easiest ways of beautifying a home is to plant shrubbery around it. Once you get a bed of shrubs well started, they need little attention.

A little spading, trimming and perhaps fertilizer, and these sturdy and independent little bushes take care of themselves and ask no favors from anyone. At their own appointed time, every shrub in a well selected arrangement will burst into a rich mass of bloom.

If correctly chosen, the bank of shrubbery should have some bloomers at every period in the season. It transforms a bare and cold looking dwelling into a cheerful center of radiance and beauty. Every home in this community should be adorned with pretty shrubs.

Representative Shattuck, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee in opposing the recent veto of Governor Fuller, is quoted as saying that every governor is out to "make a record." As Mr. Shattuck was the right hand man of Governor Cox in making a record which drained the state treasury and postponed important public improvements, it is evident that he discriminates between governors, as well as records. Governor Fuller inherited a serious financial condition from Governor Cox, and should have the support of every sensible legislator in solving the problem before him.

It is with regret that we view the recent action of the board of aldermen in abandoning the proposed widening of St. James street, especially in regard to the Washington street end. As permits have been issued for five two family houses on the northwest corner it seems likely that St. James street is doomed to remain the narrow lane it now is. The extensive increase in the number of automobiles in the state will soon make it imperative that an outlet be provided for the traffic on the new boulevard by the river and St. James street is one of the logical routes.

With Mr. G. Wilbur Thompson succeeding Mr. Rupert C. Thompson, the president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce is just one Thompson after another.

The committee of the Newton Central Council, which has recently concluded its investigation of the subject of a Community Chest, deserves the thanks of the citizens for the thorough manner in which it has done its work.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Last Saturday evening Thomas Burns, 35 years old, of Washington street, Newton, while crossing Washington street between Brooks and Lowell avenues, was struck and knocked down, and left dying in the street by an automobile owned by the Jurad Renting Agency of Newtonville. The police learned from the Jurad Motor Co. that the occupants of the machine were Daniel Coline and Julius Caire, both of Clinton street, Newton, and an unknown man. Burns was removed to the Newton hospital, with severe injuries to his head and legs.

Monday evening Mr. George L. Henry, age 55 years, living at 337 Washington street, Newton, while crossing Washington street near the Warren, was struck by a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Augustus MacGillivray, of Fuller Terrace, West Newton. Mr. Henry suffered injuries to his left hip and right hand. He was assisted to Station 3 and later to his home by Mr. MacGillivray and Officer Keating.

Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock, two automobiles were in collision at the corner of Homer street and Fuller Lane, Newton Centre. Charles G. Clark, an occupant of one of the machines, was slightly injured about the head. The operators of the cars were Edward R. Howe, of Brookline, and Henry W. Clark, of Pelham street, Newton Centre. Both machines, a Studebaker touring car and a Studebaker Sedan, were only slightly damaged.

ST. JAMES—"The Youngest," a comedy by Philip Barry will be presented next week by the popular Boston Stock Company at the St. James Theatre. "The Youngest" will be seen for the first time in Boston at the St. James. Houston Richards, versatile juvenile actor, will play the leading role, originally played by Henry Hull. Houston Richards will be seen in the principal role of "Richard Winslow," the youngest member of his family. Elsie Hitz, leading lady, has the Genevieve Tobin role. Bernard Nedell, leading man, and Olive Blakeney, will be seen as "Mr. and Mrs. Martin." Roberta Lee Clark has an excellent flapper role as "Martha Winslow." John Collier and Roy Elkins will be seen as her two brothers, and Anna Laying will be "Charlotte Winslow." Marjorie North is cast as "Katie."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

State House, Boston—Gov. Fuller, and not the Legislature holds the trump hand on Beacon Hill. Those who thought that because of his limited experience in dealing with legislative matters the Governor might not be able to keep ahead of the General Court, are satisfied they were mistaken. There is no question now but what the Governor is the "boss." This was demonstrated in the attitude of the House, or at least a majority of its members, towards the budget. When that measure, which is technically known as the general appropriation bill, came before him after it had been enacted by the Legislature, the Governor found that the Ways and Means Committee had increased some of the items he had previously slashed. He decided that he wanted his own way and consequently vetoed three of the items and reduced five others. When he did so he knew he would have opposition. It meant a "fight," as they say on Beacon Hill. The Governor, however, was determined to make the test. He sent a message, which, in other words defied the Ways and Means Committee of the House and practically said, "Let's see what you can do." One of the surprises of the whole thing was the small number of votes, comparatively speaking, that were registered against the Governor. The highest total on any rollcall was 83. The highest total on any rollcall on the Governor's side was 166. This was a bit surprising, as there was a rumor that the Governor would find a strong opposition. That proved to be unfounded, for at no time was there lined-up against the Governor any where near the required two-thirds vote necessary to override the action of the chief executive. In fact, many were at loss to understand why there were not more who supported the Ways and Means Committee. Perhaps that may be explained in part by the fact that the Ways and Means Committee is, because of its functions and not its personnel, one of the most unpopular of all committees. Suppose a legislator is successful in getting the House to favor a measure that calls for the expenditure of money. It may get a favorable report from the Metropolitan Affairs, Cities or Banks and Banking or whatever committee, and yet be turned down flat by the Ways and Means Committee on the grounds there are not sufficient funds available. It is possible that some of the legislators who have been disappointed in the past at the attitude of the Ways and Means Committee took the occasion to side with the Governor and thus "get back" at the Ways and Means Committee. But all sorts of explanations are possible and the reader may take his or her choice.

On the eight rollcalls required by the House on Governor Fuller's action on the budget, Representatives Saltonstall and Hollis voted to sustain the Governor. Representative Luitwiler voted against the Governor on two of the items (reduction of the appropriation for the suppression of the gypsy and brown tail moths and reduction of the appropriation for the development of the State forests) but voted with the Governor on the other six rollcalls. Representative Saltonstall made a speech in defense of the Governor's action and commending him for his policy of economy. Representative Hollis took part in the debate on the bill extending the powers of certain mutual insurance companies. The bill would give mutual companies all the rights of stock companies, with the exception of the insurance and one other form. The House, however, passed the bill to be engrossed by a standing vote. Representative Hollis tried to get a rollcall but was unsuccessful.

Only a few of the committees have failed to clean up all matters before them. There are, as is not unusual at the end of the session appears in the calendar of the more important bills to be considered. That they will arouse debate and discussion is not unexpected and because of this fact it is possible to determine at present when prorogation of the General Court may be expected. That it will come in the early part of next month seems reasonable to assume.

City Solicitor Bartlett spoke at a hearing Tuesday before the Legislative Committee on Social Welfare. His appearance was not as a representative of the city of Newton, but as a World War veteran. He urged action in regard to the pensioning of veterans in public service that would allow a veteran to obtain a pension without having contributed to a pension fund. Mr. Bartlett told the committee that the pension laws are in a chaotic state, and expressed the hope that this year's General Court would see fit to straighten them out. On Wednesday the Social Welfare Committee reported recommending reference to the next annual session all matters before them in connection with the report of the special commission on pensions.

Senator Rice of this city led the fight in the Senate last Monday for the bill to further regulate the sale and carrying of firearms. It would amend the present law and make it far more drastic than at present. Senator Rice sought to impress his colleagues with the fact that there is need of stiffer laws to keep down the young bandits whose escapades are given so much space in the daily newspapers. He contended that crimes of violence are committed without hesitation by youths who have little or no difficulty in getting possession of revolvers. In spite of Senator Rice's arguments the Senate rejected the bill. On Tuesday, however, Senator Rice continued his efforts with the result that the Senate reconsidered its action of the day before. It thereupon decided to postpone further consideration until next Monday. There now seems to be an excellent chance of the bill becoming law, if not in its present form at least when slightly amended. Governor Fuller recommended in his inaugural address more drastic laws regarding firearms. The Boston Police Commissioner and other police heads have recommended similar legislation, and it seems that the General Court will have to do something to meet the situation.

Among the provisions of the bill which Senator Rice is fighting for are the following, which are of such importance that they are worth printing in detail:

"That all dealers in firearms shall be licensed and that every licensee shall before delivery of a firearm make or cause to be made a true entry in a sales record book to be furnished by the licensing authorities and to be kept for that purpose, specifying the description of the firearm, the make, number, whether single barrel, magazine, revolver, pin, rim or central fire, whether sold, rented or leased, the date and hour of such delivery, and shall, before delivery as aforesaid, require the purchaser, renter or lessee personally to write in said sales record book his full name, sex, residence and occupation.

"That no firearm shall be sold, rented or leased to a person who has not a license to carry a pistol or revolver issued under section one hundred and thirty-one. That upon a sale, rental or lease of a firearm, the licensee shall stamp upon the license of the purchaser, renter or lessee the time and place of said sale, rental or lease, and no subsequent sale, rental or lease of a firearm shall be made to any person whose license to carry a pistol or revolver is thus stamped. That the license shall be subject to forfeiture for breach of any of its conditions, and that, if the licensee is convicted of a violation of any such condition, his license shall thereupon become void.

"Any person who, without being licensed as hereinbefore provided, sells, rents or leases, or exposes for sale, rental or lease, or has in his possession with intent to sell, rent or lease, a firearm shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year. Any licensee who violates any provision of section one hundred and twenty-three, and any employee or agent of such licensee, who violates any provision of said condition shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than two years.

"Whoever, except as provided by law, carries on his person, or carries on his person or under his control in a vehicle, a pistol or revolver, loaded or unloaded, without permission, or whoever so carries any pistol, dagger, knife, knife, slung shot, metal knuckles or sawed off shotgun, or whoever, when arrested upon a warrant for an alleged crime or when arrested while committing a crime or a breach of disturbance of the public peace, is armed with, or has on his person, or has on his person or under his control in a vehicle, a billie or dangerous weapon other than those herein mentioned, shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than two and one-half years in jail or house of correction or for not less than two and one-half years nor more than five years in the state prison, and upon conviction the pistol or other article shall be confiscated by the commonwealth."

Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen, who makes his home in Newton Highlands, was reappointed last Wednesday by the board of aldermen. Mr. Allen was first placed in office by President Coolidge when the latter was Governor. His work in handling the several closed trust companies gained for Mr. Allen an enviable reputation as an aggressive and efficient State official. Ex-Governor Cox reappointed him and now Governor Fuller has seen fit to put him for a third term. The State is fortunate in having an official of Mr. Allen's type. His ability is recognized by private interests and he has been offered several flattering positions, each carrying a salary much higher than the State pays him.

Representative Saltonstall introduced in the House an order thanking Bishop Lawrence for addressing the Legislature on the life of Senator Lodge. The order was promptly adopted.

Representative Saltonstall is recorded as a dissenter from the report of the Committee on State Administration in favor of a bill providing for the creation of a motor traffic board. The proposed board would include State Registrar Frank A. Goodwin and two associate commissioners of the Public Works Department. Although Mr. Goodwin would be chairman of the new board under the provisions of the bill it is believed by many that the new legislation is unnecessary and that matters should be allowed to remain as they are.

Representative Luitwiler has filed a bill under the provisions of which the courts will be required to impose a jail sentence upon a person found guilty of stealing an automobile if a felony within the six years preceding. The bill also provides that if a person is convicted of unlawful appropriation of an automobile, or using an automobile without authority, where he has no license to operate a motor vehicle, the court will be required to impose a jail sentence if the offender has been convicted of a felony within six years. The bill is approved by Frank A. Goodwin, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, and was drawn by Representative Luitwiler after a conference with Mr. Goodwin.

NEWTON CLUB

The Easter Luncheon will be held at the club house next Wednesday. Mrs. Spencer Arend is in charge of the luncheon, and Mrs. Henry Nash of the bridge.

LODGES

The installation of officers of Newton Lodge of Elks took place last night. The following officers were installed: John H. Gordon, exalted ruler; William E. Earle, esteemed leading knight; Robert A. Vachon, esteemed loyal knight; Frank L. Wilcox, esteemed lecturing knight; J. Edward Callahan, secretary; Vincent M. Turley, treasurer; Matthew J. Hurley, tiler; John J. Doherty, trustee for three years; Willard L. Sampson, delegate to the Grand Lodge; Malcolm P. McKinnon, alternate.

More than 150 members of the Newton Lodge went to Lawrence last Thursday evening to attend the installation as exalted ruler of the Lawrence Lodge of Joseph Hargaden, a Newton man, former member of the Newton police force, and now an attorney in Lawrence. Mr. Hargaden was presented with a brief case by Mayor Childs in behalf of his many friends in Newton.

In recognition of the services of Mr. Harvey C. Wood, P. G. of Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F. No. 92, the Rebekahs and Oddfellows will celebrate the evening of April 16th as Harvey Wood night.

Dalhousie Lodge of Newton, is one of the eight Massachusetts lodges of Masons. With 1,092, the Newton lodge ranks fourth, being exceeded in number of members by Masonic lodges in Springfield, Somerville, and Everett.

BRIDGE PARTY

Over 250 people will gather at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, Monday evening, April 13, for the Easter Bridge Party to be given for the benefit of the Newton District Nursing Association.

The affair is one of the very first on the post-Lenten calendar and promises to be as enjoyable as the cause is worthy for which it is being given. The committee headed by Mrs. Albert M. Hutchinson hope to realize between $250 and $300.

Mrs. Hutchinson, who is well-known for her interest in charitable organizations, is a director of the Newton District Nursing Association. The committee working with her includes the following women:

Mrs. Henry W. Bail, Mrs. W. A. Camp, Mrs. B. W. Godsoe, Mrs. C. F. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. George B. King, Mrs. Will Travis Lavery, Mrs. G. D'W. Marcy, Mrs. Donald D. McKay, Mrs. P. I. DINNER TO ATHLETES

ered a case of the survival of the fittest, and Newton is fortunate in having a coach who takes the interest in boys that Dickinson does.

Mr. Wheeler, speaking of the development of athletics, said that ground had been broken for the new big school which is to contain two full sized gymnasiums and two smaller ones so that each pupil can receive the benefits of two physical training periods a week. Other facilities such as showers, lockers, and dressing rooms for visiting teams will be provided. Although no swimming pool has been included in the plans for the new building he thought it would be a good idea if one should be thought of in the future. One important thing was lacking at the present time, and that was an adequate playing field, and the meeting of the N. A. A. indicated that this matter was being considered. Mr. Wheeler read a letter from Mayor Childs in which the control of Claffin field was placed in the hands of the school committee with the provision that no appropriation for the care and maintenance of the field should be made to the city, and that no use contrary to the provisions of the deed of the property should be made of the field. A campaign to raise funds for the enlargement of the field was suggested by Mr. Wheeler.

George Owen told the members of the teams that to aim at a passing mark was sure to place a man on probation sometime or other, and that it was far better to aim at a higher mark and insure oneself of passing. Even though the athlete was a fifth or sixth rate substitute he was at least eligible for a team if he was up in his studies.

Jimmy Knox told the audience of the difficulties the athletes of his day in high school had to contend with, and that they played on three different fields one year. During his four years in high school they had no coach. Speaking of the letter read by Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Knox said that if he had received such a letter he would have acknowledged it and returned promptly as he considered the matter of an athletic field to be entirely a city proposition, as the physical training of boys and girls was the foundation of their entire life. He gave two messages to the members of the teams, first, acquire the habit of allotting a certain definite length of time to everything. So many hours for eating, so many for sleep, etc., then use the spare time for whatever is desired, but get the habit and stick to it. Secondly, get the fundamentals of the game while you're still in school and it is quite certain that the varsity team will be made in college.

Coach Dickinson welcomed the alumni and others and said that although he had coached Newton teams for the past sixteen years he hoped to continue to do so for some time to come.

President Wood asked the members of the three teams to introduce themselves. The banquet adjourned and a meeting of the members of the N. A. A. was called to order. It was voted to hold the next meeting on May 11th, at which time the nominating committee will submit nominations for officers for the ensuing year. Chris Vachon was elected to draw up a letter of thanks to the speakers and a letter to the school committee urging that they recommend a study of the enlargement of the athletic field to the board of aldermen.

DEATH OF PRIVATE JOY

The death of Robert A. Joy, veteran of the World War, occurred at the Boston City Hospital on Tuesday following a long illness. Mr. Joy was in his 40th year and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Joy of 53 Maple street, Auburndale.

In the period of the war Private Joy was affiliated with Co. I, 101st Regiment. He was taken ill when in the service and had never fully recovered. He is survived by one brother, Albert Joy of Brockton, and five sisters, Leah H. Joy of Auburndale, Mrs. Lillian Thayer of Wollaston, Mrs. Helen Tomrose of Auburndale, Mrs. Charlotte Nordstrom and Mrs. Jessie Keene of Wollaston.

Private Joy was widely known in Auburndale, and was highly esteemed by many friends. The funeral services were held at the chapel in Newton cemetery on Thursday afternoon, and interment was in the family lot.

PROFESSIONAL NOTICE

Dr. Wm. Duncan Reid, of 327 Franklin street, Newton, wishes through the columns of the Graphic to correct an impression that is frequently embarrassing him in his professional work. Many of his friends think that he is not available for general practice in Newton, and he wishes to state unequivocally that he is. Office hours, 1:30-3:30 P. M.

IN AID OF STEARNS SCHOOL CENTER

One of the most delightful society events of the season is to be the beautiful film production of "Janice Meredith" given on Wednesday evening, April 29, at the Newton Opera House in aid of the Stearns School Center. There will be vaudeville by talent from the Hasty Pudding Club. Some of our Newton young ladies will usher in costume and also take part in the vaudeville.

Bon-bons will be sold during the intermission. Owing to the very attractive program and the limited capacity of the Opera House, it is advisable to make application for tickets as early as possible. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. S. W. Bridges, chairman, 36 Fairmont avenue, or from any director, also from Hubbard's Drug Store.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

State Federations

Clubwomen of Massachusetts are honored by the visit to our State next week of the President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. And we delight to do her honor on the 14th, the Spring Conference of Presidents' Day. The morning session opens at ten o'clock at the rooms of the New England Women's Club, 555 Boylston Street, Boston, of which session to Presidents the Hyde Park Current Events Club is hostess. The afternoon session is an open meeting at Park Street Church, Boston, at 2:30, when any members who secure white tickets from their local presidents may have the privilege of joining in paying tribute to Mrs. John D. Sherman, the woman who holds the high station of leader of the thousands of clubwomen of America. From 2:15 to 2:30 John Herman Loud will give an organ recital, a pleasure that will be eagerly sought by all who have had this treat before. Rev. A. Z. Conrad, Pastor of the church in which the session is to be held, will greet the guests and members. There will be solos by Miss Nelly Stewart Brown, an address by our own clever Grace Morrison Poole—inducement enough in itself to bring Massachusetts delegates thronging to Boston—and the climax of the day—and address by Mrs. Sherman.

It may not be wise to advertise too extensively this interesting event and program, else we have to enlarge Park Street Church, but it would never do not to have clubwomen of Newton fully aware of this occasion, so that they may be able to take advantage of this opportunity!

Recent Events

The Scholarship Fund for the Newtonville Woman's Club must have added a great many names to its total, judging from the happy throng in the hall of Technical High School last Friday evening. Certainly so splendid an object deserved patronage, and as certainly those who came to aid a good cause found themselves—as have always the good folk of the earth—amply rewarded for a kindly heart. The High School Orchestra, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Charles D. Harding, gave great enjoyment. Selections were excellently chosen and rendered, and the twenty-five or thirty young people who compose the orchestra showed skill, ability, artistry, and a pleasing poise that added greatly to the evening.

It is not often that outsiders are privileged to view the inner happenings and characteristics of a family circle that are as convincing as were those of the little family of Frank Craven's "The First Year." All realization of this living-room and its group being a play was swept from thought, and we felt as though we were sitting at an adjoining table overhearing reality. Can a higher compliment be paid to the splendid portrayal of Mr. and Mrs. Livingston and their daughter Grace, and the very understanding and lovable uncle, Dr. Anderson? Mr. Harold D. Billings, as the deaf (?) Mr. Livingston, reading his newspaper, absorbed, except when he wanted to hear, with his aggravating "heh?" invariably uttered when his worried wife (Mrs. Ernestine M. Kyle) and exuberant daughter (Mrs. Hazel D. Sholley) were most interested in their conversation, kept his audience chuckling. The keen guessing of Dr. Anderson (Mr. Harold C. Bond) as to the intentions of the romantic niece eager to leave the "stupid little town" in search of adventures, with any nice young man, preferably Dick Loring or Thomas Tucker, was delightful, and Grace's confusion at his knowledge was excellently done. In truth, it is impossible to mention all the clever bits of work of Mrs. Sholley as the young girl looking so eagerly toward life. Her tears in the second act, when the climax of her disagreements with her young husband came, was a most finished piece of acting, neither overdoing, nor lacking in conviction.

Mr. Malcolm Duffield made a good Dick Loring, assured, a bit conceited, and yet with the bravado that shows an underlying fear that he may not be quite so wonderful as he would have the girl he loves, and the rival he scorns, think him to be. Mr. Sholley, timid Thomas Tucker, amusing in his nervousness, and not quite so likable when "driven to drink" by his complaining wife, ran the gamut of changes in character with ability. Derby Brown and Mrs. LeBaron were excellent types of guests who come to partake of hospitality because business demands, but who, at least in the case of the woman, look askance upon their hosts, and dread the boredom of an evening with those not of their kind, a kind not to be despised on that account, however, in the opinion of the audience.

The hurry for the little dinner, the nervousness and dismay, when expected help fails, and the incompetent negro, Hattie, announces that "nary in the back" keeps her mother from coming to serve the dinner, are so real, so reminding of similar experience in all our lives, that pity and mirth struggle in the minds of the on-looker. Mrs. Bernice A. Mann, as the bewildered Hattie, trying by motion to remember which hand is left, and overdoing that motion to the destruction of a cherished vegetable dish of the "best set," deserves all the praise that can be accorded such a difficult part.

The straightening out of the tragedy, the success of Tommy—so long looked upon as foredoomed to failure because of his lack of those seemingly brave qualities that have carried Dick Loring to success and friendships—bringing the story to a happy conclusion, and the audience left the hall feeling well satisfied with the portrayal of these people in their narrow lives.

Between the acts, attractive ushers, clad in sport skirts of white, and sweaters, their heads adorned with orange crepe paper bands, trimmed with black circles over the ears, reminding one of radio headgear, beautified, went among the rows selling candy and nuts.

The ushers were in charge of Mrs. Edgar S. Barker, and included Virginia Hodder, Margaret Fitts, Betty Richardson, Ellen Chase, Virginia and Dorothy Koops, Francesca Barker, and Eleanor Harding.

Mrs. Norman Southworth, Dramatics Chairman, in whose charge this affair was given, is to be congratulated upon its success, and upon the splendid cast which presented the play, as are also the coaches, Mr. and Mrs. Derby Brown.

The Civics Chairman, Mrs. S. W. Tenney, and the Legislative Chairman, Mrs. Walter F. Stevens, had the Monday evening meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club in charge, and it was a very enjoyable evening, at least to your editor, and she hopes it was as pleasant for all others. If so, she can vouch for it as, "one good time." Mrs. Ernest Cobb, President of the Newton Federation and Miss Emma D. Coolidge, Legislative Chairman for the Federation, were guests of honor and speakers, and were treated right royally, part of the courtesy shown them being two lovely bouquets of sweet peas, presented by the President, Mrs. Francis B. Parsons.

Mrs. Tenney opened the reports with one on the Civics Committee for the club year, and Mrs. Stevens also reported for her committee, both records showing splendid work accomplished, and containing entertaining and clever touches that added much to the history.

Miss Osborne reported the meeting of the State delegates at Worcester last Fall—a political matter that all found interesting.

Mrs. Cobb told of her year as Federation President in a most original and ingenious story of the club automobile that toured Newton, naming those aboard, their accomplishments and hardships, including cramping of gears to which was applied the oil of tact and inspired confidence, and the abundant use of gasoline in renewed endeavors. Quaintly enough the number plates of this busy machine gave the figures 1924-1925—the year of Mrs. Cobb's serving.

Miss Coolidge gave "Late News Flashes" of the bills studied and endorsed by the State Federation, first paying tribute to the capability of their own Legislative Chairman, with whose presentation of matters she stated she could not compete. The applause which met this proved in how much honor this Legislative Chairman—Mrs. Stevens—is held by her fellow members. She told of the amusing—although pitiful—remarks of some of the members of the General Court—during recent debates on the Jury Service Bill and the Civil Service Bill, and the audience seemed to enjoy these "stories," judging from the spontaneous laughter.

Miss Marjorie Sumpter, known to the members as she has appeared before them at other times, gave several delightful readings—one a clever satire with a detective foundation, one on the winning of a musical contest by "Brer Rabbit," that was much enjoyed, and one or two shorter "tales" of interest.

A pleasant social hour, with coffee and sandwiches, followed the program.

Those to whom a garden is "a love-spot" found many valuable suggestions in Miss Grace Tabor's "Practical Garden Talk" before the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Tabor believes the aesthetic approach to gardening should precede the horticultural approach; that the first essential of a satisfactory garden is a carefully thought out design—a design, too, in harmony with the architecture of the house.

She gave many excellent reasons for enclosed gardens which, for many years, have been "taboo" in America as savoring of undemocratic exclusiveness. From her point of view the garden is another room of the house in which one should spend his leisure hours during the fair days of the season, and, therefore, rightly demands the privacy of an indoor apartment.

She is most earnest on the topic of individuality in gardening, saying that a garden is as individual as handwriting; that one should forget what his neighbor is doing, and by making his own choice of plants, stamp his garden with his own personality.

From her experiences, Miss Tabor considers wide borders inside the enclosure one of the most satisfactory designs for a simple garden, and for planting recommends what she calls her "Big Six" varieties of Iris which may be chosen, will bloom from April to July; others following in order are larkspur, phlox, lilies, hardy asters and pom-pom chrysanthemums, the last braving the November frosts.

The question period which followed the lecture brought up the subject of garden pests almost exclusively, and in her answers, Miss Tabor showed herself not only a landscape architect, a horticulturist and editor, but a biologist and chemist as well.

Master Morton Ingraham, son of Mrs. Francis A. Ingraham, a club member, delighted his audience with a group of piano selections at the opening of the program, and a delicious tea was served in the dining room from four to five-thirty. Presiding at the tea-table were the officers of the club: Mrs. Austin H. Decatur, president; Mrs. Robert E. Bruce, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles A. Richardson, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William Vosburgh, treasurer.

Another delightful "garden" program was immensely enjoyed on Wednesday morning, when members and guests of the Social Science Club heard and watched with keen interest an illustrated lecture by Professor Frank A. Waugh of Massachusetts Agricultural College on the fascinating subject "What Makes a Garden." Professor Waugh spoke of trees, lawns, shrubs and vines as well as flowers, and emphasized the fact that taste and careful planning are more important than money in securing a real garden. Like Miss Tabor he said that the garden should be part of the home—an outdoor living-room, and in that respect we in America have much to learn from our English friends in appreciating the value of privacy. His pictures were delightful, and ranged from views of gardens belonging to great estates to a blossoming apple-tree with a rustic bench beneath it.

Coming Events

Literature and luncheons seem to absorb the programs for the coming week, also ideals for adding learning, to make the sentence alliterative. Leisure, too, might even be added, for one activity—namely a bridge party—has always been termed a failing (?) of leisure.

UNDERTAKERS

SWITCHBOARDS WILL BE OPERATED IN VIEW OF THE PUBLIC

Many Newton people are looking forward to "Community Night" which will be held in the Technical High School at 8 p. m., Monday, April 13. The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company will give a demonstration of telephone switchboard work. So much of the public as can be accommodated in High School Hall will have an opportunity to go behind the scenes with telephone workers and to see for themselves the whys and wherefores of telephone operating.

Actual switchboards will be set up—not dummies, but live switchboards duplicating all the intricate electrical features of a regular central office switchboard. They are complete with storage batteries and ringing generators, signal-lamps, cords and plugs, keys, multiple jacks and the trunks or toll lines necessary to complete connections in the same office or between different offices.

These switchboards will be operated and explained not by professional entertainers, but by real telephone operators—young women who leave their regular switchboard service to demonstrate their daily work to interested audiences.

The program opens with a short introductory talk; motion pictures will be shown; and an explanation of machine switching as it affects the telephone user will be made. But the greater portion of the evening will be given over to real telephone operating. These young women operators will demonstrate various kinds of telephone calls, the progress of which can be watched with completeness that not even a visit to a large central office can match. There the work of only one operator can be observed as she performs her single part. With the demonstration board every move from the time the calling subscriber lifts his receiver from the hook until the call is answered at the distant telephone, is before the eye. To most people the number of operations necessary to complete a single call is likely to be surprising.

Incidentally, telephone users will be shown what brings about some of their telephone annoyances—busy lines, slow answers, cut-offs, etc., and many good natured hints aimed at securing the subscribers' help in bettering telephone service feature several sketches in which telephone men and women take part.

The entertainment will be given without charge for admission. An instructive and amusing evening, as well as a cordial welcome, is assured those who attend.

JUTHE—TUCKER

Last Friday, Mr. Stanley Norman Juthe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kristian A. Juthe of Newton Centre, was married to Miss Edna Louise Tucker of Watertown.

The wedding took place in the Phillips Congregational Church, Watertown, and was performed by the Rev. Edward C. Camp.

The bride's attendants were Miss Irah Tucker, her sister, who was the maid of honor; Miss Elizabeth Wellman of Melrose Highlands, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Marion Juthe, a sister of the bridegroom, who were the bridesmaids. Harry Howe of Newton Centre was the best man and the ushers were Homer Hunt of Watertown and Sidney Holman of Newton Centre. John F. Hartwell of Watertown, organist, played the wedding music.

After the church ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at 86 Riverside street.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED

The friends of St. Agnes School met Sunday afternoon, April 5, at the School Hall and made the final arrangements for the largest affair to be held Thursday evening, April 16th, in the nature of a Grand Whist and Dancing party in the School Hall. Among the prizes donated for the whist were a barrel of flour, a crate of oranges, three Armour Star hams, and many other articles. Mr. J. N. McDonald of Auburndale, the chairman of the Committee, spoke at length about the extensive work of the Sisters and the plan of the Sisters of St. Joseph in making additions to their property at St. Agnes School.

Serving on the Committee are Miss Amy Ward, Mrs. J. N. McDonald, Mrs. J. Toomey, Mrs. O'Donnell, Mrs. E. McCauley, Miss Anna McDonald of Lynn, Miss Birdie McDonald, Mrs. E. Gallagher, Misses Irene Sullivan, Grace Sullivan, Helen Leonard, Marguerite Hodges, Mrs. J. J. McNamara, Mrs. Robert G. Calhoun, Mrs. Edmund Morey, Mrs. Thomas C. O'Brien, Mrs. T. E. Sheehan, Mrs. Francis J. Ring, Mrs. John W. Dolan, Mrs. James Flaherty, Mrs. Margaret C. Killian, Mary M. Rourke, Mary D. Cox, and Ester F. Kiley.

DEATH OF MRS. SMYTH

Mrs. Lavinia E. Smyth died at her home at 56 Bowers street, Newtonville, on April 3, aged 85 years, 5 months.

Mrs. Smyth was the widow of the late Winfield Scott Smyth, known in his day as one of America's leading book publishers. Born October 5, 1839 at Newport, Pennsylvania, where her ancestors settled before the Revolution, she was the third daughter of Abram Line and Frances Stewart Epsey. Mrs. Smyth was greatly loved. Her gentle, charitable outlook on life gave her affectionate friends in many parts of the world, for she had travelled widely during her long life.

She leaves behind a son, Winfield Scott Smyth of Newtonville, and four grandchildren, Mrs. Winifred T. Enright of New York, Mrs. Beatrice S. Carper of Boston, and Miss Lavinia G. Smyth and John Scott Smyth of Newtonville.

DEATH OF MR. PRICE

Mr. William Price, dean of the wool residence on Page road, Newtonville, buying business in Boston, died at his home last Saturday in his 74th year.

Mr. Price was born in New York, and has lived in Newton forty-seven years. He was a member of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, and was an alderman in the city of Newton for three years.

His widow, Emma Whitefield Price, survives him. There are no children.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at his late residence, Rev. Arthur M. Ellis, minister of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville, officiated. The Boston Wool Trade Association, of which he was the only honorary life member, sent a special committee, composed of Walter P. Wright, vice-president; F. Nathaniel Perkins, treasurer, and Vaughan Jealous. Burial was at Newton Cemetery.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

The Newton High ball team will tackle the Alumni on Clafin Field Saturday, April 11th, in the season's opener.

The Alumni will have in their lineup the following stars of other days: George Owen, Harvard; Stanley Lyon, Dartmouth; Bud Seavey, Dartmouth; Mat Peppard, Newton; Jack Drennan, Newton; Polly Harris, Cornell; Joe Leetes, Amherst; Elmer Murphy, Newton; Howard Whitmore, Newton; Neil Mahoney, Newton; Bud M'Nullen, Newton; Bud Eaton, Conn. Agricultural; Seth Wood, Newton; Mecca Adams, Newton; Bill Cronin, Newton.

George Owen—Harvard's great initial sacker and Mat Peppard played twilight ball for Concord.

DEATH OF DR. LESH

Dr. John H. Lesh of 955 Beacon street, Newton Centre, died suddenly on Tuesday. His boyhood was spent in Durham Township, Pennsylvania. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, Medical School, in 1888, and practiced medicine for fourteen years in Tannersville, Pa. In 1880 he became a member of the firm of Kistler, Lesh & Co., tanners, becoming associated with the estate of Charles E. Kistler and Wilton Kistler. He retired in 1902.

Since 1887 he has lived in Newton Centre. He was a member of the First Church in Newton, of a Masonic lodge and chapter in Pennsylvania, of Gethsemane Cammandery, Knights Templar of Newtonville and Aleppo Temple, Mystic Shrine.

He is survived by his widow Mary Lesh, and four children, Mrs. Harriet M. Camp of Newton Centre, H. Frederick Lesh of Newton Centre, Mrs. Maud K. Jacobs of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Olga Lesh of Newton Centre.

Services were held on Thursday at his late residence, Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre officiated.

ENTERTAINMENT

The parents of students of the Newton High School are cordially invited to a brief entertainment given by Alpha Gamma Tau on Parent's Day, Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 in the Assembly Hall of the Technical Building. An original play will be presented by boys and girls of the Mathematics Department.

By repeated request, the Easter pageant, "Thy Kingdom Come," by Florence Converse, will be given again this year at Elliot Church on Easter Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The theme of the pageant is the coming of the Kingdom in the hearts of three Roman soldiers guarding the tomb through the influence of four Galilean children who have known and loved the Master.

Those taking part in the pageant are: John M. Woodbridge, Jr., John Gleason, Creighton Gatchell, Francis Gleason, Katharine Sprague, Stearns Cummings, Mildred Perry, Doris Mason, Emma Montanari, Alice Williamson, Margaret Fitts, Doris Barton, Helen Spurrier and Betty Lloyd. The production is under the direction of Miss Bessie Stratton.

NEWTON YOUNG MAN IN OPERA

Charles Pearson, son of Dr. C. L. Pearson of 106 Washington street, Newton, will appear in a performance of Humperdinck's fairy opera, "Hansel and Gretel," to be given by present and past students of the New England Conservatory of Music, on Saturday afternoon, April 25th. Mr. Pearson is a senior student at the Conservatory; it is said he is especially talented for operatic work. At the matinee performance of "Hansel and Gretel" he will have the part of Peter, a broom-maker, the father of the two children, Hansel and Gretel, known in fairy books as "The Babes in the Woods."

Land Court.

To John T. Burns, Stanwood G. Bradlee and Mary B. Neill, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by John B. Harris, of said Newton, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton, bounded and described as follows:

Southeasterly by Reservoir Avenue, 60 feet; Southwesterly by land now or formerly of Stanwood G. Bradlee, 127 feet; Northwesterly by land now or formerly of John T. Burns, 60 feet; and Northeasterly by land now or formerly of Mary B. Neill, 127 feet.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty seventh day of April A. D. 1925, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of March in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-five.

"THE IMMIGRANT"

The play "The Immigrant" by Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, which is coming to the Wilbur Theatre next Monday (Easter Monday) for two weeks has an exceptionally strong and able cast.

Arthur Ashley, as the lead, has starred in a number of New York successes and is a well-known movie favorite. He will be remembered in Boston as playing the lead in "Little Old New York," "One of Us," and "The Man Who Came Back," which played six months at the Plymouth Theatre.

Mr. Clarence Handyside, who plays the part of the Commissioner of Immigration, is well known in many Frohman and Belasco productions. Recently he was with Hodge and "The Fool."

Viola Fortescue, playing the part of the Commissioner's sister, is the daughter of George H. Fortescue, the well known comedian of Edward E. Rice's "Evangeline" and "San Toy" fame. She will be remembered here as playing in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

Marguerite Forrest has the distinction of playing the leading role in support of Otis Skinner in "Sancho Panza," one of the most coveted engagements of the Metropolitan stage.

She is an American girl who was brought up in Paris. Her youth and her vivacity fit her admirably for the picturesque Armenian girl in "The Immigrant."

Allen H. Moore, who plays the "Cub" reporter in "The Immigrant" was seen here in Boston in Cohan's play, "So This is London." He also played in New York in "Lazy Bones."

Other important roles are played by Mr. Albert Andrus, Mr. Frank Frayne, Miss Donna Par de Loup, and Mr. Howard Freeman.

"The Immigrant" is written in three acts and seven scenes. It is very colorful in its scenes and full of comedy. The first scene is in the Special Inquiry Room at Ellis Island, New York Harbor. Second scene, an attic loft in the Bowery. Third scene, the Lawrence home. Then we are taken forward five years and the first scene in the second act is in a corner and brass art shop on Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Then we are transported back to a home in Armenia, and so the play progresses bringing in all sorts of beauty and colorful and romantic situations.

TO SING OVER RADIO

Mr. Albert D. Edwards, formerly of Newton, will sing at station W. B. Z. Springfield, Saturday evening, April 11th.

Mr. Edwards started his musical career in Grace Episcopal Church choir at the age of ten, beginning as a boy soprano under the splendid training given by Mr. Charles N. Sladen. After ten years in this choir, Mr. Edwards entered the army and served sixteen months, including eleven months in France.

Upon his return he went to New York City where he sang for two years at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The past four years he has been singing in Springfield with the quartette in the South Congregational Church, of which Rev. James Gordon Gilkey is pastor. The services of this church are broadcasted from W. B. Z. every other Sunday at 11:00 A. M.

Mr. Edwards has sung a number of times from W. B. Z., and has received hundreds of applause letters from all over the United States, Canada, England and Scotland. He has selected for Saturday evening an excellent program of spirituals and negro folk songs.

MEN'S CLUB OF WEST NEWTON
The sixth meeting of the Men's Club of West Newton will be held Thursday evening, April 16, in the parish house of the Second Church. "Ladies Night" will be observed and an excellent program has been arranged. Prince Irakly Tumanoff of Petrograd will be introduced and accompanied by Charles W. Norby in a number of selections on the violin.

Professor Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard observatory, will be the speaker and will take for his subject "Beyond the Galaxy." Dr. Shapley will be remembered for the interesting talk he gave last year, and the Club has been fortunate in obtaining him again. His talk will be illustrated and in addition to some of the matter discussed last year, will embrace revelations of important recent astronomical discoveries, including those made at the time of the solar eclipse last January.

A PORTRAIT OF DR. PELOUBET
The daughters of the late Dr. Francis N. Peloubet have presented to the Auburndale Congregational Church a most excellent portrait of their honored and greatly beloved father, Dr. Peloubet, whose interest in the Kingdom of God was as broad as humanity, and whose name is a household word throughout the Christian world, never failed to show a very deep interest also in the Church and its Sunday School. The portrait is gratefully placed in the chapel, and will be for years to come a beautiful reminder of one who greatly loved this church; for the chapel, with its conveniently arranged classrooms, is in large measure the result of his thought and planning. The portrait is hung near the cabinet containing the interesting and valuable articles from the Holy Land, collected by Dr. Peloubet and presented to the Church School by Mrs. Peloubet in his memory.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

The sale has been closed of another valuable tract of land in Newton, whereby Fred Holland Chamberlain becomes the owner. It is the well known Edward C. Beck estate, having a large frontage on Honour St. and Tanglewood road, being near the corner of Walnut street. Included are about 6 acres, valued at $50,000. It is the intention of Mr. Chamberlain to start immediately several important improvements, such as the building of new streets, etc., and develop the tract into a high-class single and 2-family residential section.

BOY SCOUTS PLANT TREES

The Boy Scouts of Norumbega Council, which covers the city of Newton, are engaged in re-forestation on the tract of land purchased for camping purposes in Dover, Mass., recently. Scouts from all sections of the city have spent considerable time in clearing space for the small trees, and a portion of these having been received the planting has begun. The land purchased is in the "Strawberry Hill" section of Dover, and is an irregular plot of about thirty-two acres covered mostly with second growth birches and red oak of about fifteen years' growth, as the section was burned over in 1911 with the exception of a pine grove on the east side which escaped the fire.

The Council Forester is Mr. George Crosbie of Newton Centre, who is an assistant scoutmaster in troop No. 5. Mr. Crosbie has had the cooperation of the Harvard School of Forestry, and with a representative of the State Forestry Department made a survey of the property last fall and is actively engaged, all of his spare time, in supervising the work of the boys. The State has furnished about 3000 pine and 1000 spruce seedlings, and it is expected that the planting will be completed by the coming Saturday. Parents and friends who wish to help should inquire for Wilsontale Farm, which is near the entrance on Wilsontale street, and they will be directed to the "Ohio" as the camp is known. Bring your own axe and shovel!

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending April 4.—Patients in hospital 129. Patients paying as much as cost of care or more 64. Patients paying less than cost of care 29. Patients (including babies) 26. Patients treated by out patient department 131. Patients treated by eye clinic 6. Accident cases 11. Babies born 10. Social service calls at hospital 7. At homes 14. Patients transferred by social service car 12.

During the month of March the hospital admitted 279 patients and discharged 310, the largest number in its care for any twenty-four hours being 153, the smallest number, 121, and the average number 138. There were 162 X-ray cases and 31 accident cases. There were 44 eye clinic cases. Of the 42 babies born at the hospital during the month 17 were girls and 25 were boys, there was one set of twins. Fifty social service calls were made at the hospital and 51 at homes. 62 patients were transported by the social service car and 6 by volunteer car.

At the Alumnae meeting at the Nurses' Home on the afternoon of April 7 Mr. John C. Brimblecom, the editor and publisher of The Graphic, gave a most interesting talk on the "Beauties of America."

Miss Wisner and Miss Elder of West Newton and Mrs. Brown of Newton Highlands were volunteers in the making of surgical supplies during the week ending April 4.

Through the generosity of one of the trustees five of the nurses enjoyed the concert by the Symphony orchestra last Sunday evening.

Recent guests at the hospital have been Miss Isabelle Chipman of Cambridge and Miss Christen Wiecke, hostess at Palmyra at Rowley.

DEATH OF MR. MCBRIDE

George H. McBride, Y-D veteran, a well-known semi-professional ball player and one of the most popular young men of West Newton, died Saturday at the Chelsea Naval Hospital after several months' illness. He served overseas with Battery B, the battery organized by Sinclair Weeks, in which most of the West Newton young men who saw service enlisted. He was a member of Newton Post, A. L., and for several years was a star player on the Legion baseball team. He was also a member of the Newton Chapter of the K. of C.

He is survived by several brothers and sisters.

He was buried Tuesday morning with full military honors. There was a requiem mass at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, at 9 o'clock.

Rev. William J. Dwyer was the celebrant. Rev. William J. Farrell, chaplain of Co. B, 101st Infantry, with which George McBride served overseas, was seated within the sanctuary and he said the prayers at the grave, assisted by Rev. William T. A. O'Brien. The bearers were Frank Gaw, Joseph Cunningham, Amos Oldfield, William Talan, Benjamin Heathcote, Rosario Guzzi, all former members of Co. B, 101st Infantry. The firing squad was from Co. C, 101st Infantry, M. N. G. Burial was in Walnut.

NARROW ESCAPE

Walter Lewis, of Brookline, had a narrow escape from almost certain death Sunday afternoon in the old stone quarry on Lowell avenue, Newtonville. The boy, who is only ten years old, was visiting friends on Sylvan avenue, West Newton, and had gone out to play with other children in the neighborhood. While playing near the top of what is known as Loomis Cave the lad went too near the edge and slipped over the side. There is not a sheer drop at this point and the slope of the bank kept the boy in an upright position so that he dropped feet first. Miraculously after sliding about thirty feet young Lewis landed upon a narrow ledge which projects out from the steep cliff. Here, forty feet above ground, he stood pressed against the wall of the cliff with just barely enough space to stand on. In this precarious position he was forced to remain until police officers rescued him almost two hours later.

When the boy slipped over the edge of the cliff children ran to the Southard home, where Lewis had been visiting, on Sylvan avenue, an old Mrs. Southard what had happened. She immediately telephoned to police headquarters where Captain Mullen dispatched Inspector Richard Conroy, and patrolmen Bart Cullen, Frank Feeley, and Howard Carley to the scene in the police ambulance. An extension ladder was obtained from a house under construction near by, but this proved to be too short to reach the boy. An attempt was made to reach the lad by means of ropes from above but the footing was so treacherous that this was abandoned and the officers went back to the ladder. After maneuvering around for some time Carley, Feeley, and Cullen managed to get the ladder onto a shelf about fifteen feet from the ground. Officer Feeley ascended the ladder while Carley and Cullen held it from slipping and the youngster was taken down from his precarious position. The ladder was lowered to the ground and the officers with the boy descended.

The Lewis boy was not injured by his fall and was apparently none the worse off for his thrilling experience. The top of the ledge and Lowell avenue was soon crowded with people and words of cheer and encouragement were given the Lewis boy while in his precarious position.

DEATH OF MRS. JENNISON

Mrs. Louisa A. Jennison, widow of Francis E. Jennison, died at her home in Wellesley on Sunday, April 5th, after an illness of several months. Most of her life of over 85 years she had spent in Newton and was one of the oldest members of Eliot Church.

She is survived by five children, ten grandchildren and nine great grandchildren. The funeral service was held at the chapel in the Newton Cemetery, the Rev. Henry A. Arnold officiating.

WHEN HEAT FOLKS SLUMBER ON THE GRATE YOU CAN GET UP EARLY GO TO BED LATE

YES, AND KEEP WARM AS TOAST THE CLOCK AROUND

"EARLY to bed and early to rise" is an out-of-date maxim. It doesn't take a very great stretch of the imagination to believe that it originated when bed was the only place where a body could keep comfortable after sundown. But now-a-days, everybody depends on the Heat Folks to keep the house comfortable 24 hours a day. You don't mind setting up early in a warm house. And you thoroughly enjoy staying up when you know the heat isn't going down and leave you in chills. Lay in a few tons of three-shift comfort!

Shingles 100% Right for Re-roofing

When your roof starts to leak, take our advice—and we speak from years of experience—put down a new roof. But get a roof that will last—a roof of Barrett Giant Shingles.

These thick, tough shingles are extra large (12 x 14 inches). They're specially adapted for re-roofing—can be laid right over the old roof. This gives extra insulation against heat and cold and saves expense.

Barrett ROOFINGS

A roof of Barrett Giants is weather-tight and fire-safe. Moreover these modern shingles will not rot or rust—never need painting or staining.

Come in. We'll gladly figure on the quantity of Giants needed for your roof. There's a Barrett Roofing for any type of building—at a reasonable price.

431 Centre St., Newton
Newton North 0272The regular meeting of Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., was held at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Webster, 11 Washington street, Newton, on Wednesday afternoon.Miss Helen Wells, chairman of the entertainment committee for the day, introduced as speaker, Mr. Eben J.
Hippiss, curator of European and American Arts, in the Museum of Fine Arts of Boston. He gave examples of American art as expressed in architecture, furniture, silver, china and portrait painting from the 17th century through the 18th, showing the artistic development during that time.He showed pictures of interiors and exteriors of many beautiful, historic houses. The Powers House of Philadelphia has been set up entire in the American wing of the Metropolitan Museum. Our Boston Art Museum has purchased 3 famous interiors, in one of which the original furniture is to be used. The old oak and pine woodwork, colored and mellowed by age, is the despair of the modern architect who attempts to reproduce it artificially.His talk was most entertaining and instructive and together with the fine pictures thrown upon the screen, made us believe that at last we really understood the difference between Hippiswairde, Chippendale, Windsor and Sheraton chairs.There was one great benefit to be derived from the primitive necessities of these times. Almost everyone learned to use tools. Our early craftsmen had a good sense of craftsmanship and of materials and used many old classical motifs in their designs.In Boston alone, there were, in the middle of the 18th century, 150 master silversmiths.The earliest American tableware was made of wood or of pewter brought from Holland and England.
Mr. Hippiss went on to describe Worcester and Stiegel glass made in England and Ireland, and the lovely Wedgwood or Queen's ware, and the famous Looftoft china. His talk ended with examples of portraits by the famous painters Copley and Gilbert Stuart.Preceding the lecture, Miss Helen Ratcliffe gave a number of vocal selections accompanied by Mrs. George Owen which were much enjoyed by all.The hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. Frank W. Webster, Miss Helen
L. Wells, Miss Maria Wheeler, Mrs.
Samuel B. Whittemore, Mrs. Sampson

ANNUAL GYMNASIc MEET

The annual gymnastic demonstration held last night at the Y. M. C. A. proved very successful. Over a hundred young men and boys participated in the various features. The marching, drills, and novelty races by the junior classes were very interesting.

Frederic D. Fuller, President of the Newton Y. M. C. A., presented medals, emblems, pins and other awards to these boys showing special athletic prowess during the past season. William Coney, Gerald Cole, and Fred Westgate were presented with gold medals for having scored over 600 points in the Hexathlon meet, where a score of 600 was considered perfect. Silver medals were awarded to six boys scoring between five and six hundred points and bronze medals to twelve boys scoring between four and five hundred.

A silver loving cup was presented to the championship team of the Prep class. The members of the championship team in the junior class were given emblems. Emblems were also awarded to the relay team of the swimming team for winning the two state relay swimming championships and to leaders of the junior class.

A first class exhibition of work on the parallel bars and flying rings was given by a team of young men from the Boston Y. M. C. U. The junior class and the high school boys' class also gave interesting exhibitions on the high horse and elephant. A novel game of basketball, each player being equipped with roller skates, furnished considerable amusement and excitement for the audience.

A sextet of clowns also furnished plenty of fun throughout the evening. The program was brought to a close with a ten-minute wrestling match between Carlson and Maguire, the former being given the decision although no fall was scored.

DEATH OF CAPT. SAMPSON

Capt. Albert DeWight Sampson, the oldest member of the B. P. O. Elks, one of the oldest members of the Masonic fraternity, a former sea captain, and for many years a prominent railroad man, died Wednesday morning at his home, 13 St. James street.

Capt. Sampson was in his 95th year and up to last Saturday was well and active. He was a constant attendant at the meetings of local Lodge of Elks, in which he was recently given honorary life membership, and only two weeks ago went with the lodge on a fraternal visit to Lawrence Lodge. During the Elks convention in Boston last July he was feted as the "Oldest Elk," and rode in the parade in a place of honor. Death resulted from pneumonia.

Capt. Sampson was born in Braintree in August, 1830, and at the age of 15 sailed around Cape Horn as a cabin boy, beginning a career of many years on the sea. After reaching California he started for the gold mines in Placer County at the foot of the Sierra Nevadas. There he remained about a year and returned to the sea where for many years he sailed between San Francisco and Portland, Or., rising to the rank of master of a brigantine.

Twice he crossed the Pacific to Shanghai on his ship, and finally returned from the Western Coast by way of the Isthmus of Panama to his native East. From that time he devoted himself to transportation with the Clyde Line, sailing between Boston and Philadelphia.

During the Civil War the vessel he commanded was chartered by the Government and plied for a year between New York and New Orleans, bringing supplies from the North and conveying wounded soldiers and prisoners.

In 1876 he became affiliated with the Rowley, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who will speak for five minutes. The "Bell of Atri" and an "Our Gang" Comedy will complete the program.

The Society, organized to help every good cause, is composed of the following Newton girls: Dorothy Barba, Kathryn Bridge, Marjorie Briggs, Beatrice Colby, Thelma Colton, Lucile Deffen, Mildred Ferry, Faith Foster, Betty Gray, Miriam and Phyllis Hayes, Betty Holmes, Nancy Howard, Alice Leeds, Calista MacFarlane, Agatha Marshall, Louise Maguire, Kay Nichols, Virginia Pratt, Elizabeth Scofield, Madeleine Spafford, Kay Sprague, Virginia Spurrier, Libby Swett, and Frances Thompson.

The Members will act as ushers.

Central Georgia Railroad as New England agent, and for 41 years was in the service of that agency, retiring a short time ago on a pension.

He was a charter member of the Hunnewell Club of Newton, and a member of the Newton Club, the Traffic Club, Appalachian Club and the Laymen's League. He was a Shriner and active participant in all Masonic activities.

Surviving him are his wife, who was Miss Flora Drew of Duxbury, and two daughters, Miss Florence W. Sampson of Hartford, Conn., and Mrs. Parker B. Field of Cambridge.

Services will be held at Channing Church tomorrow at two o'clock.

AUBURNDALE LIBRARY

Residents of Auburndale Hold Mass Meeting on Question of New Library For That Village

On Wednesday evening the Community Mass Meeting gathered for the purpose of stimulating interest in a new library for Auburndale, filled to overflowing the Auburndale Club House with an interested, enthusiastic crowd.

The meeting opened with a group of songs by a chorus of eighth grade pupils, the last two being two local and enthusiastic versions of "Hail, Hail the Gang's all Here," and "Our Library," in which the audience with hearty good will joined to a man.

The Art and Education Committees of the Auburndale Woman's Club had offered purses of three, two, and one dollar for the best posters and essays offered by pupils of the eighth grades. The following were the winners: in the poster contest, Elizabeth Hendrick, Helen Bowby, James K. Ufford and Edward Smith; in the essay contest, John Gordon, Mary Reed, and Myrtle La Mont. The posters were exhibited by the artists, and the papers read by their composers, and they were remarkably good.

Upon the receipt of his first prize award, Master John Gordon immediately returned the three dollars to Mrs. Longfellow as his contribution to the Library Fund.

Mrs. Van Patten Steiger gave a history of the Library movement, indicating the impulse that had been given by the fine enthusiasm of the late Frederick J. Ranlett, and carrying the story to the present high point with the first pledge of four hundred dollars from the Review Club, four hundred from the Auburndale Woman's Club, and two hundred dollars from one who had been closely associated with Mr. Ranlett, and two five hundred and one two hundred dollar dollar pledges which have been made by three public-spirited families of Auburndale.

Mayor Childs assured the meeting that the movement would have his enthusiastic cooperation, and insisted that, with due effort, the undertaking would undoubtedly be successful. He struck the keynote of his theme when he said that we are only stewards of what prosperity has given us, and asked for generous support for the new library.

Alderman Heathcote told of the wonderful success of the Lower Falls people in establishing their library, what a great success it had proven to be, and gave the Auburndale people assurance of his hearty support.

Mr. Ernest Braithwaite, Chairman of the committees on sales and buildings, told of the various sites that had been considered and stated that in the opinion of the committee the site most favorably considered was the Plummer property, now occupied in part by Barson's market, and the adjoining city property formerly occupied by the Fire Station.

Mr. H. I. Dougherty, formerly librarian of the Newton Free Library, gave a most interesting talk, illustrating it with slides which depicted vari-

BOY SCOUTS

Troop 11 of the Elliot Congregational Church, Newton, will present two one-act plays Monday evening, April 20th, and the same plays Tuesday evening, April 21st, in the Chapel at eight o'clock. Scouts are canvassing their neighborhoods with tickets, and if anyone is missed it will not be the scouts' fault. The plays are being presented under the direction of F. Marshall Fellows, Assistant Scout master of the troop.

At the Court of Honor Tuesday evening at Newton Centre the following scouts were advanced to First Class: F. Hayden and Hoyt Hallas. Scouts were advanced from Tenderfoot to Second Class as follows: McMullen and Warren, Troop 4, Curtis Troop 11, Doten, Purdy and Marlin Troop 5. Merit Badges in Forestry, Carpentry, Conservation and Swimming were awarded to Jas. Hymers of Troop 5. Merit Badges in Electricity, Conservation, Carpentry and Forestry to Alden Speare of Troop 5, Newton Centre; in Carpentry and Handicraft to Edward Schirmer of Troop 4, Newton Highlands. In Athletics, Public Health and Safety First and the Life Scout Badge to Chas. Green of Troop 4. Franklin Cobleigh of Troop 4, Newton Highlands, received the Merit Badges in Chemistry, Electricity and Safety First, which now make him eligible for the Eagle Scout Rank, the Highest Rank in Scouting. The Eagle Scout Badge will be presented at a public meeting at Newton Highlands in May.

J. M. CARLEY, Scout Executive.

DICKS-ELKINS

Last Saturday was the wedding day of Miss Minnie Gertrude Elkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Elkins of Newton Highlands, and Westley Delmont Dicks of Waltham.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Amos A. Rideout of the Baptist Church, Waltham. The bride couple stood under an archway of roses and other blossoms.

Mrs. Gertrude Braun, an aunt of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mr. Harold Dicks, brother of the groom, was the best man.

The flower girls were Miss Anita Elkins and Miss Pauline Dicks, and the ring bearer was Miss Avis Teel.

The gown of the bride was of white chiffon trimmed with lace, with a veil of chiffon caught with orange blossoms. She carried roses and sweet peas.

The matron of honor wore a gown of ashes of roses with a bouquet and hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Dicks, both of whom are graduates of the Newton High School, are to live in Waltham.

RIVERSIDE CANOE ASSOCIATION

The first annual outing and opening of the Riverside Canoe Association, an organization of about 100 members which came into existence last November, will be held the 20th of this month at Riverside. Many Newtonians, including a goodly number from the Highlands and Centre, belong to this association.

Harry Dawe of Allston is commodore of the organization; LeRoy Clark of Dorchester is secretary, while George Jones of Watertown is treasurer.

After the outing, which will take place on the Charles River, and which will include various water sports for which silver loving cups will be awarded, a dinner and dance will follow, the dance to be held in the rooms of the Newton Boat Club.

A fire at headquarters last Friday morning did slight damage to the floor in the captain's office. It is believed that the fire started from an over-heated steampipe beneath the floor. A still alarm brought apparatus from the West Newton station and the firemen were compelled to rip out considerable flooring in order to get at the blaze.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Association as called for by vote of the Executive Committee, will be held at the Women's Club House, Newton Centre, on April 22, 1925, at eight o'clock P. M.

ST JAMES THEATRE—"Hell-Bent For Heaven." Pulitzer Prize play by Hatcher Hughes will be presented next week by the Boston Stock Company at the St. James Theatre. The play was produced earlier in the season at a downtown house, and Mr. Giles has now secured it for presentation at popular prices.

Houston Richards is cast as the religious fanatic, one of the most difficult he has ever played but one in which he is sure to give an excellent account of himself. Bernard Nedell, versatile leading man of the company, has the role of returning war hero. Elsie Hitz portrays the simple, rural girl of the mountain district. John Collier as her brother has an excellent role, that of a rough and ready mountaineer. Other important parts are assigned to Louis Leon Hall, Anna Layng and Roy Elkins.

LEND-A-HAND CLUB

The Lend-a-Hand Dramatic Club will present "Heldi," a dramatization of the story of the same name by Johanna Spyri. The adaptation which will be given on May 2 and May 9, the first performance in Players' Hall, West Newton, and the second in Jordan Hall, was made by Miss Ethel Hale Freeman, a life member of the club, especially for the occasion. Both performances will be matinees.

Among those to appear in the cast will be Emily Dreyfuss, Marion L. Clapp, Evelyn Cunningham, Dorothy Fairbrother, Gladys C. Fuller, Doris Lovell, Edith May, Grace McCarthy, Mary Sheehan, Isabel Skipwith, Geoffrey Baker, L. D. G. Bentley, W. V. M. Fawcett, T. Edson Jewell, Jr., and several others. The club this year departs from its custom of excluding men from taking part in its productions for the first time in its history.

POPULAR MOVIE

One of the most delightful society events of the season is to be the beautiful film production of "Janice Meredith" given on Wednesday evening, April 29, at the Newton Opera House in aid of the Stearns School Centre. There will be vaudeville by talent from the Hasty Pudding Club. Some of our Newton young ladies will usher in costume and also take part in the vaudeville.

Bon-bons will be sold during the intermission. Owing to the very attractive program and the limited capacity of the Opera House, it is advisable to make application for tickets as early as possible. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. S. W. Bridges, chairman, 38 Fairmont avenue, or from any director, also from Hubbard's Drug Store.

SCHOOL NOTES

High Schools

The baseball season at Newton High opened last Saturday, when the school team crossed bats with a team composed of alumni. The alumni lineup included George Owen of Harvard, Stan Lyon and Bud Seavey of Dartmouth, Polly Harris of Cornell, Joe Letts of Amherst, Bub Eaton of Conn. Aggie, Mat. Peppard, Jack Drennan, Elm Murphy, Neil Mahoney, Seth Wood, Mecca Adams, Bill Cronin, Howard Whitmore.

Lyon and Seavey formed the Dartmouth battery last year while Howard Whitmore and Mahoney performed similar duty for Newton High. Capt. Guy Holbrook presented as veterans on the High School team—Holmes Whitmore, Alan Shaw, Dan Moran, Cal Leary, Julie Pass, Bob Schleppacker, Tom Gilligan, and Buster McCullough. The school team won 4-3 in a close game.

The new players who have made the team are Dick White, Spain, Hi Johnson, Soup Leary and Andres. The parents of students of the Newton High School enjoyed a brief entertainment given by Alpha Gamma Tau on Parents' Day, Tuesday afternoon in the Assembly Hall of the Technical Building. An original play was presented by boys and girls of the Mathematics Department, Marion Tapper, William Cummings, and Prescott Hills had the leading roles.

As its initial program on Thursday afternoon and this evening, the Drama Club will present three one-act plays, "The Silent Witness," with Director Bacon and Miss Helen A. Savage; "The Ghost Story," with Alice Howley and Richard Miller in the principal roles; and "The Maker of Dreams," with Mary Sheehan, Angelo Altieri, and Robert Grant.

F. A. Day Junior High School

On Tuesday afternoon the girls held their Gym Meet in the Assembly Hall with a large audience of parents and friends present. Mrs. Kuntz, Miss Flanders and Miss Lundbohm acted as judges. The ninth grade led the classes to the hall, where each class performed its floorwork. Then followed apparatus work, games and dances. The stunts were very entertaining.

At the close of the meet, Miss Larcom was presented roses by the ninth grade. Mr. Carr announced the N's won by Margaret Schultz, captain of the basketball team; Elizabeth Clarke, Gladys Brown, Gladys Jerauld, Chelise Cook, Emily Dunleavy, Louise Horrigan. The following girls received honorable mention: Marion Leith, Gwendolyn Fredericksen, Mary Lou Watts, Marion Whitaker, manager.

After keeping us all in tantalizing suspense, Mr. Carr announced the winning class for the meet—the seventh grade with 27 points and the ninth grade second with 20 points. Mary Pfeiffer, Winnifred Maxcey, Esther McMahon and Emma Champagne assisted in the success of the program.

Mr. Barber was in charge of the Assembly program. Wednesday, Edward Burnell as chairman announced the program: Piano solo .. Henrietta Kraber Violin solo .. Richard Wales Moving picture film, "The World of Paper."

The film proved to be a highly instructive one, well-appreciated.

Stearns School

Twelve girls from the sixth grades accompanied by Mr. Young visited the Vocational High School Monday forenoon. The group was put in charge of Miss Kendrick, who guided the girls through the various departments and gave an excellent introductory lesson on vocational training for girls. The girls showed appreciation for the interest of Miss Kendrick, and many expressed a desire to attend the Vocational High School next year.

It is indeed gratifying to note the great improvement in the quality of work being done in the sixth grade sewing classes. Miss Ellis reports 100 per cent betterment in most instances and in some cases even more.

The weight chart shows that Mrs. Kidd's opportunity class remains 100 per cent white. Miss Church, grade I, is second with 85 per cent, and Miss Trask, grade I, third with 79 per cent. The average for the district is 75 per cent white.

The boys from Miss Winter's room and Mr. Young's room finished a series of three basketball games Tuesday afternoon. Two out of three were won by Mr. Young's room. The boys who played Tuesday showed a lively interest and good sportsmanship. The score was 10 to 4 in favor of Mr. Young's room.

The Lincoln Club will play the Horace Mann playground team at baseball Thursday P. M., at 2:45 o'clock, on the Horace Mann field. The results from the Dearborn and Stanford test have been ascertained and returns have been made. It is pleasing to note that our average educational age is much higher than the average mental age.

During the week we have been visited by teachers from many of the surrounding towns. Many of the pupils are taking part in the program which is to be given before the parents Friday evening, under the auspices of the Stearns School Center.

Mason District

Mrs. Manning Williams entertained the Rice School teachers on Tuesday, April 14, at bridge. It was a very enjoyable occasion.

On Friday, April 17 at 10:30 A. M. the Rice Kindergarten will give a program, consisting of a flag drill, patriotic and spring songs, and soldier games.

Many parents of the eighth grade pupils are interested in the curricula of the High School and the course which is best fitted to each pupil. Mr. Paul invites the parents with questions concerning courses, to a conference on April 29, at 2:30 in the Mason.

The children of grade 3, room one, gave a health play entitled, "Midnight in the Vegetable Garden" on last Thursday. Their guests were the rest of the third and the fourth grades, and a thorough good time was enjoyed.

WEST NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the West Newton Music School, Inc., was held at the home of Mrs. William L. Garrison, Jr., 65 Sterling street, West Newton, on Wednesday, April 8th. At that time the members of the Board voted unanimously for the Community Chest plan for financing Social Agencies.

The spring vacation for the Music Schools begins Sunday, April 19th and ends Monday, April 27th.

HEBERD SCHOOL

Among those on the honor roll of the Heberd School are the following Newton boys:

Charles N. Fitz, Newton Centre; Paul Grow, Newton Centre; Edwin A. Kevorkian, Newton Centre; Wallace Nichols, Newton Highlands.

ALBEMARLE GOLF CLUB

Work on the renovation of the Wilbur mansion on Waltham street, West Newton, as a club house for the new Albemarle Golf Club's new 18-hole course is now under way.

The building is a large frame structure, standing well back from the street, among a grove of white pines and beeches, at the bend of a horse-shoe drive. The first tee practically abuts on the porte cochere.

There is ample parking space on club property adjoining the house, also room for two tennis courts which, it is hoped, may be installed in the near future. Immediately south of the first tee stands the golf shop and the caddy shelter. To the north lies the 18th green and beyond that the greenkeeper's cottage.

Interior plans call for a separate ladies' living room, locker room and bath on one side the main hall; large living room with library on the other side and the office at the back. Beyond the office is the kitchen and lunch-room, opening upon a screened veranda, with room for a dozen or more tables looking out directly over the first and 18th fairways to Mt. Ida, one of the most attractive views in Newton. A steward will be placed in charge of this branch of the service, and meals will be served to order for members.

The second floor is to be devoted entirely to men's lockers, of which 400 will be installed. Showers, wash-rooms, occupying the center of this floor, will be easily accessible to every locker. On the third floor will be cardrooms and servants' quarters, with the possibility of several guest rooms for members.

Every effort is being made to complete this work by the opening date, May 30.

NELSON-EMERY

Miss Dorothy Mae Emery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott E. Emery of Randolph street, Newton Highlands, was married last Saturday to Edwin William Nelson of 44 Dickerman road, Newton Highlands.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, and was performed by the Rev. Samuel H. Woodworth, of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

Miss Bernice A. Emery, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and the best man was Clarence S. Luitwieler, Jr., of Newton Highlands, a member of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity of Dartmouth College.

The Misses Virginia and Judith Partridge of Hartford, cousins of the bride, were the ribbon girls, together with the Misses Mary Elizabeth and Louise Kerr of Newton Highlands.

The bride's dress was of white satin with a yoke of Duchesse lace and panel of the same, her veil was of tulle with a head band of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The gown of the maid of honor was of yellow canton crepe trimmed with rhinestones. Her bouquet was of orchids and sweet peas.

A reception followed the ceremony with the bride couple being assisted by their parents, the maid of honor and the best man.

After a wedding trip to New York and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will make their home at 107 Newtonville avenue, Newton, after June 1.

Both bride and groom are of Boston University, and the groom is a member of the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT

A wholesome and enjoyable entertainment to which one was glad to take the children is the Ninth Annual Performance given at Players' Hall, West Newton on Saturday, April 25 at 3 P. M., by the children of Social Service House of the North Bennet Street Industrial School of Boston.

The program includes a playlet done in the Chinese fashion for children, entitled "The Stolen Prince"; a Ballet, "The Winter Frolic," and Dancing Divertissements. The play is unique, the costumes give a decided Oriental aspect to the setting, and a Chinese Orchestra, composed of five little girls, completes the action.

The dancing is of the usual high standard set by previous performances, and the Ballet, this year, with the Snow Flakes, Icicles, and Skaters all in white, is indeed a Winter Frolic.

All proceeds of the entertainment will be used for summer work among the children of the North End of Boston.

CHARLES RIVER COUNTRY CLUB

April 18th and 20th the Charles River Country Club will hold a two-day match play, full handicap tournament of 18 holes each day. Prizes will be given to the winners of each day's play and to the winner with the lowest net score for the 36 holes.

Saturday, April 25th, a team match will be played in twosomes or foursomes at the choice of the contestants.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

Sullivan & McCarthy, Newton Centre, report the passing of papers on the valuable business property corner of Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street, Auburndale. The title is conveyed by Frederick J. Ford to The Matthew Realty Trust. New stores are to be erected by the grantee, there being a frontage of 100 feet on Commonwealth avenue. The property is valued at $15,000.

Through the office of Sullivan & McCarthy, Annie F. Ritchie, of California, agrees to convey her beautiful estate at 110 Prospect street, West Newton Hill to H. C. Farrell, of Newton. There are some 3 1/2 acres of gently sloping land having a southerly exposure on Prospect street of 600 feet. The grantee plans to sub-divide the property, restricting to single houses. The mansion house was demolished some years ago; and this development ought to appeal to the home-builder as offering an unusual opportunity to secure moderate-sized house lots in a highly-favored residential section. The purchase price was considerably more than the assessed valuation of $13,500.

The Edward T. Harrington Company reports the sales of several lots of land on the Towle Estate, Newton. Among the recent purchasers are John H. Lovell, et ux, who bought a lot of 11,000 square feet and also the green-house service building which they will convert into a Dutch Colonial cottage for occupancy. Peter Sessions has purchased two lots of land on Cabot street on which he will erect a brick two-family house. William J. Mitchell and Nicholas Short are among the purchasers who have started the erection of houses.

Paul A. Mazzuchelli has sold his new brick colonial house at 905 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, to Dr. John Cennell who buys for occupancy. The house, with a two-car garage and 10,000 feet of land has a tax value of $38,000.

Walter B. Hennigan of Wellesley has sold his two-family, colonial frame house at 849-851 Beacon street Newton Centre, to Mrs. D. M. Spark of Brookline. The total value of the property is $18,000.

Harry A. Bonelli has sold his seven-room, modern house at 164 Harvard street, Newtonville, having a total value of $12,500, to Edith N. Furfey, for a home. These sales were negotiated through the office of John T. Burns & Sons, Inc.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Probate Court.
Middlesex, ss.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Newton in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS, certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and one codicil—of said deceased have been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Mary Lesh, Henry Frederick Lesh and Andrew M. Kistler who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, said Henry Frederick Lesh being therein named as Henry Fred Lesh without giving a surety on their official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the sixth day of May A. D. 1925, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Entered at the Post-office at Boston, Mass., as second-class matter.

D. A. R.

The regular meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., was held at their chapter house in Newton Lower Falls, on Monday.

It seemed like getting home to meet in the chapter house again after holding the winter meetings in other places.

The program for the day was in charge of Mrs. Starkweather the Historian of the Chapter. It consisted of a very interesting paper on Major Timothy Jackson, brother of Lucy Jackson, for whom the Chapter is named and of a group of songs delightfully sung by Mrs. William D. Rowe, a daughter of Mrs. Chalmers, one of the chapter members.

The story of Major Timothy Jackson was written by Miss Barbara Keith, his granddaughter, who lives now in the beautiful Jackson homestead on Washington street in Newton in the stately colonial house which Major Timothy built. In the ell of this house is incorporated part of the old house in which Major Jackson was born and there is still to be seen there a door made of double planking, vertical on one side and horizontal on the other, which was supposed to give the best protection from the arrows of the Indians.

Major Timothy Jackson as a youth marched to the battles of both Lexington and Bunker Hill and was a prisoner on several British men-of-war. His own story of these three years of life at sea, his capture, his pitiful existence as a prisoner, his escape, and his final return held our keenest interest. We not only were thrilled with his hair-raising experiences, but we marveled at his command of English and his graphic descriptions. It belied the account of his meagre schooling.

After his return from sea he married and settled on his father's farm. In time he accumulated wealth and became a great influence in this community, and his wisdom and ability were recognized not only in this region but by the state and nation.

After the paper the meeting closed with the singing of America and then we all enjoyed the dainty "tea" provided by the hostesses: Mrs. Chas. N. Fitz, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, Mrs. Joe Gerrity, and Mrs. Charles E. Gibson.

GIRL SCOUTS

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Girl Scouts Officers Association was held on Wednesday, April 8, in the Unitarian Church, West Newton. Miss "Cookie" Moore an English Girl Guide who has charge of the Girl Scout activities at Cedar Hill, was the speaker of the evening. Her subject was Camp Craft and Hiking and she gave the officers a very interesting and instructive evening.

The first seeds were planted last Saturday, in the garden at Camp May Day. Onions, carrots, Swiss chard, beets and leucines will be eagerly watched for and in a few weeks string beans and pole beans will be put in. This is the beginning. Next year we hope for a larger garden and many of the Scouts are hoping to pass their Gardener Merit Badge by their work in this garden.

The tennis court at Camp is progressing finely. Each Saturday finds girls at work on it and it certainly looks as though tennis would be an added attraction in camp this summer.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

State House, Boston.—The Legislature would, if it could, like to reach prorogation this month. At present there is a "grand rush" underway to achieve that end. Of course it will mean little or nothing to the general public, but somehow or other the Republican party leaders think it would be a "feather in their cap" if prorogation took place in April and a record for an early adjournment thus established. Just what effect this might have on the voters is not stated, but somehow or other there seems to be an impression that it would prove a valuable asset to the Republican party if the 1925 Legislature ends the session the coming month. The Democrats seem to think that the Republicans are going to gain something thereby and consequently they are not keen for it. In order to understand either attitude one must have more than a common knowledge of the workings of the political mind. However, determination to reach final adjournment at the first possible moment has resulted in morning sessions of the House, and an order that committees must have all bills reported at once. It is doubtful if any new matters, except those especially urgent, will be admitted under a suspension of the rules.

A great deal has been said about the unusually large number of vetoes submitted to the Legislature by Governor Fuller. If one takes the time to study them it is quite apparent that the action of the Chief Executive has been wise and his reasoning sound. There is not an instance, as far as impartial observers have noted, wherein the Governor has not shown that his disapproval of the bills in question was thoroughly warranted. He gives much time to the work of his office, and no small part of that is the scrutiny of the bills that come before him. It may not be generally understood but the attitude of the Governor on the several important matters that remain for consideration at this session has an important bearing on the length of the present legislative year.

The Governor is, after all, the one to say when the General Court shall prorogue and rush as they may the Legislators must remain in their chambers until His Excellency decides that it is time they can be released. A story is told of a Governor, now passed to his reward, who was as keen and sharp a statesman as Massachusetts has ever produced. It was the last hour of a legislative session and the Secretary of State had appeared before him with the formal announcement, "Your Excellency, I have the honor to inform you that the General Court has been prorogued." This was following the custom so dear to the old Bay State. The Governor was as solemn as any individual in the room, but he could not repress a thought that expressed his feelings. So he said, "Yes, but are you sure they've left the building?"

The biggest stir of the year on Beacon Hill has been Governor Fuller's veto of the bill authorizing savings banks to invest in certain forms of railroad equipment securities. There was no little surprise expressed when Monday the Senate decided to pass the bill notwithstanding the veto of the Governor. Senator Rice of this city, by the way, voted for the bill as against the Governor. The fight to put it through the House over the Governor's veto has occasioned more discussion than anything that has occurred this session.

Although receiving favorable action by the House, the bill which provides a working day for street railway employees shall consist of eight hours within a period of not more than 11 hours, that measure was rejected by the Senate. It is not a new measure, and what happened this week (favorable action by the House and rejection by the Senate) has occurred during other years. The measure would have affected the local street railway lines.

Senator George G. Moyses of Waltham, who has many friends in this city, was stricken with appendicitis during the session of the Senate Tuesday and hurriedly removed to the Waltham Hospital. Although his case is a serious one he is reported as out of danger.

Representative Luitweiler has been among those prominent in support of Frank A. Goodwin, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, in the latter's attempt to have put through this year drastic legislation intended to reduce the general practice of automobile stealing. Mr. Luitweiler has been working with Mr. Goodwin on the bill, and will undoubtedly do his utmost to see that the measure is acted upon this session.

Henry I. Harriman is the one citizen of Newton who, apart from the local members of the General Court, has spent more time this year at legislative committee hearings. Mr. Harriman as chairman of Metropolitan Planning Division, has explained in great detail the many enterprises which the division has investigated and reported upon to the Legislature. He is devoting much time to these public duties and has come to be regarded as a decided help to the legislators in such matters.

Representatives Saltonstall and Luitweiler have shown much interest in the bill to extend the existence of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life for two years. They both have studied the work of the commission and been favorably impressed with the results that body has been able to show. On Tuesday both these Newton members went before the Senate Ways and Means Committee in favor of the bill referred to in this paragraph. It is interesting to note that the committee lost no time in making a favorable report.

It looks as if something might be done by this year's Legislature towards reducing the number of frivolous bills introduced each session. The Joint Rules Committee has reported in favor of a bill of Senator Howard of Reading whereby a petitioner, who was not an official of the State, county or a city or town, would be required to pay $2 for printing the bill accompanying his petition. The purpose of this legislation is to reduce the number of "hardy annuals", so-called—bills that have no chance of becoming law and which are often introduced by "cranks." The proposed legislation will also check attempts to be funny made by those who offer impossible measures, or bills that are introduced "for the fun of it."

On the Governor's veto of the bill authorizing savings banks to invest in certain railroad equipment securities there was much discussion in the House Wednesday. It was finally voted, by a rollcall of 155 to 58, to postpone the matter until next Tuesday. Representatives Luitweiler, Hollis and Saltonstall voted in favor of postponement. Yesterday a motion to reconsider that vote was made. On the rollcall Messrs. Hollis, Luitweiler and Saltonstall voted against reconsideration.

The rejection by the House yesterday of four important bills amending the automobile traffic laws was somewhat unexpected. On the bill limiting the speed of automobiles to 35 miles an hour there was a rollcall. Messrs. Hollis and Luitweiler voted in favor of the bill and Mr. Saltonstall against it. It was rejected, 107 to 104. Senator Rice has been successful in having the Senate order to a third reading a bill to make more drastic the laws governing the sale, keeping, carrying and rental of firearms. He was required to amend his bill in some instances. The new draft provided a jail sentence of from six months to five years for carrying firearms without a license. It is expected that the Senate will advance the bill through all its stages.

W. C. T. U.

The next meeting of the West Newton W. C. T. U. will be held next Monday night at the home of Mrs. Dewise, 65 Prospect street, West Newton. This will be Young People's Night, and the speaker will be Mr. John Fantoro, State Vice President of the Young People's Branch.

Last Saturday night the members of the West Newton W. C. T. U. furnished the entertainment and lunch at the Sailors' Haven, Charlestown.

DEATH OF MRS. PRAY

Mrs. Emma S. Pray, wife of Captain Samuel Pray, manager of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co., died Tuesday, at her home, 77 Washington Street. She has been a resident of Newton for thirty years. Mrs. Pray was a daughter of the Honorable Daniel Barnard and Amelia Morse Barnard of Franklin, New Hampshire. Mr. Barnard at one time was attorney general of that state. On her mother's side, Mrs. Pray was a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden.

Mrs. Pray was a member of the West Newton Educational Club, the Lucy Jackson Chapter of the D. A. R., and belonged to the Channing Church, where she was active in the Woman's Alliance.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Dorothy Pray, and a sister, Mrs. Frederick H. Daniell of Franklin, New Hampshire.

Services will be held from her late residence, 77 Washington street, at 2:15 today. Rev. Chester A. Drummond will officiate and interment will be at Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

—On Friday, Mrs. J. D. Coward of High street will attend the annual banquet and re-union of the Boywaka Bible Class of Boston.

—Last Saturday afternoon a group of girls from the Trinity Church, appeared at the Stone Institute and sang carols and Easter Hymns.

—Mr. Joseph Fitzgerald of Elliot st., is interested in the First Annual Firemen's Ball of Newton. He has charge of the advertisements for the program.

—Mr. Leo Crowley, prominent in athletics at St. John's Prep School, enjoyed the Easter vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Crowley of High street.

—A very pleasing program consisting of piano and vocal solos, readings and delicious refreshments, was held this week for the benefit of the ladies of the Stone Institute, under the auspices of the Women's Educational Club of West Newton.

—Next Sunday the pastor will have charge of the services at the Methodist Church. The sermon theme for the hour of morning worship will be "The Heart of a Community." In the evening Dr. Shaw will preach on "Moths, Rust and Thieves." Song service will precede the sermon and the new books will be used. Miss Avis Wallace will sing. Work will be commenced next week on the repairs and renovating preparatory to installation of the new organ.

—The Annual Meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Episcopal Church was held on Wednesday. About sixty ladies attended the annual dinner and listened to the reports which showed that the year had been a very prosperous one. Also reports were given for the five years when Mrs. J. D. Coward has been president. It was cause for regret that Mrs. Coward felt she could not carry the work another year, and as an expression of their appreciation and esteem the ladies presented her with a beautiful lustre ware china tea set. Mrs. W. C. Willard expressed the love of the ladies for Mrs. Coward and their appreciation of her loyal service. Mrs. C. A. Chadwick on behalf of the society presented Mrs. James McNeally with a beautiful electric lamp in appreciation of her service to the work committee. Mrs. Thomas Lee of Oak street was elected president of the society for the coming year.

the gymnastics classes at the Y. M. C. A., presided at the piano throughout the entire performance. Mr. Edgar G. Wilson announced the various events on the program. A large audience was present and a good time was enjoyed by all.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Association of Central Church, enjoyed a reciprocity program on Wednesday afternoon when a group of the women from Elliot Church, presented very effectively a little play entitled, "The Upsettin' o' Panther Mountain." Mrs. H. M. S. Pope was coach and also took the part of "Granny" in a very realistic fashion, pipe and all. The family scene at the breakfast table was most amusing and was a vivid portrayal of the ignorance and uncouth ways of some of the Southerners among whom mission workers are sent. But teacher and students win out and the play leaves the audience wishing for more, another act showing the transformation. Through the courtesy of one of the participants, Mrs. Ellison G. Day, also a member of the association, the play was given. Others taking part were, Mrs. Kennedy Crane, Miss Eleanor Gibbs, Miss Ruth Litchfield, Mrs. William Duncan, Mrs. Frances Fuller and Miss Dorothy Bushnell. Rarely does one see on the stage a better bit of folk acting.

Rev. A. V. Bliss followed with a very interesting account of the Southern Mountaineers, who live in the region of the Cumberland and Blue Ridge Mountains and the "poor whites" who live in the lowlands. He explained the marked differences between these two classes; the former being descendants of the Swiss, Germans, Scotch-Irish and Huguenots who came to this country 250 years ago. They have a lineage of which they might well be proud but have lived in remote places and have not advanced with civilization. The "poor whites" are of the lowlands and are descended from the pauper and criminal classes who were sent from England to work on plantations before the days of African slavery.

100,000 of these people served in the world war and one youth had the award for being the bravest soldier in the allied armies.

In closing Mr. Bliss said, "Nothing will keep man at his best as does the religion of Jesus Christ." A trio composed of Mrs. D. P. Jewett, Mrs. R. T. Lapham and Mrs. H. M. Waybright, gave a vocal selection. Tea was served with Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy as hostess.

Y. W. C. A.

The Blue Triangle Club of the Y. W. C. A. presents "Doris Comes to Town", a three-act comedy, tonight and Saturday night. The cast of characters is as follows: Harriette M. Hudson, Martha Boothby, Effie Nagel, Alta V. Blakely, Ruth Benyon, Margaret M. Bowers, Helen Nagel, Blanche Leacy. Mrs. Wallace Wales is the coach. Dancing will follow the Saturday performance.

—On Tuesday, April 21, the Auburndale Review Club will meet in the Congregational Church. Supper at 6:30, will be followed by an illustrated talk on Porto Rico by Dr. Guy M. Winslow, Principal of Lasell. Ladies are invited to the lecture.

—Miss Elizabeth Hall, Percy Williams and Frederick Burton are among those taking part in the play to be given by the Searchlight Club at the Auburndale Club House on Wednesday, April 22d. Miss Annie S. Strong is councillor for the club. The proceeds of the play, "Daddy-Long-Legs," will be devoted to the missionary work of the club.

—Mr. Francis J. Mague, a resident of Newton all his life, died at his home, 6 Rowe street, last Saturday. Mr. Mague was a general contractor and builder, and was a graduate of Technology. He leaves a widow, Marcella G. Mague, and a daughter, Helen Marie Mague. A solemn high mass of requiem was held at the Corpus Christi Church on Tuesday, and the burial was in Waltham.

—The annual meeting of the Auburndale Review Club will be held Tuesday, April 21, at Oriole Manor House, Natick.

A business meeting at eleven o'clock will precede the annual luncheon, after which there will be a short entertainment.

ous libraries of a type suitable to and an expense commensurate with the needs of Auburndale. He gave figures showing the amazing development of the use of library books in Lower Falls, and the corresponding lack of use in Auburndale, the average per capita figures being 10, Lower Falls showing 28, and Auburndale 8. Mr. Dougherty announced another generous donation from a public spirited citizen who has promised to meet with one per cent whatever the community may raise.

Speaking from the floor, Mr. C. Ober, who was one of the committee who, twenty-five years ago, procured the branch library for Auburndale, gave an interesting account of that project.

Mr. W. A. Leighton, Principal of the Auburndale schools, presented to the Fund, in the name of the School children, two fifty-dollar Liberty Bonds which have been waiting since the Armistice to find something to do, worthy of the many little sacrifices they cost.

Mrs. Nathan W. Dennett, President of the Review Club and Mrs. Stephen E. Wright, President of the Auburndale Woman's Club, announced the four hundred dollars that have been pledged and given by their organizations.

Dr. Drew of the Congregational Church, urged the necessity for a beautiful building in beautiful surroundings to be symbolic of the spirit of the people—a home of culture for Auburndale.

Mr. George Brophy made a stirring plea for a generous response to the call for funds, and asked that the pledges be made as large as so worthy an object deserved.

Mr. Harper of the Methodist Church rejoiced to see a movement on foot that brought together the various organizations of the community, and pledged his personal help.

Mrs. F. F. Davidson, formerly a member of the Newton School Board, told of the long felt need of proper quarters for such activities of the children as story-telling hours.

Mr. Bryant Nichols rose to speak for his five children, and to offer the pledge of each one for five dollars.

It was the opinion of the meeting that the business of raising a fund for the library had been handled so efficiently by the present committee that it would be best served in the future by continuing them in office with the addition of such members as may seem expedient.

When the meeting adjourned, Mr. Felix Raullett, Treasurer, of 357 Central street, announced that pledges to the amount of eight hundred and twenty-three dollars had been received, making a total of three thousand, three hundred twenty-three dollars.

CONVENTION

The 2nd Commencement of the Norumbega District School of Religious Education is at hand.

This event will take place on Tuesday evening, April 28, combined with the Annual District Sunday School Convention, which is the big annual gathering of Sunday School workers from Newton, Waltham, Belmont and Watertown.

The Methodist Church at Newtonville will welcome this convention as cordially as it has the Community School for the past year. Opportunity to see this modern up-to-date Church School building will be one interesting feature of this Convention.

The banquet will be served at 6:30 P. M., followed immediately by reports of the year's business of the District. These reports will indicate the largeness of the task of religious education in the several communities, which comprise the Norumbega District, and will show the gradually increasing influence exerted by the Community School and the other District activities.

Diplomas will be presented to those who have completed with credit three full years of work in the Community School of Religious Education. Following this will come the address of the evening, given by Prof. O. W. Warmingham, Professor of English Bible in the Boston University School of Religious Education and Social Service.

Professor Warmingham is a popular teacher of young people at Boston University, and in summer camps. He is a much sought-after speaker for conventions and other church events.

The District officers feel fortunate in being able to secure Professor Warmingham for this occasion.

REVIEW CLUB

The annual meeting of the Auburndale Review Club will be held Tuesday, April 21, at Oriole Manor House, Natick.

A business meeting at eleven o'clock will precede the annual luncheon, after which there will be a short entertainment.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

State Federation

Park Street Church, Boston, was crowded to capacity on the afternoon of the 14th with clubwomen who paid tribute to Mrs. John D. Sherman, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. This meeting followed the Spring Conference of Presidents, outgoing and incoming, in the rooms of the New England Women's Club, in the morning. John Herman Lund gave much pleasure with organ selections previous to the addresses.

Dr. Conrad welcomed the club members, paying compliment to Mrs. Burns, President of the Park Street Church Women's Association, for her powers of persuasion in securing this church as a meeting place for the Federation. He said that he was accustomed to seeing the church well filled, but he was not accustomed to seeing it so filled with beauty and intelligence as was here today.

And when the President—Mrs. Smith—asked for the removal of the hats he had regretted that so many lovely Easter bonnets, with colors lovely as the Spring, had to be removed, but now that they had been, he found that it had not decreased the beauty, but increased it. All of which pleasant speeches were amusing, and, were quite appropriate as "welcome."

He went on to pay high compliment to the aims and work of the women's club, with the statement that Massachusetts was immeasurably better for them, and that there was no one so sensitive to the needs of a community, nor so capable of improving them, as women.

Mrs. Smith responded to this welcome, and then Miss Nelly Stuart Brown sang a group of songs that were admirably applauded.

The introduction of our own dear Mrs. Poole was the signal for enthusiastic applause, and then in her own delightful way she told of trying to find a mournful Spring song to quote to us today—perhaps because of the going out of so many of the presidents and officers who have now served their allotted two years. But there were no mournful spring songs or poems; they all were happy with visions and dreams.

She alleged that at the morning meeting she had been able to pick out each of the three groups of presidents by the expressions on their faces—those who were just finishing their terms had a look of relief; those half way through had a "do or die" expression, determined to accomplish it in the next year what they had failed to do in the last; and then the new or incoming presidents, looking eager and evidently confident that they would accomplish what their predecessors had failed to do, and would do what had never been done before!

She claimed there are three kinds of club women—the poor, who never give anything to the clubs, and who always complain of how little they get out of them—these poverty stricken ones, who belong because it is the thing to belong and whom we will always have with us; the middle class, who can be always relied upon to do whatever has to be done, however disagreeable the task; and the rich, those who are eternally facing the East and climbing mountains, those who may be poor as to purse, but rich with visions, and high ideals and dreams and air castles; and to these last we always turn for leadership, even though at times we may have been impatient with their ideas as impractical.

Mrs. John D. Sherman, in the principal speech of the afternoon, addressed her great unseen audience over the radio, as well as those before her, in declaring that she had never had more pleasure and happiness than in the days spent here in Massachusetts. She had never heard more uniformly good, or better reports from State Chairmen than she had heard that morning. She told of the hardships of the women of the West, owing to the vast distances in the ranch and desert country, could not meet in their clubs but once a year, going then twenty-five or more miles to the most central ranch for their meeting, and how we should appreciate their ability to have many meetings each year.

She praised many of our Massachusetts women, telling how grateful was the General Federation for having given them such women for their family; and how much they depended upon the wise judgment and sane decisions of our Mrs. Poole. She spoke especially of Mrs. Burnham, Miss Titus, Mrs. Bagley and Mrs. Kimball, whose work was so splendid.

Mrs. Sherman brought out the real General Federation is composed of 13,000 Clubs in the United States, with an approximate membership of 2,800,000 women.

The ability of the women who do not hold office, saying they have a voice, possibly more, to do for their clubs, in creating public opinion in the right channels.

Her next subject was the American Home, and the survey that the club is contemplating to discover what the homemakers have to make workable this greatest of all businesses in our country.

Millmen, factory owners, farmers, in fact all business men, can find out from the government, due to Census returns, just what equipment is in use, or machinery, or facilities, in each industry, so they may know whether they are behind, or equal to, or before, their time. Why, then, should not the women know just what facilities there are and how many have all the household aids and sanitary protections they should have? The survey is to be undertaken in order that we may convince Congress of the need of these questions for further censuses, and will be learned through the co-operation of various agencies that will give the information in each City and Town to the club presidents. President Coolidge has expressed his approval and sympathy with the undertaking.

"Uncle Sam needs a wife," Mrs. Sherman quoted, "but he needs more a homemaker!" And then she took up the problem of our young people, and what is wrong with the older generation that such deplorable conditions as exist, do exist. Her panacea would be the home so attractive that outside allurements could not prevail against it. The home is the defense against evil, and if the defense is weak, we can not expect youth to be strong.

She hopes to have the day come when each university and college will have a demonstration home on its campus, even as Iowa has inaugurated this splendid and practical example. Religion in the home is the true foundation for building, she declared, and asked us to consider where the Protestant stands on teaching religion as compared with other religions. The Jewish people give 250 hours a year to religious training of children; the Catholics give 200 hours a year, while the Protestant gives only 24 hours a year.

Her last warning, and a serious one for consideration, was based on her experiences in New York and Washington, wherein she has known of dangerous propaganda being spread for the overturning of our government and our home life. Over one thousand newspapers are being published in the United States with this avowed purpose; about 600 of them being foreign papers. Millions of pamphlets are being circulated, and are reaching those easily influenced, even the school children. In New York recently a gathering of children clad in red blouses, and waving red flags, marched in parade and urged by a Russian boy, took oath to work for the overturn of our government. (It would seem that the quickest and most effective method of dealing with this treason is the instant deportation of the families of these children, for they are learning their ideas from their elders, and such elders have no place in America. They should be banished from our country as a plague, and with just the same courtesy with which we deal with a plague!)

The price for the luncheon tickets this year is to be one dollar, and the members of the Social Committee will be exempt from any form of money obligation.

The Federation quite rightly asks the pleasure of playing hostess to those who give so generously of their time and effort in serving us on this hectic day.

It is hoped that all officers and presidents of the Federation may be seated on the platform, so that reports and announcements may be carried along with smoothness and speed. This is not mentioning the pleasurable feature of so good looking a view for the audience—an added argument in its favor, n'est pas?

Newton Federation

About thirty officers and presidents of the Federation responded to the very kind invitation of Mrs. Ernest Cobb, their president, to attend a luncheon conference at her home on April 21st. Promptly at 12 noon the conferees began, the delegates attending strictly to the business of luncheon. When the last crumb had been cleared, and the coffee urn had disappeared, the real work of the conference was started. Definite plans for the Annual Meeting in May were made, and many new and unusual suggestions were decided upon.

It is hoped that all officers and presidents of the Federation may be seated on the platform, so that reports and announcements may be carried along with smoothness and speed. This is not mentioning the pleasurable feature of so good looking a view for the audience—an added argument in its favor, n'est pas?

Following the decision on plans for the meeting, the guests had the advantage and good fortune of listening to a few minutes' talk concerning the work of four of the Associate Organizations, whose presidents were among the gathering—Mrs. Lodge, Mrs. Groves, Mrs. Keyner, and for the West Newton Music School President, Mrs. Hay.

A most interesting and vital paper was read by Mrs. Lewis of Newton Highlands, written by her son, a freshman in Technology. It gave, as seen by him, from real experience, the young graduate's views of the difficulties and stumbling blocks that await the entering freshman into college work, due perhaps to a lack of early preparation for vigorous work in the taking of notes in the High Schools all over the country. The breach in methods between High and College is so wide that many fall in this trench. It was an able paper, full of value to young people and to all educators.

Mrs. Burnham gave a full and arresting summary of the work to be accomplished in the new department of the Federation, the American Home. The chairman of the standing committees also had brief but worthwhile messages from their departments, and the conference closed about 4 P. M.

The next Board Meeting will be held on the 21st, Tuesday, at 10.15 A. M. at the Newton Club, Newtonville. The date has been changed from that of the 20th, given in the calendar, owing to the celebration of the holiday on Monday. As this is the last meeting of the Board before the Annual Meeting it is desired that all who can be present.

Recent Events

There could have been no more appropriate play to be read for the program of the 9th of the Newton Community Club, with its inspiring message for Easter week, than Channing Pollock's "The Fool," and all who heard Maud Huntington Benjamin interpret it lived through the vivid picture with mingled pleasure in the story and its reader. She made each character very real, so real that we all saw the smug, wise Rector who knew what kind of sermons he must preach lest he offend the wealthy sinners of his congregation. We all smiled, and possibly wished that things were different, when the rapid flapper, with mingled sense and foolishness, sung out her gay greetings, with an eye to the advantageous situation. We all sighed at the quite evident worldliness of the mother whose motives were so apparent, and who did not hesitate to tell anyone just what she thought and just what she desired of tribute to her social and financial position. And we all felt a quaint sadness over the splendid portrayal of the aged sexton, eager to please, to placate, and yet deep in his heart admiring the courageous Mr. Gilchrist, who dared to endanger his future in the church.

It perhaps was this ready change from one character to the next; the swift stepping line in the new part with new mental outlook that was Mrs. Benjamin's highest achievement of her presentation, for she made each person live for us, and seem as real as though each actually stepped upon the stage.

The story itself, picturing the ideals of an earnest, eager young pastor, who saw the sorrows of a weary, heartless world, and desired so sympathetically to lift them, steals into the heart, and arouses our own high ideals and motives, since it proves so easily that is the worthwhile life and what constitutes real success, regardless of the standard of a selfish, money-seeking world.

Certainly, as has been said, no finer idealism, no more appropriate message, could have been offered for Holy Week, and all felt the welcome gift of such a message.

THE PLAYGROUND OF AMERICA

Brief Sketches of Life and Places in Florida
As Seen at First Hand

Four years ago I made a visit to Florida with a party of several hundred newspapermen and women and we were lavishly entertained wherever we went. Our trip touched both the east and west coast, as well as several hundred miles in central Florida.

At that time I promised myself, that I would return to Florida at the first opportunity to enjoy its beauty in a more leisurely fashion than was possible at that time. Legislative duties up to this winter have prevented the fulfillment of that promise, but the opportunity came the present winter, and I have been able to spend four or five weeks in a state which is undoubtedly destined to become the great playground of America.

I find that my first impressions of the state need considerable alteration. In 1921 we were usually asleep when we crossed the country intervening between the different cities and towns, and consequently saw but little of the undeveloped land. I recall that I made some comment on the apparent lack of swamp land in the state. This year in side trips from our headquarters at DeLand, Miami and Fort Myers, we found mile after mile of swamp land and many square miles of country utterly undeveloped in any way, notwithstanding the effort of real estate boosters to plot all the land in Florida, of which more later.

Florida is the second largest state east of the Mississippi river, and is but a few square miles smaller than Georgia, which stands first in area. Figures show that only about 2 per cent of the state is developed, and its possibilities for future growth seem unlimited, as it has one of the richest agricultural lands in the country and could support the entire nation if fully developed.

We chose DeLand as our headquarters in the present visit to Florida, largely on the fact that we had several friends in that town and because one of those friends, with over 30 years experience with conditions and places in Florida, had for the past ten years settled in DeLand as his winter home.

We made no mistake in choosing DeLand, as we found it to be one of the prettiest places in the state. Named after the man who visualized its possibilities and who was far sighted enough to offer money prizes for every tree planted in its limits, it has had a steady growth in population as well as beauty. Its streets and avenues are lined with immense water oaks, which meeting overhead give long, cool tunnels, festooned with the Spanish moss which is omnipresent in this locality. It is the site of the Stetson University, founded by John Stetson (famous for his high priced hats) and which brings about 600 young people of both sexes into the town for their education.

It is a curious fact that numerous Florida towns or cities have attracted the attention of rich men who have spent large sums of money in development. Stetson in DeLand, Ringland Bros. of circus fame, in Sarasote, and Waterman the fountain pen man, in Buxton, are examples of this tendency.

DeLand has a population of about 7500, has two newspapers, a daily and a weekly, two banks, a department store which might well be envied by places three times as large in the North, a live wire Commercial Club, a public library and a University library, the latter the gift of Carnegie, two theatres, a high grade hotel in the College Arms, and numerous smaller hotels and lodging houses. There are two golf courses, one owned by the College Arms hotel is as good a course as can be found in the South, and there is also a nine hole course of the Country Club.

Speaking of newspapers—here is a little city, about as large as Wellesley, which supports two newspapers, one a daily and one a weekly. Can we in the North imagine a place as large as Wellesley having as much newspaper circulation as that?

Prices in the South are much higher than we are accustomed to in the North. The hotel prices are way out of sight. The best hotels charge from $98 up a week for a double room, without bath, and third rate hotels are getting $9 a day for a double room with bath. We paid $20 a week for a double room with use of a public swimming pool and $12 a week for meals outside. City water costs $4 a quarter, electricity is 14 cents a kilowatt, a shave costs 25 cents, newspapers five cents, etc., etc.

The De Leon Spring, which Ponce De Leon thought was the fountain of youth, is within a few miles of DeLand and is well worth a visit. It is a fine hotel nearby, and the grounds have been made most attractive with trees and shrubs. A full sized river runs out of this spring, and the water at all seasons never varies from about 70 degrees.

One of the attractions of DeLand, and I assume of other Florida cities, is the beauty of its flowers and trees. In a sub-tropical climate, the palms and palmettos, make a beautiful picture in the landscape in every direction, while the hibiscus and Turke's cap shrubs, flower everywhere. The fine lawns we have at the North are hard to find here, unless great care is taken with them and they are constantly irrigated with water. But the flowers grow everywhere, even from the fine gray sand, which looks as barren as the sand dunes of Cape Cod. Orange groves are numerous and the fragrance from its blossoms cannot be described.

DeLand is on the Orange Belt Auto line and has daily bus service between Daytona and Orlando, with connections at the latter city for Tampa and St. Petersburg. These busses, which hold about twenty people, are very comfortable, even on some of the poor roads which are found in the state. We made a trip to Miami, a distance of about 280 miles, in one day and found it an excellent way to travel. I shall write another story of this trip.

We also took the bus to Altamonte Springs, a distance of some thirty miles for the purpose of looking at a gift to the newspapermen of the country of a site for a Home. This gift from former Congressman C. D. Hains, included several parcels of land amounting to 88 acres, most of which was under cultivation as an orange grove and including a well built country house, in which the Congressman had constructed a theatre large enough for a movie picture and seating over a hundred people. With this real estate Mr. Hains gave $10,000 in money and has promised an endowment fund of $150,000 in stock in two companies in which he is interested. The possibilities of this property for either a home for worn out newspapermen or as a summer home for newspapermen and their families or for both, are such that the newspaper fraternity ought to join most heartily in developing this gift to its utmost. Mr. Hains has earned the regard of every newspaperman and woman for this splendid gift. I had a short interview with Mr. Hains, who by the way, is one of the largest growers of ferns in this country, and fully appreciate his altruistic motives in making this gift.

From Altamonte we drove to Orlando, one of the most beautiful cities in Florida, but as we had only a few moments to catch a train further south, we did not have an opportunity to see all its attractions. On the way to Orlando, we passed thru the wealthy and beautiful suburb of Winter park, and drove thru Interlachen avenue, said to be the most beautiful street in Florida. There is no doubt of its being a beautiful street, but it would rank about the same as Otis street, West Newton, east of Chestnut street, in my humble opinion. We noted one attractive lay out of a double roadway, with no sidewalks, but a centre reservation containing the walk which was lined on either side by magnificent oaks.

Fort Myers was reached at midnight after a six hour ride thru a most desolate looking country. We found a growing town, and promise of a more rapid growth in the future. This little city of 7500 people supports two daily newspapers, one a morning, the other an evening paper, both of them apparently prosperous. Fort Myers seemed more businesslike than other Florida cities, and it had some most attractive residences. It also claims to have the most beautiful street in Florida if not in the country and its claim to this distinction is well merited. Two hundred miles farther south than DeLand there is more tropical foliage, and the Royal Palm grows abundantly. The avenue claimed to be the most beautiful street is lined on both sides by splendid specimens of the royal palm for a distance of over a mile and is well worth a visit.

We were taken over cart paths and country roads to some of the real estate developments and one long trip to Crescent Beach on the shores of the Gulf. This beach was of fine grey sand, almost as fine as flour and was very flat, making a safe and excellent place to bathe. The road to this beach, however, was a nightmare at the time, a promise of a paved boulevard to be ready in July. A shore dinner that evening gave me my first taste of pompano fish, one of the finest fish I have ever eaten.

There was another long and tiresome ride in the train back to DeLand, and it seemed almost like home to get back to its beautiful and shaded streets.

There is a tradition in Florida, that one who returns in his shoes, he is certain to return to the state. For one I am glad to say that I found considerable sand in my shoes since returning from Florida and I shall live in hope that the prediction in my case, at least, shall prove true.

NAVY TALK BY COMDR. WARE

Commander Bruce R. Ware, U. S. Navy, Engineer Officer and Outside Superintendent of the Norfolk Navy Yard was introduced:

"Good evening. I am extremely glad to have this opportunity to reach so many of my friends. After twenty-two years of active Navy service I find no cause for concern over statements made by biased people such as the air enthusiasts who have recently been filling the papers with incomplete and one-sided statements. I assure you that all is well with the Fleet. The air craft policy of the Navy is definite, efficient and forceful. Planes, destroyers, and submarines are equally essential in the battle formation.

"Hardly a day goes by, however, that we do not see in the newspapers where some prejudiced or ill informed person asserts that the backbone of the Navy must pass into reserve and air power supplant it or the nation will be made liable to defeat. But, 'Listeners' such claims and daring denials told by supporters of the air fleet, many of them scarcely short of miracles, dazzle but do not blind me. I am going to tell you the truth about the sinking of the Washington and show why the battleship continues to dominate triumphantly all other units.

"The fighting policy of the United States has always been to seek the enemy wherever it may be and destroy it. To pursue after successful engagement and make victory complete. John Paul Jones carried on the defense of the United States by a carefully planned warfare in the English Channel. Can the air force break up an enemy battle fleet thousands of miles away before it has left the shadows of its home coast? No! At the present time our Merchant Marine numbers over one thousand six hundred vessels scattered over the high seas. Without surface craft to protect these vessels, how long would our foreign trade flourish? Could airplanes proceed to sea and defend them continually and maintain safe our sea lanes of commerce? No!

"It cost the Round the World Fliers three hundred thousand dollars to execute that feat, but it cost the Navy six hundred thousand (twice as much) to make it possible for them to do it. Without the support of the surface craft of the Navy (battleships, cruisers, and destroyers), the airplanes could never have circled the globe.

"One more point before we 'commence firing' at the Washington. It is claimed by air enthusiasts that an airplane carrier is equal to a gun that can shoot a thousand miles. By this I mean a surface craft costing $35,000,000, as much as a battleship, having but small offensive and defensive capacity that is more or less unprotected from enemy destroyers, carrying 10 300,000 bombers, is claimed by air enthusiasts, capable of steaming to sea and firing a plane from her deck. They claim this plane, can fly 1000 miles straight and true regardless of weather conditions, to direct contact with an advancing enemy dreadnaught and drop its bomb making a hit. Air enthusiasts also invariably ignore the several limitations of war conditions and the defense tactics the enemy will resort to, they only consider Dress Parade conditions. They tell us the Martin Bomber flies 1,500 miles without alighting, but they do not add that with her war equipment of bombs this reduces her flying distance to 350 miles on account of the additional weight; in other words, her sea range from base, the distance she can go out active in war times, is but 175 miles. Even with defenseless targets and ideal weather conditions, that chance would the airplane have? Very little, as is definitely proved by the following:

"In the English experiments with bombers piloted by men untired after an hour's flight through the enemy's screen and not subjected to counter attack of enemy planes or anti-aircraft guns, 114 bombs were dropped on her Majesty's ship Agamemnon without making a hit. This is conclusive, what chance would any plane have of making a hit against a modern 40,000, 000 dreadnaught fighting, armed to teeth and protected. Instead of the ten shots carried by the airplane carrier, the dreadnaught carries two thousand one hundred sixteen inch projectiles, twelve powerful torpedoes and four to six scouting and defense planes in addition to light guns and anti-aircraft guns. The modern dreadnaught possesses other means of defense against missiles dropped by aircraft—namely speed and change of course. A bomb dropped from a height of six miles requires 28 seconds to reach the deck of a ship. In 28 seconds a 25 knot ship moves over 1/5 of a mile on her course. If the air pilot maintains a correct position himself but errs one-half a degree in estimating the battleship's course, the bomb will fall 100 feet away from the target. Also think how hard it will be for the air pilot to remain calm, to plot his own position for the addition to the new 6-inch gun that throws a 50 lb. weight to a height of 15 miles and at the rate of 14 per minute, or from a battleship's entire anti-aircraft battery, 112 such 50 lb. shots per minute, 2 a second, the battleship has numerous machine guns, each gun firing 400 1/2 inch projectiles a minute to a height of five miles. With such an onslaught can the air pilot maintain his course within 1/2 a degree and make a hit? In the case of the attack against the defenseless Iowa making but six knots, out of 80 single attacks, from an altitude of only 2 miles, but two hits were made. This is also conclusive.

"The attack on the Washington—Here a partially completed, stationary, defenseless battleship, passive, unresisting, accepted the terrific punishment of 3-2000 lb. bombs and 2-400 lb. torpedoes, also one 14 inch shell weighing 1440 lbs., (3 1/2 tons) dropped from a height of two miles point down failed to penetrate her deck. This hit was made on the twelfth attempt, the first eleven having failed and after three aiming flights, in war a plane cannot stay for eleven attempts and three aiming flights, it must enter and strike. After suffering the explosion of three underwater bombs of the largest size and two torpedo explosions also on the largest size, directly against her hull, with no repair of leaks and no pumps going, the Washington remained afloat four days, think of that, to be finally sunk by 14 hits of 14 inch shells fired at very oblique angles of impact by the battleship Texas and not by airplanes.

"The results of these tests demonstrated that the hull of the latest type of American battleship is capable of withstanding the attack of aerial bombs, and that with a crew on board to make repairs, run the pumps and man the anti-aircraft guns, such a ship as the Washington would be secure against air attacks.

"In closing I repeat that air power is essential to the efficient and successful operation of the Fleet. I would be proud to wear on my breast the golden wings of the aviator—their marvelous achievements cannot be forgotten or overlooked—the nonstop voyage of the Los Angeles and the transcontinental flight of the Shenandoah. It is with much pride that I also refer to the record breaking performances for duration, speed, altitude and endurance of our young Naval aviators—to all these heroes of the air I uncover and I salute them. I deny, however, that the battleship is obsolete; that surface craft are doomed; that troops cannot be transported overseas and that fortifications are useless. The recent tests made by the air forces, the very words and arguments by the air enthusiasts have materialized into a boomerang. Work is being thrown into Navy Yards as a result, and to my friends of Norfolk, Portsmouth, and vicinity, your Navy Yard is busy and by September first will be twice as busy. Our older battleships are being modernized to the type represented by that fortress the Washington—all is well with the fleet and the battleship remains supreme."

No. 10696. Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Land Court.

To George W. St. Amant, George F. Howland, Celia Haskell and Jane D. St. Amant, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; Arthur T. Winslow, now or formerly of Worcester, in the County of Worcester and said Commonwealth, or his heirs, devisees or legal representatives; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas a petition has been presented to said Court by Ella B. Smith and Mary L. Walker, of said Newton, to register and confirm their title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Newton bounded and described as follows: Southeastern corner of Vista Avenue, 159.61 feet; Southwesterly by land now or formerly of George F. Howland, 140.60 feet; Northwesterly and Westerly by land now or formerly of George W. St. Amant, 56.30 feet and 111.80 feet, respectively; Northwesterly by land now or formerly of Jane D. St. Amant, 40.40 feet; and Northeastern corner of land now or formerly of Jane D. St. Amant and Celia Haskell, 219.71 feet.

Petitioners claim as appurtenant to the above described land right that no building shall for 20 years from Mar. 30, 1912, be erected on adjoining land now owned by George F. Howland within 45 feet from Vista Avenue and 15 feet from land of your petitioners, said right being by agreement dated Mar. 30, 1912, duly recorded Book 4220, Page 301, and petitioners admit that said land is subject to restriction mentioned above.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the twenty seventh day of April A. D. 1925, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this first day of April in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-five.

GIRL SCOUTS

Tuesday, April 28, is to be Newton Day at the Girl Scout booth at the Home Beautiful Exhibition, at Mechanics Building, Boston. Each day during next week is to be named for some near by Girl Scout Council and the Scout activities which are a feature of the Girl Scout exhibit will be carried on by the scouts belonging to the Council for which the day is named.

The exhibit is to be quite a large one and many of the Girl Scout activities will be demonstrated. Girls wearing the cooking badge will make the new famous Girl Scout Cookies—others will make hoarhound candy. Home-nursing and child care will be demonstrated in spaces partitioned off and furnished appropriately. The Hostess Merit Badge will be carried on all of the time by the scouts who will welcome visitors and serve afternoon tea.

There will be a camping exhibit also and the Cedar Hill Industries will be shown. Everything is being done to make the exhibit an outstanding feature of the whole exhibition, and an educational as well as interesting one. On Newton Day the Child Nurse demonstration will be particularly interesting one as a hospital nurse will conduct that part of the program and will give the scouts a practical lesson. Each afternoon the Scouts have a part in the regular entertainment which is given in Paul Revere Hall. The Newton girls will give a short entertainment "A half hour at Camp Mary Day" on Newton Day. The Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps will be in evidence a number of times. On Monday evening the Dorchester Corps will play. Wednesday afternoon has been given to Cambridge and the Newton Corps has been chosen for the last evening, Saturday, May second. Elizabeth Plimpton will play the Bugle calls on Newton Day, and will also sound "Taps" at the close of the exhibition.

Mrs. Lillian J. Collins, Captain of Troop XI, the Newton Highlands troop and chairman of the Newton Girl Scout Officers' Association is chairman of the Girl Scout exhibit of the Home Beautiful Exhibition. She has planned the exhibit and the program for the whole week and worked untiringly on every detail in order that this exhibit may be an especially good one. The Newton members on her committee are Mrs. Walton Redfield, Captain of the Newton Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps and Miss Caroline L. Freeman, Director for Newton. Among those who are to help on Newton Day are: Cookie making: Captains Ordway and Sprague. Lieutenants Converse, A. Ball, Hall, Noble, Allen, Gray, Hartell, E. Kilburn, M. Kilburn, and Andrews. Scouts Colby, Sprague, McGreggor, Hodges and Clough.

BETTER NEWTON CONTEST

Today the Graphic publishes, on another page, the thirty prize winners in the Better Newton Homes Contest which closed April 15th. After due consideration of the answers received the judges were unanimous in awarding the first prize of twenty dollars to Mrs. Thomas J. Kavanaugh. Mrs. Kavanaugh's letter will also be found in another column.

The Graphic wishes, at this time, to thank its many friends and readers for their interest in making the contest a success. Thanks are also extended to Mrs. Ernest Cobb and Mr. Francis L. Bacon for their aid in judging the letters.

NEWTON CENTRE DOLLAR DAY

The recently-organized Newton Centre Merchants' Association of the Newton Chamber of Commerce will hold its first "Dollar Day" tomorrow. This innovation had its birth in Newton Corner last month when the Newton Corner business men formed an organization under the leadership of the mercantile division of the Chamber.

Newton Centre Square has been decorated for the occasion with streamers and special window displays in the shops. A committee of 20 leading merchants in Newton Centre are in charge of the event. It is planned to form these village organizations throughout the city with village "Dollar Days," to be followed by an "All Newton Dollar Day."

FIREMAN'S BALL

The first annual ball of the Newton Firemen's Relief Association was held in the West Newton Armory Monday evening. The affair was pronounced a great success both financially and socially.

Chief Clarence Handlett of the Newton Fire Department was presented a gold watch, chain and charm inscribed with the emblems of the Odd Fellows and Masons. The presentation was made by Mayor Edwin O. Childs, on behalf of the permanent members of the Fire Department who contributed toward this gift. Assistant Chief Stacy was called out for a small chimney fire just as the evening got away, but the festivities were not further interrupted.

There were guests from Fire Departments all over the State, including Chief Sennott of Boston and Edward A. Costello representing Commissioner Glynn of Boston.

There was a concert from 8 to 9 and dancing from 9 to 1. The hall was beautifully decorated and the orchestra played behind a bower of palms on the stage.

Thomas W. Enogess was chairman of the committee, John E. Corcoran, secretary, and Frederick A. Perkins, treasurer, assisted by Francis J. Linehan, Charles Kramp, Joseph P. Murphy, Joseph Coakley, Arthur R. McCarthy, John J. Furdon, John Cushing and William Uriah Fogwill.

Routine Matter Considered By Aldermen on Holiday Evening. Adjourn at 9.20

The board of aldermen held their regular meeting Monday evening and went through a long docket, consisting mainly of routine business, in short order adjourning at 9.20 in spite of a twenty-minute recess for committee meetings. The meeting was held on the holiday because of the advertisement of hearings being made announcing this date several weeks ago. Aldermen Crosby, Earle, Gordon, Leahy, Lloyd, and Madden were absent.

The petition of Fontecchio & Company for a permit to keep and store gasoline for private use at 386 Langley Road, Newton Centre, was granted. Samuel Fontecchio stated that the gasoline was to be for private use. There was no opposition.

Hugh Boyd, representing Peter F. Butler and Thomas F. Tracy on their petition for a permit for a gasoline station on Adams street at the corner of Jones court, said that the petitioners intended to erect a drive-in station at this location. The entrance to the station was to be from Cook street and the exit to be onto Watertown street. A 15-foot driveway would be made around the building on the corner of Cook and Watertown streets. Mr. Boyd said that Nonantum needed a gasoline station as at the present time there was a monopoly of the business in that vicinity. There is only one station in the immediate vicinity and that is a swing-arm side-walk pump. The arm when swung out to give service to customers strikes against a post. This post necessitates the driver of the machine getting out into the middle of the car-tracks. Automobiles coming from Watertown must pass, turn around, and come back in order to get gasoline at this place. Regarding the danger of a drive-in station at the location under discussion Mr. Boyd said that his clients had been granted a permit by the Chief of Police to keep gasoline in small quantities in the store which they now run. SERVICES FOR OLDEST ELK SATURDAY

Funeral services for Captain Albert D. W. Sampson, who died last week in his ninety-fourth year, and who was the oldest member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and held membership also in several branches of the Masonic fraternity, as well as in other societies and clubs, were held last Saturday in Channing Unitarian Church at Newton.

There were delegations present from Dalhousie Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Newtonville; Newton Royal Arch Chapter, the Scottish Rite bodies, and Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templars; the Hunnewell Club, the Appalachian Mountain Club and Traffic Club, while a number of members of Newton Lodge of Elks marched from their home to the church.

The Masonic ritual was used in the services, being conducted by Worshipful Master George E. Ruthforth of Dalhousie Lodge, with the minister of the parish, Rev. Chester A. Drummond, serving as chaplain. Miss Ruth Tilton, at the organ, played Handel's "Largo." "Abide With Me," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

The body was taken to Duxbury where funeral services were conducted last Monday afternoon by Rev. John W. Wilson, minister of the Unitarian Church in that town.

DEATH OF MR. LITTLE

Mr. Henry C. Little, the last of the nephews of George Peabody, the philanthropist, died at the Newton Hospital, April 19, the result of a fall sustained at his home in West Newton, about four weeks ago.

Born at Pembroke, N. Y., in 1842, his early life was spent in New Hampshire, where he fitted for Andover, and from the latter place entered a business college. He owned the first telephone plant in Nashua, N. H., was treasurer of the Londonderry Lithia Company at one time, and was also associated with various family trusts. He spent years in foreign travel, being a connoisseur of art and literature.

For many years he owned considerable property at Marblehead Neck, being one of the early summer residents there. His first wife was Antoinette Knox of Pembroke, N. H. His daughter, Edith, married Dr. Winfield Smith of Boston. In 1896 Mr. Little married Caroline Nickerson of West Newton, who survives him.

Services were held on Tuesday at his home on Webster street. Rev. Paul S. Phalen of the Unitarian Church, West Newton, of which Mr. Little was a member, officiated, and the burial was at Mt. Auburn.

BUNDLE DAY APRIL 27TH

Bundle Day in Newton comes on Monday, April 27 and with the beginning of spring rises the thought of spring clothing being put aside. The near East has chosen this time for the collection of clothing in every part of our country. Massachusetts is called upon to collect half a million pounds for the relief of the needy in Armenia, Syria, Palestine, and Greece. Newton's response to these appeals has been increasing each year. Mayor Childs has given his approval of the effort made in this locality. The fire and police stations are to receive bundles as in the past two years. The boy scouts are distributing the interesting and artistic flyers throughout Newton, while posters in different localities tell the story of the need. Notices have been sent to many organizations with the request that the appeal be made to all interested to give generously as their part of the relief work.

"The annual collection of clothing is quite as urgently needed for the protection of refugees from the severe winter conditions of Northern Greece and Armenia as is the collection of funds for the care and feeding of 50,000 orphans in our charge," declared Dr. W. A. Bartlett, New England Director for Near East Relief.

"Clothing is practically unobtainable in many regions covered in our work and it serves as a medium of exchange by which we can barter with refugees adults for their labor or with peasants for their products—so that our orphans profit directly and we are able to relieve the distress of both child and grown-up."

"All work in connection with this campaign is voluntary. Even the trucking and shipping of collected clothing, which amounted to over a quarter of a million pounds last year, is undertaken by commercial concerns free of charge. Those wishing to do so, can greatly facilitate things by shipping bundles prepaid express or parcel post direct to the Near East Relief Warehouse, Army Base, rear of 58th street, Brooklyn, N. Y."

Leave a bundle at the nearest Police or Fire House on Monday, April 27, and know that you are helping this great work.

MAY-DU PONT

Miss Irene Sophie du Pont, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. du Pont of Granogue, Delaware, was married to Ernest Eugene May, formerly of Newton Centre, last Saturday in St. John's Church, Wilmington, Delaware. Rt. Rev. Philip Cook and Dr. Alban Richey performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her seven sisters, Miss Eleanor du Pont, maid of honor, and Misses Margaretta L. Constance S., Doris E. Marianna, Octavia M., and Lucille E. du Pont, as bridesmaids.

William May was best man for his brother, Colgate Darden, T. Wilson Alden, Donald F. Carpenter, Leonard Parkhurst, Crawford Greenwalt and Henry Robertson were the ushers.

The bride wore a white silk gown trimmed with duchess lace, with a veil of Brussels lace. She carried an old-fashioned silver bouquet, in which orchids predominated. The maid of honor wore a gown of applegreen and carried red roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of sunset rose with beaded girdles. Their bouquets were deep red roses.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. May of Cambridge, formerly of Newton Centre, and is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The bride is a member of the Junior League and a graduate of Vassar College, class of 1924. Her father is president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Du Pont at Granogue at 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. May will make their home in Merion, Penn., after a wedding trip through the south.

The parents of the groom were present at the wedding, as were also a number of friends from Boston and Cambridge. Prominent people from many other parts of the country also were present.

The wedding was in the same church where the marriage of the parents of the bride took place.

DEATH OF MRS. HALL

Mrs. Orianna A. Hall, wife of Hon. James N. W. Hall, a former mayor of Cambridge, died at her home, 97 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, last Saturday in her 81st year.

Mrs. Hall was born in Boston, and spent a great part of her married life in Cambridge. She has lived in Newton twenty years. During the early years in Newton she was active in the First Church, and her home on Lake avenue was the center of gracious hospitality. Her's was a character of unusual strength and sweetness which made itself felt in the community.

Besides her husband, she leaves four sons, James R., Henry B., Horace W., and Stanley B. Hall, and four daughters, Mrs. Addie Decker of Berkeley, Cal., Mrs. Albert E. Bailey, and Miss Helen Hall of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Orianna P. Wilkins of Chicago. There are also twenty-five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. A brother, William H. Breed and a sister, Mrs. Alice H. Croffman, live in Newton Centre.

The death of Mrs. Hall makes the second break in the family in the last fifty years, the first being the death of Lieut. Morris Hall Bailey in the service in December, 1919.

Services for Mrs. Hall were held at her late residence on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity Church officiating, assisted by Rev. Raymond Calkins, pastor of the church in Cambridge in which Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married. The burial was in Cambridge.

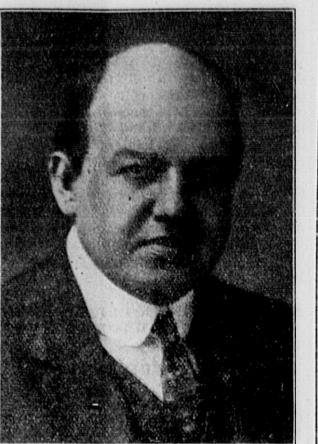

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the New England Peabody Society for Crippled Children will be held at the home, Oak Hill, Newton Centre, Mass., at 2 P. M., on Thursday, April 30, 1925.

MRS. JAMES B. HILL, Secretary.

JOINT CONVENTION AND COMMENCEMENT

Sunday School leaders in the Norumbega District—teachers and officers in the Church Schools of Newton, Waltham, Watertown and Belmont—will assemble for their annual District Convention, to conduct business to receive inspiration for further work in religious education, and to observe the second Community School Commencement.

PROF. O. W. WARMINGHAM

ment, on Tuesday evening, April 28, in the Newtonville Methodist Church. President Wm. H. Timble will preside. Supper will be served at 6:30 P. M., enlivened with songs by the Community School members and others. Professor H. C. Mayer of Auburndale will lead the singing.

Announcements of plans for the courses of study in the Community School will be made by Mr. Nathan Heard, chairman of that committee. The Young People's Council will be represented by its president, Horace Preble, and by a group of waiters and waitresses provided by the Council.

After reports and important business matters, the Commencement Exercises of the Community School will take place. To have completed three years of work in this School with twelve units of credits is a real achievement, especially considering that these graduates are all busy people, acting as volunteers in Sunday School work.

The speaker of the evening, Professor O. W. Warmingham of the Boston University School of Religious Education, will use as his topic, "The Glory of the Teacher's Task." Professor G. L. Miliken of Cleveland, O., was matron of honor. Walter G. Ferguson of West Roxbury, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Gordon Harriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harriman, was the bride's train-bearer. Ushers were Charles M. Cutler of Roxbury, Herriek Tappan of Boston, Kenneth Morse of Belmont, William T. Rich of this city and C. Yardley Clitnick of Newark, N. J.

The matron of honor wore a gown of orchid satin and carried yellow roses and blue larkspur.

FERGUSON-ROOT

Miss Elizabeth Root of 3 Winslow road, Belmont, and Warren Tebbets Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Ferguson of 78 LaGrange street, Chestnut Hill, were married last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, 825 Centre street, Newton, friends of the bride, by Rev. Eugene R. Shippen of the Second Church of Boston.

Miss Marion E. Douglas of Newton Centre, was maid of honor, and Mrs. D. L. Miliken of Cleveland, O., was matron of honor. Walter G. Ferguson of West Roxbury, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Gordon Harriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harriman, was the bride's train-bearer. Ushers were Charles M. Cutler of Roxbury, Herriek Tappan of Boston, Kenneth Morse of Belmont, William T. Rich of this city and C. Yardley Clitnick of Newark, N. J.

The groom of the maid of honor was of peach-colored satin, and she carried butterfly roses and orchid sweet peas.

The matron of honor wore a gown of orchid satin and carried yellow roses and blue larkspur.

A NEWTON INSTITUTION

In another part of the Graphic is an announcement featuring the 65th anniversary of the Hudson Drug Store. This famous old Newton establishment was started in 1860 by E. T. Billings. He was succeeded in 1876 by Arthur Hudson who conducted the store for 43 years. In 1919 the business was purchased by Bernard M. Burke, but Mr. Hudson has continued his association with the store in an advisory capacity.

When the Elliot Block was built over half a century ago, the store now occupied by the Paxton Confectionery Company was especially constructed for this long established drug store. Later the store moved to the Warner Block and about 30 years ago followed the trend of trade to Nonantum Square and settled in its present quarters. It was one of the first drug stores in the country to become equipped with a telephone. Doctor Hudson always keeping abreast of modern improvements.

At this time it is opportune to pay a deserved tribute to the man whose name this store bears. For half a century he has served faithfully the residents of Newton and vicinity. Before coming to this country from England he studied medicine and chemistry and not only is recognized as one of the leading chemists and bacteriologists of New England, but also has a knowledge of medicine that is exceeded by few.

For fifty years he has given freely of this knowledge to the poor of this city. For twenty years he has served as bacteriologist and milk inspector for Newton receiving a salary utterly inadequate for the work he has done. Well past three score and ten he is still performing his duties with skill and fidelity.

Mr. B. M. Burke, the present owner, has endeavored to continue the high standard at which the store was maintained by Doctor Hudson and which has won for it a place on the selected list of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, the official organ of the Massachusetts Medical Society.

Mr. Burke received the degree of Doctor of Pharmacy from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy.

Y. M. C. A.

With the advent of warmer weather we naturally turn to thoughts of outdoors—our vacation, camping in the mountains, at the shore, or in a word, outdoor recreation of some sort.

Some of us will take an active interest in golf, tennis, base ball, or whichever our hobby may be. But at some time during the warm weather most of us get to the shore or lakeside for bathing.

It is a well-known fact that mankind fears only that of which he is ignorant or that which is a mystery to him. If a boy or man cannot swim he naturally and instinctively fears the water. This should not be so as swimming experts have proven to us that practically every human can float.

If you have not acquired the art of swimming, it is your duty and obligation to learn simply because it may mean the saving of your own life some time. It is much easier if you learn when a boy and it is always advisable to learn as early in life as possible, but it is never too late to learn and if you have gone on through life without learning you should do so now.

Feeling at home in the water gives one the joy and sense of satisfaction about going off for the summer to the shore or lakeside for bathing. One feels a certain keenness and anticipation in taking part in water sports particularly during the summer. You are going to miss this if you have not acquired the art of swimming.

Members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. may receive instruction in one of its beginners' classes. The "Y" also provides for private lessons. Arrangements can also be made for non-members. This instruction is given at our own pool by competent instructors. You are invited to call by phone or personally for an interview in order to make arrangements for this private instruction.

It is a little time now in learning to swim and you will enjoy your vacation without a doubt. Acquire that assurance and self confidence which comes to one who swims well.

COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Under the auspices of the Newton Centre Council of Religious Education there has been formed a cabinet to promote the first Community Mothers' and Daughters' banquet.

At a meeting held at the Trinity Parish House, Tuesday afternoon, April 21, the following officers were chosen: President, Mary Robinson; Vice President, Virginia Williams; Secretary, Bertha Appleby; Treasurer, Helen Washburn. Five committees were formed: Reception, by Congregationalists; Menu, by Methodists; Program, by Episcopalians; Decorations, by Baptists and Tickets by Unitarians.

A banquet is to be held at the Congregational Church on Friday evening, May 15 at 6:30. Margaret Slattery will speak and is to have as her subject, "The Crystal Maze." All Newton Centre girls between the ages of thirteen and twenty are invited with their mothers or a substitute.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Little Miss Bluebird"

A song play by Avery Hopwood will be presented by the Boston Stock Company at the St. James Theatre next week. Irene Bordoni was seen in the title role of this piece earlier in the season at a downtown house, and Managing Director George A. Giles has again been fortunate in securing for presentation a popular recent success. Elsie Hiltz, leading lady of the company, will be seen in the Bordoni role. Miss Hiltz has a lovely singing voice and this play with its characteristic Bordoni songs will give the St. James leading lady opportunity to use it. Her wardrobe next week also promises to be especially interesting. Bernard Nedell has the role of bachelor friend. Houston Richards has a screamingly funny role. Other important roles will be handled by Ralph Remley, John Collier, Roberta Lee Clark, Olive Blakeney, Louis Leon Hall and Marie Laloz.

SCHOOL NOTES

Bigelow School

A very successful Minstrel Show, under the auspices of the Bigelow Athletic Association, was given in the Assembly Hall on Thursday, April 16. Dennis Nally, Carl Freier, Henry Bernier, Edward Broderick, Frank Thomas and William Bell were end men; Walter Wrye, Interlocutor; and the chorus comprised the following: Andrew Buckley, Walter Warren, Norman Drummond, Wellington Pratt, Daniel Goodridge, Frank Jordan, Charles Glueck, James Dalton, Malcolm Hatch, J. Monahan, Clifford Pratt, George Deffen, Donald Berrio, Robert Currier, Alexander Pratt, Paul Ross, and Bunny McNeil. Miss Stearns was accompanist, Frank Jordan gave a saxophone solo, and Daisy Bernier danced with Paul Macken as her partner. The hall was filled with an appreciative audience whose enthusiastic response met with generous response from both soloists and chorus.

The highest attendance average for the past four weeks was made by Miss Hamilton's class, 96.5. Miss Chase's class was second with an average of 95.7, and Miss Nixon's class third with 95 per cent.

Mr. Clarke of the Newton Savings Bank was the speaker at Assembly last Friday morning. He urged the value, at an early age, of the habit of saving and investing spare pennies. He gave some striking instances of the way in which money may be made to earn money. Then followed a moving picture put out by the Mutual Savings Bank of Massachusetts. It told the story of a lad who saved money in his youth and had it to use later for things of great value.

Lasell

After a ten days' recess, Lasell Seminary and Woodland Park opened on Monday for the Spring session.

Friday afternoon, April 24, at four o'clock the pupils of the French department of the Woodland Park School, will entertain the Lasell students at Bragdon Hall, the program consisting of—Scenes from "Myles Standish" Scenes from "Barbe Bleue" and a Few French songs. The program will be in charge of Ellen C. B. Hemmeon, instructor in French.
On Saturday afternoon, April 25, in the Gym at Bragdon Hall, the seniors will be hostesses of the Juniors—the party is to be in form of a Garden Fete.

In place of the regular Vesper service on Sunday, April 26, the girls will go to the Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale, where the musical drama "Amos" is to be given by the members of the church choir.
Tuesday evening, April 28, the French Club under the direction of Mademoiselle Le Royer, will present a French play in the Gym at Bragdon Hall.

West Newton Music School

In observance of National Music Week a concert will be held at the Technical High School, Walnut street, Newtonville, on Friday evening, May 8th, at 7.45. The High School Orchestra and Glee Club and the Senior Orchestra of the West Newton Music School will give the program, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Fyfe, Director of the West Newton Music School and Miss Lillian Wesh, Head of the Piano Department. The public are cordially invited and there is no charge for admission.

The final recital of the year at the Peirce School, West Newton, will be held on Saturday evening, May 2nd at 7.30. There will be violin, piano, cello, a clarinet solo and both Junior and Senior Orchestras will take part. All who are interested are cordially invited.

MINSTREL SHOW

"The Hole in One Minstrels," by members of the Charles River Country Club, will be presented tomorrow evening in the clubhouse of the Charles River Country Club.

The book, score and lyrics are by Chapin, and fifteen men will appear in the numbers. The end men, in black face, white knickers and lavender slip-on sweaters will be Bob Chapin, Gus Beatty, Charlie Johnson and George Murphy. Dan Callaghan will be interlocutor and others will include Dan Follett, J. K. Mason, F. M. Butts, Bob Steiner, Bob Holdsworth, Ralph MacLellan, Frank Nathan, Wilbur Cobb and William A. Alexander. Music will be furnished on two pianos, by Frank Anderson and Bob Nichols, in ensemble and solo numbers. Butts, Alexander, Follett and Cobb will contribute old favorites as the "Agony Quartet."

Special solo numbers will be "My Girl Refused Me a Kiss in a Canoe, So I Padded Her Back," by Chapin; "Don't Go Around With a Married Woman Unless You Can Go Two Rounds With Her Husband," by Johnson, while Jimmie Barry's famous song, "She Went Away Without a Wedding Ring, Without That Band of Gold," will be sung by Beatty.

COLLEGE CLUB'S ANNUAL BALL

Members of the Boston College Clubs of Newton and Waltham will join, for the evening of April 30, in presenting a formal ball and concert at Nuttings on the Charles. Thursday evening of next week will mark the first attempt of the Clubs to present their annual social event in union. Representatives of Newton on the general committee are: John McGrath, John Schultz, Charles Maher, James Dunn, Lawrence McNeil, Charles Monahan and Lawrence Lombardi.

Tables along esplanade giving a good view of floor will be reserved for those who so desire. The colors of the college will have a prominent place, among the decorations. The list of patronesses is as yet incomplete, but the offers of the former have been most generous and gratifying.

THE DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club of the Newton High School gave three plays last Thursday and Friday in the hall of the Technical High School.

The first, "The Silent System" by Brander Matthews, was a truly feminine play in which Miss Savage did all the acting. Mr. Bacon trying in vain to get in a word. Mr. Bacon managed, however, to express his feelings without the aid of words.

The second play, "The Maker of Dreams," a dainty fantasy by Oliphant Down, was played with much elusive charm by Miss Mary Sheehan assisted by Robert Grant and Angelo Altieri. One wondered how the obtuse Pierrot could have failed to see the attractiveness of Pierrette until aided by the "Maker of Dreams."

The third play, Booth Tarkington's ghost story, a story so natural and typical of the adolescent youth, was thoroughly appreciated by the youthful members of the audience, and those not so young who remembered their youth.

The part of "George," the bashful youth, was very well done by Richard Miller, as was the part of the heroine, played by Alice Howley. These two were assisted by Leonice Bellamy, Helen Fine, Carolyn Pomeroy, Arthur Shute, Henry Wood, Ellis Bowen, Carleton Redman, and Gertrude Davis.

Others who assisted in making the evening a success were Miss Wetherbee, play director; Robert Grant, business manager; Mary Sheehan, Maurice Hoffman, assistant business managers; Francis Hannigan, Doris Mason, Elizabeth Hall, Ellis Bowen, and Percy Williams, members of the stage committee; Meredith Stuart, Mae Wachtel, Rita Lovely, William Blakeney and James Hapgood, in charge of properties; Mary Palmer, Leonice Bellamy, Constance Healy, Carleton Redman, and Lewis Swartz, publicity committee.

Much credit must also be given to the High School Orchestra under Mr. Harrington which rendered their selections with much spirit and evident enjoyment.

BOY SCOUTS

Another substantial new cabin has been completed in the "Ohio" the Council Camping grounds in Dover, Troop 7 of the Second Church, West Newton being the proud owners of a fourteen by twenty foot cabin, which is about ready to use for overnight hikes. The work was begun the sixteenth and very rapid progress made in getting the frame up and the roof in place. This is the largest of the cabins built in the Ohio, making the fifth one to be built.

The plays given by troop 11 of Newton at the Eliot Church Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week were well selected, well learned and exceedingly well rendered. Marshall Fellows, Assistant Scoutmaster did a good job of coaching the teams into shape and in addition took a difficult part in "Well, I Declare" as Dr. Dalton, directed the second play, "Squaring it with the Boss" and played the tenor banjo in the orchestra between the acts! All the parts were so well done that it was difficult to draw comparisons. John Gardner made a sweet "Beth" in the second play and William Gramzow a very amusing baby. Norman Bruce's acting in the second play was striking. John Fellows and Wilfred Wetherbee made a very good pair of "Maiden Aunts" and Richard McTarnahan shone in both plays, taking the part of the "Boss" in the second part, which was an especially difficult part. The tickets sold well and the house was well filled both evenings.

Five Boy Scouts from Peabody Home, Newton Centre, members of troop five, were guests of Mrs. Carley at the Troop 11 play Monday evening. They were John Tasker, Louis Slavin, John Didovitz, Clarence Johnson and John Alenskis. Mr. Howard P. Perry, Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 5, assisted in the transportation of the Scouts and made one of the party.

Troop 3 of West Newton had their installation last evening with Scoutmaster Reichert, his brother Frederick as Assistant and ten Scouts. The Troop Committee is composed of Messrs. Fred L. Smith, Jas. H. Chandler and Edward F. Monaghan. Meetings will be held at the old Fire House Friday evenings.

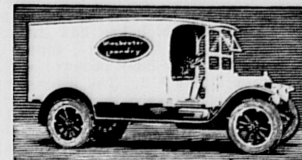

Court of Honor at Lincoln Park Baptist Church Tuesday evening the 28th, at 7.30 P. M. Scoutmasters meeting at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening the 29th, to discuss the Rally. Council members and Patrol Leaders welcome.

GRADE "A" MILK is the most important step in the development of a completely satisfactory milk supply since the introduction of pasteurization.

Grade "A" Milk means better milk, richer milk, better cows, cleaner dairies, more prosperous farmers, and a more satisfactory milk for babies and children at a price that makes it available for the entire family.

It means a better package, for the bottle is not only capped in the usual way but in addition the neck and lip of the bottle are covered with a protecting seal that is practically tamper proof.

Every farm on which our Grade "A" Milk is produced is under the rigid inspection of our own inspectors and the city and town inspectors as well. Each individual cow must have a health certificate furnished by a qualified veterinarian who examines her at regular intervals.

Dairy conditions must measure up to an advanced conception of dairy sanitation and methods of handling are keyed up to a standard of cleanliness that years ago would have been regarded as a fad.

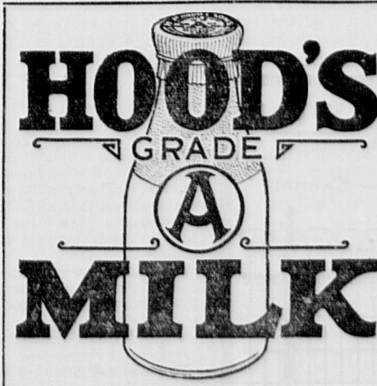

And to these safeguards and precautions we add the safety insurance of Hood pasteurization.

Rich milk—4% butter fat—clean milk, in a sterile bottle with a cap and outer seal, produced to meet the exacting requirements of babies and children.

Hood's Grade "A" Milk is offered to you with the knowledge that it fulfills every ethical and scientific demand that could be made on a milk supply.

We want you to try this richer, better milk, in the sealed bottle. Note the deep cream line. Note the fine flavor of fresh milk. The first bottle will disclose to you its superior qualities. Try it for one month.

Call any Hood wagon and leave your order with the salesman in charge, or address a postal card to H. P. Hood & Sons, and just say, "Start Grade 'A' tomorrow." You will like this Grade "A" Milk and babies and children surely deserve it.

EDITORIAL

It is truly a word on wheels we live in. Last year new motor vehicles cost the world three and a third billion dollars.

Department of Commerce informs us that during the year there were assimilated 3,300,000 passenger cars and trucks and 200,000 motorcycles. Average price per car was $1000, per motorcycle $300.

Twenty-five years ago the automobile was an experiment. Today there is one to every six persons—or nearly so.

Massachusetts may well emulate the action of Florida residents as evidenced by the following editorial from the Jacksonville Times-Union:—

"Most Florida cities believe in a straight jail sentence for drunk automobile drivers, and the judges give them 'their medicine,' ranging from thirty to sixty days. Eventually the driver with a 'shot of hooch' in his system will shut an automobile like he would a rattlesnake."

The finest health tonic we have been able to find is hard work and lots of it. Actually we have grown fat on it and unhesitatingly recommend it to all others.

BURR TENNIS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Burr Tennis Association was held last Saturday evening. The following officers were elected:—Chairman, Lawrence W. Trowbridge; Secretary, Caroline M. Fisher; Treasurer, C. H. Clark; Executive Committee, Elinor Marsh, Katherine Sprague, Grace Sutcliffe, Francis Broughton, George A. Bishop, Ralph C. Henry, Irving Reade.

Notices and registration blanks were mailed this week for the Spring Tournaments which are to commence as soon as possible. If there are any who did not receive blanks, they may obtain these from the Secretary, 260 Franklin street, from Hahn's Specialty Shop, and at the playground. These blanks should be returned to the secretary before April 28th.

All residents of Wards 1 and 7 are eligible for membership. Members who pay the annual fee of one dollar may enter all tournaments for the year 1925, without further payment of fees. Only those who are sixteen years of age or under on May first may enter Boys' Singles or Girls' Singles.

For the older players, there will be Men's Doubles, Mixed Doubles, Women's Singles, and Men's Singles. The latter two tournaments are for the permanent trophies now held by Avis Trowbridge and Abbott Gottshall. These were presented by the Newton Improvement Association and the Community Club. Silver medals will be awarded to the winners of the other tournaments. The cups and medals are now in the window of Hahn's Specialty Shop.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

State House, Boston—Daily sessions of the General Court are brief these days. There are seldom calendars of any great length and the matters confronting the legislators are disposed of with reasonable speed. As is often the case the possibility of an early prorogation rests with the attitude of the Legislature and the Governor towards several pieces of highly important legislation. One of these is the bill to rehabilitate the finances of the Boston & Maine railroad. The fact that it was not filed until last week and then, after a hearing before the Joint Rules Committee, admitted under a suspension of the rules, has aroused perhaps a trifle more than the ordinary amount of interest such a bill might be expected to command. At the same time some legislators are saying, "Why did they wait until we were getting ready to prorogue before they introduced such a measure?"

The casual observer, however, is disposed to think that the railroad has made out an excellent case and that any fair-minded individual will not be prejudiced against the proposed measure because it was not offered earlier in the year. The Committee on Railroads, which has had little to do for the past few years, found itself unexpectedly busy because of this Boston & Maine bill. The proponents of the measure were thoroughly prepared and lost no time in presenting their arguments and the facts which supported them. It is generally believed that the bill will be passed. A rumor that Governor Fuller might veto the measure is not thought to be well founded. The Governor is as well informed about such matters as any member of the General Court and his decision, it may be assumed, will be a wise one. Just what objections a railroad such as this bill has to the rumor mongers' pretense to say. The very fact they can give no reason gives little support to the story he may disapprove it.

The three Representatives from this city stood squarely behind Governor Fuller in his opposition to the bill authorizing the savings banks of the State to invest in certain railroad equipment securities. When there was a roll call last Tuesday on passing the bill notwithstanding the veto of His Excellency Messrs. Hollis, Luitweiler and Saltonstall voted with the 211 who sustained the Governor. There were only 10 who voted against the Governor and they included members of the Committee on Banks and Banking which had reported the bill and whose members apparently felt they should cling to their convictions under all circumstances. Although the Senate had overridden the Governor's veto on this bill the fact that the House took the opposite view was sufficient to sustain Gov. Fuller. At the time the Senate overrode the Governor it was felt that the members of the upper branch had a chip on their shoulder and were more or less eager the Governor should get a glimpse of that chip. It did not seem to disturb him as subsequent events proved.

Why the House should have done so much backing and filling over certain bills to make more strict the laws governing the operation of automobiles is rather hard to understand. It rejected several that had been recommended by the special committee appointed last year to study motor traffic operations. The only one it saved was that to limit the speed of automobiles to 35 miles an hour. This was not put through until the House had rejected it and then decided to reconsider its rejection. It was defeated on every stage but was finally passed to be engrossed last Wednesday. Mr. Hollis took the floor to indorse it. He and Mr. Luitweiler voted for it on rollcall and Mr. Saltonstall voted against it. There is some doubt as to the attitude of the Senate on this measure.

The fact that Monday was a holiday has put matters back a little and in addition the legislators have felt that their attendance at the opening baseball games was imperative. The two facts have not hastened the disposition of important matters, although it cannot be said they have been responsible for serious delays.

Senator Rice of this city did his best to defeat the bill authorizing small towns to appropriate $500 a year to be paid a physician who might be induced by this consideration to take up his residence in a community not otherwise served by a resident physician. Senator Rice argued that a physician who established himself under such circumstances was likely to become a "poohbah." It will be remembered that a survey of the State made by the State Department of Health last summer showed a number of growing communities in which there was no resident physician. The Health Department recommended to the Legislature that there should be some way of inducing young physicians to set themselves up in small towns and not only benefit themselves but help the townspeople who might be injured, become sick or for some other cause require the services of a

The Senate rejected the bill referred to in this column last week and which provided that a petitioner for legislation should be required to pay a fee of $2 with every bill filed. The idea seemed a good one but some of the Senators conceived the notion that it would be depriving some of the people of their rights to petition for legislation whenever they saw fit. These Senators did not seem to consider the enormous expense involved and the consequent drain on the purses of the taxpayers made necessary by useless and freak bills. No doubt an attempt will be made next year to obtain such legislation. In fact those who believe in the bill will keep at it until they accomplish something. At least that is what they say at present.

As has already been stated several bills that should receive the most careful consideration have been left for the last. In doing this the 1925 General Court has simply followed the custom of its predecessors. There remain besides the Boston & Maine bill the bill providing for reciprocal insurance, the compulsory automobile liability bill, the proposed motor traffic bill and one or two other measures which cannot be disposed of without debate. It is true that this year there seems to be a general disposition to put everything over until next year. Because of that the bill here mentioned may meet such a fate.

Yesterday both branches adopted orders for the holding of double sessions. This is intended to expedite business by making two full legislative days grow where one grew before, so to speak.

Representative Luitweiler was one of those who fought hard to have legislation enacted that would bring about the creation of a motor traffic board. He was obliged to stand up against the Ways and Means Committee and although he did his best he was not successful. In his address to the House Mr. Luitweiler said that the question had already been investigated by eleven separate bodies. It was about time, he declared, that investigations be ended and action taken. The bill was rejected, however, by a standing vote of 102 to 63.

Speaking of investigations it is quite likely that this year's Legislature will recommend the creation of numerous recess committees to investigate this and that important matter. Apparently the fact there have been numerous investigations of most of the subjects is not going to prevent more inquiries. The Legislature has always been partial to the careful and profound study of perplexing problems. It is a nice way of "passing the buck" and naturally is popular.

With so many matters referred to the next annual session it now appears that the General Court of 1926 would have its hands full without any additional legislation being introduced. That means that while prorogation is reached early this year the session next year will be a long one.

Home Nursing: Lieutenants M. Ball, Leighton, Scouts Marshall, Barber, Smith, and Partridge.

Child Nurse: Lieutenant Leighton, Scouts Marshall, Barber and Partridge.

Hostesses: Captain Skipwith, Lieutenants Phileigh and Jack, Scouts Barba, Brown, Watts, Mellus, and McOsen.

Committee members who are helping: Mrs. Strohmer, Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Hodges.

Hoarhound was planted in the garden at Camp Mary Day last Saturday and it is hoped that a large quantity of the herb will be gathered to supply the needs of Newton next year. In spite of the dubious beginning of the holiday last Monday, a number of scouts from Troop 3 seniors hiked to camp and spent a busy day there. They worked on the tennis court, painted screens, mended tents and washed windows. On Tuesday a group of girls from Troop VIII hiked to camp for a part of the day. This Troop also helped "Clear up" and enjoyed their games all the better for having done their good turns.

LIGGETT HOME ROBBED

The home of Louis K. Liggett, millionaire druggist, at 185 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, was entered Tuesday night in some unknown manner and burglarized. The exact extent of the loss is not known, but it is roughly estimated that jewelry valued at approximately $50,000 was stolen. The burglars worked quietly, disturbing no one in the house, and did no damage. The result of their work points to the fact that they were well acquainted with the house and grounds, and there is a decided lack of clues.

The matter was reported to the Newton police, and Inspectors Goode and Shaughnessy immediately went to work on the case.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The Annual Show of the Hunnewell Club will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 28th and 29th. The following are in charge: Mr. P. S. Jamieson, Dr. L. H. Naylor, Carl Peirce, E. O. Loring, D. A. White, H. P. Curtiss, P. Turchon, E. P. Scofield.

would be no more danger than from an underground tank. The traffic on Cook street is light and there are not many children in the vicinity.

Mr. James F. Magher appearing in behalf of Mr. Samuel Cone, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Mary Dunne, and others opposed the petition. Mr. Magher stated that there was not a monopoly of the business in the vicinity as there were several stations within a short distance. He also said that the building on the corner of Cook street would be a blind to pedestrians and motorists approaching the contemplated driveway. Children from the Stearns school, which is nearby, would introduce a large element of danger into the matter. An annoyance, created by the blowing of horns, would also result and Mr. Magher, in behalf of his clients, asked that the petitioners be given leave to withdraw. At a former hearing Mr. Tracy, one of the petitioners for this permit, was given leave to withdraw on his petition for a sidewalk pump at the same location.

The petition of Nellie K. Cameron for a permit for a 3-car private garage at 389 Newtonville avenue, was favored by George B. Cameron, who explained to the board that he owned two cars and as a two-family house was being built at the location he wanted the third space for the other family.

L. D. Saunders of Langley road, Newton Centre, appeared in favor of the laying out, etc., of Elgin street under the betterment law. He said that this road was in bad shape and it would be difficult for fire apparatus to get near a fire at the lower end of the street.

A show of hands showed that there were ten persons present in favor of the laying out, etc., of Hawthorn street, Newtonville, under the betterment law.

The various petitions were referred to the proper committees. A communication from the Mayor regarding the bus service for high school pupils on Walnut street was received.

Alderman George Pratt said that the committees had met upon the matter and had agreed to a conference with the City Solicitor, at which time it was hoped a tentative contract would be laid before the Finance committee. This matter has been hanging fire for a year and it is now hoped to bring it to a head. In his communication the Mayor recommended that the aldermen appropriate $10,000 per year for five years for bus service by the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway for high school pupils.

Another communication from the Mayor in which he asked that he and the City Solicitor be authorized to transfer to John MacGrath the house now occupied by him on Washington and Myrtle streets as part of the settlement of the latter's claim for damages in the matter of the Auburndale-West Newton Junior high school.

The Mayor also suggested that the board consider the advisability of applying to the Legislature for legislation permitting the city to ask for $250,000 outside of the debt limit. This sum to be spent for the construction of a water main on Commonwealth avenue.

The Edison and Telephone Companies were granted several locations for poles and attachments.

Hearings were assigned for Monday, May 4th, on the closing of Elm road, Newtonville, during school sessions; on the petition of Walter F. Bryson for waiver of the set-back line on Wyoming street, Newtonville; on the petition of Fritz Beckhahn for a waiver of the set-back line on East Boulevard road, Newtonville; and on the taking of land for a sewer on Waban avenue and private land.

A hearing was assigned for May 18th on the petition of Mrs. D. W. Colson for a change in the zoning ordinance placing property on Altham and Cherry streets, West Newton, near the Waltham line, from the general residence to the private residence zone.

An appropriation of $512 was made to the street department for the completion of the sewer in Locksley road, Newton Centre.

A petition by Arnold Hartman for a permit to operate a private conveyance between the River Country Club, Oak Hill Village, and the R. R. station was referred to the proper committee.

Leave to withdraw was granted several petitioners. Among these were the Massachusetts Sand & Gravel Co. for a permit to sell gasoline on their property on Needham street and the Edison Co. for an underground conduit on Kenmore street.

The rules were suspended and the Mayor was authorized to accept a right of way over land of Quinobquin road, Waban, for a sewer easement. Mrs. Jessie G. Gould was the donor.

The usual list of licenses at this time of year were granted. About three hundred and fifty, mostly renewals, had been reported favorably and Licenses.

The following private garages for not more than two cars were granted: Mabel G. Casselbury, 188 Franklin street, Ward 7, 2-car in dwelling.

Thomas Gorham, 425 Chestnut street, Ward 3, 2-car in dwelling.

Charles Hicks & L. G. Fraser, 1778-1780 Commonwealth avenue, Ward 4, 2-car in dwelling.

The annual open meeting of the Upper Falls Improvement Society was held at the Auditorium last Wednesday evening. At seven o'clock business meeting was held for all members and a full report of all the fine work accomplished by the Society was presented. At eight o'clock a very fine program of movies, and vocal selections by the Delmont Quartette was enjoyed by the large audience.

"OUTSIDE THE GREEN LINE"

"Outside the Green Line," a four act drama of the American Revolution was given on Patriots' Day in the High School Auditorium of the Church of Our Lady, Newton.

The scenes were laid in Pennsylvania during the Revolutionary War, and the atmosphere of those stirring times was well reproduced.

A large cast took part, the leading parts in which were taken by Mrs. James A. O'Donnell, Miss Mazie Shea, Miss Mary Delaney, Joseph Murphy, and Mr. Joseph Campbell. Others taking part were John J. Fitzgerald, Thomas Grogan, James Aikens, Lawrence Lombardi, John Miskella, Francis Whelan, Charles Maher, Henry Walsh, James A. O'Donnell.

Between the acts, musical numbers were rendered by the Irish Pipers of Boston under the direction of Michael J. Twomey, assisted by Miss Alice Sweeney at the piano.

There was a large and enthusiastic audience.

—On Monday evening, April 27, at 6:30, there will be a joint meeting of the Mens' Clubs of the various churches of the village, at the Congregational Church. Supper will be served, followed by Frank P. Sibley, of the "Boston Globe," as speaker, and "stunts" by each of the clubs. There will be a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Monday at 2 o'clock—Surgical Dressings, Sewing, Knitting. On Monday, April 27, will be held the annual Near East Bundle Day for the relief of the afflicted people in Bible Lands. Police and fire stations in Newton will receive all packages of warm clothing.

—There will be special memorial music at Trinity Church before the service Sunday morning, beginning at 10:30. It will be rendered by Mrs. Allen Hubbard, violin, Miss Virginia Farmer, cello, and Mr. Arnold, organ. As an introit after the prayers the beautiful "Largo" from Dvorak's "New World Symphony" will be played. This beautiful music will be a memorial to one who all her life was devoted to church music and church work; and who entered into life eternal three years ago. If the congregation, as many as possible, were in their seats at 10:30, they would be amply rewarded by the beautiful music; and it would be a gracious and considerate act of appreciation.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

State Federation

Two conferences of the State Federation, of interest to all clubwomen, and especially to committees, are arranged for the 27th of April and the 13th of May. For the former date the Music Department has an open luncheon conference at 12.30 o'clock at the Copley-Plaza Hotel. Miss Dai Buell will play and give a short talk on "Music Appreciation," and Miss Mary Dervan will sing. It is always pleasing to our club and civic pride to see how "our own" are almost at ways found heading the list for every function, receiving merited recognition in every field of talent. Miss Buell's reputation as a musician is more than Newton-known, and—to be less serious—she certainly does not need to initiate anyone into "Music Appreciation" where her own good work is concerned.

The Art Department has a Spring Conference at the Boston Art Club, Dartmouth street, Wednesday, the 13th, when reports will be made. At the same time the morning session, which opens at 10.30, and Prof. Albert E. Bailey of Boston University will give an illustrated lecture on "How to read a Picture." An afternoon session at 2 P. M. will include suggestions for work and programs, and there will be two speakers of interest: Mr. C. Howard Walker, whose subject is "The Consideration of Art," and Mr. Blossom, whose topic is not stated.

But the EVENT of most interest to Newton women just now is the splendid trip planned to Cedar Hill, Waltham, for Friday, May 1st. Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, Chairman of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs Conservation Committee will be glad to arrange for transportation by automobile from the various sections of our City if clubwomen who wish to go on this wonderful nature trip will let her know at once—N. N. 1129-W. At 10.15 the "walks" begin with a vivid word picture: "Cedar Hill, Its Place in Girl Scout Nature Study," by our own clever Dorothy Dean (you were told just a few lines ago how we of Newton always are in the forefront of the famous!), and at 11 o'clock Mrs. Neal will lead a group to see "Nature Along the Brookside," while Mrs. Riese will lead another group for a "Bird Walk," and Miss Chapin will lead those who wish to take a "Tree Walk." At 1.00 P. M. there will be luncheon at Mansion House, or members may take their own luncheon, and at 2 o'clock a nature talk: "Making Nature Study a Vital Living Thing," will be given by Mrs. H. V. Neal.

Is there any better way to spend "May Day" than to come in contact with Nature under the fascinating and informed guidance of worth-while leaders?

Newton Federation

Tuesday morning at the Newton Club was Board Meeting—the last one before Annual Meeting of May 12th, and the last one over which Mrs. Ernest Cobb, who has led us for the past year, will preside. There was a touch of sadness in this thought for those whom she has stood loyally by in our various branches of work, whom she has aided and encouraged when hurdles appeared looming in our committee paths. We regret to see her leave us before taking the entire time allotted a Federation President, but we wish her success and happiness in the work we know she feels she must no longer neglect.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Herbert E. Child, called attention to the clause in the by-laws which states that the individual club dues are payable at the annual meeting of the Federation, and are based on the per capita at ten cents for the membership as shown the previous year of said club. It is evident that this provision was made because it is obviously quite impossible for a club treasurer to know the exact membership for this present time while dues of members are coming in. An interesting feature was the report that over one hundred dollars has been contributed by the various clubs toward the sum hoped to be raised by the Federation to give to the Community Band Concerts for the summer, and $65. has already been contributed toward the travelling expense of the school visiting teacher.

Mrs. Starkweather, Civics Chairman, reported that the Street Commissioner is assured of $6,000 appropriation for new street lights—a long-felt need! And that eight or ten new rubbish cans have been placed—not only placed, but to the location of club women taken as to the location of such necessary aids to the beauty of our city! The campaign for more fitting location of bill-boards and the improvement of their unsightliness showed that, if all who were asked to write letters to such advertisers seeking co-operation, fulfilled their obligation, over 250 letters were sent where they ought to do some good! More power to the idea, and its carrying out! Quite sensibly this campaign has for its object not the abolishment of bill-boards, but the restriction of them to commercial districts, rather than to country spots where landscape beauty is destroyed—to no purpose. It is assumed that advertisers desire the good will of the public, not their unkindness and disgust. Whether that assumption is correct, and whether or not advertisers deserve credit for such wisdom, remains to be proven by the result of the kindly criticism of clubwomen. Tobacco advertisers seem to have acquired the reputation for greatest need of improvement of their methods of ad-writing—which is interesting, to say the least.

The Legislative Chairman, Miss Coolidge, gave "Late News Flashlight" on the bills of the year's study, and resume of the manner of debate before Legislature, with quotations from the various kinds of Senators. These sidights on character might be rather a rude awakening to certain men from Boston districts could they "see themselves as others see them," and were received with appreciation and much merriment by the Board.

Mrs. Goodridge, in a splendid talk upon the May Day Walks at Cedar Hill, made all wish they could join this party, and inspired them with the truth of her sage utterance: "The Study of Nature is the origin of all that is fine and of all the best that we do." For a full description of this conservation plan read notes under State Federation program.

You will then immediately call Mrs. Goodridge, it is hoped, and have a wonderful day! Mrs. C. W. Bond gave a talk on "Near East Bundle Day," and everyone began to puzzle as to just what they had left, after all the "rummage" appeals, that they could send for this good work. She made quite clear and touching the unhappy condition of the very old and very young in their helplessness—the support and strength of their families torn from them by Turkish outrages—wandering without initiative, since days of vigor had not come or were long since past. Clothing is the greatest need for these—the children and aged—and we know that Newton will do her share in this great work, and more!

Mrs. Goodridge, as Chairman of Membership for the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., made an excellent appeal for membership of all Newton women for the furtherance of the work of the service of the Y. M. C. A. of so small a fee, but of so far-reaching a result for good.

Miss Margaret Aubin, whose interest and kind offices have so long been in the welfare of the Y. W. C. A., told of their needs and fine work, and of the drive planned next November for awakening all Newton to the opportunity to serve here as an ideal cause.

Mr. Warren Brimblecom, representing the Newton Graphic, brought closer to clubwomen the service of his paper and the possibilities for greater service to the needs and growth of our community. Suggestions as to material of value to women of Newton, and as to increasing circulation brought out various angles of thought and ideas that may be worked out.

A guest of honor, with a message of Art appreciation, was Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, State Chairman of Art. Her campaign for beautifying road-sides, making slightly the shacks of "hot dog" vendors and making more dignified the small filling stations—both of which dot and blot the Summer Landscape for autoists—made an impression for its practical value, and common-sense idealism.

Recent Events

The 21st was Annual Meeting day for two clubs, whose programs were most interesting, inspiring, and delightful. The Newtonville Woman's Club held its luncheon at one o'clock at the Central Congregational Church, and in the banquet hall proceeded to the reading of reports and election of new officers. A goodly attendance marked the close of the club year, and the good time rewarded them. Besides the excellent luncheon, made more attractive by the charming baskets of flowers on the head table, there were other excellent features.

In the hall there was a most varied and interest-provoking collection of arts and crafts, and paintings, and embroideries, and all manner of examples of nimble fingers, nimble wits, and developed talent! Water colors and sketches and clever caricatures, with one another in provoking appreciation of ability. Mrs. Stevens, Miss Nellie Eddy, Mrs. E. A. Strong, Mrs. Tolman, Mr. C. J. H. Wilson, Mr. Fred Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ripley, and Guyas Williams giving rich examples of their educated brushes and pens kept observers standing for some time before they could tear themselves away to view the other works.

The gardens of color, some of the ship scenes and the foreign pictures with their fascinating Italian backgrounds were especially lovely. Mr. Farnham's engravings and book plates gave food for thought in possibilities for personal treasures, and the designs of the Sanborn Studios were worth study.

Passing on to needle work the bed spreads made one almost break the commandment as to covetousness, and the Italian Cut Work, and Laces, made one pause to search the intricacies. Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Donald Rust, Mrs. Fred Rust, Mrs. Parker, Miss Owen and Miss Gammons came into this group of exhibitors. Beautiful china by Miss Cora Carter, leather novelties by Mrs. Stevens, lampshades, novelties and china by Mrs. Grant, most brilliant hammered brass and desk sets by Mr. Kuntz, bewitching scarves by Mrs. Woodward Blair, appetite-provoking home-made candies by Miss Louise Jefferson, and a table of novelties that kept one "forgetting" of time, by Miss Marian Hardy, and charming Italian Pottery that made one long to dare to break a more stern commandment in regard to "stealing," by Miss Nickerson, were a few of the treasures brought together in proof of the ability in our midst. A draped window display by Mr. Bartlett; a colonial chair and draperies by Miss Flora MacDonald; novelties by Miss Sladen and Miss Sanborn, and Mrs. Grant, were only a few of the commercial advertising by Mr. Sanborn. Did anyone ever read a more varied list of exhibits of talent? And the telling isn't half the story of its attraction and worthwhileness as an exhibit!

Entertainment for the members was provided by Miss Lillian Pruden, who, colorfully arrayed in Czechoslovakian costume, sang a group of Folk Songs that were greatly enjoyed by the audience. The audience, too, amused itself by joining in community singing of old favorites, the "Jingle Bells" song being more appropriate than the Patriots' Day celebrators wished that it had been just twenty-four hours before! Mrs. Payson Allen performed her good offices at the piano with good nature and kindness. Charlotte P. Steltz, whom the club proudly claims as a member for her ability as a writer, gave two selections, and a brief review, "A Woman Shopping for a Hat" was amusing, but "Two Boys Behind a Fence Making Mud Pies," was clever. One refused to be turned from his task by his calling mother, and frightened companion, who wondered that his chum did not fear a "licking" or "telling dad," and in consequence of his bravery and determination proudly displayed "four pies as his morning's work that wouldn't have been done, had he listened to his mother and friend!" The poem was a pretty bit of—"God cut holes in heaven for the stars to shine through, and the blue snippings made the violets"—a dainty conceit!

It is a pity that the reports of Chairmen can not be given, for they were full of splendid work accomplished. The Home Economics Committee appealed for workers to aid various organizations that are carrying forward civic work, and the Volunteer Service Committee outlined a worthwhile plan for next year in securing from members, by means of a questionnaire, just who would give time to such causes as hospital work, and what time could be promised.

Mrs. Alfred D. Rice, Civics Chairman, reported that $65. had been given for the purpose of buying books for the use of the branch library, so that their branch now holds first place on available supply, and $37. given to the Barnard School for purchase of needed instruments for their orchestra.

The Conservation Chairman brought out splendidly her endeavors, and mention of the depositions of the family cat, advocating its suppression since it is responsible for killing a million birds a year in Massachusetts, was a rather "gasp" bit of news. (And we do love one cat that belongs to a neighbor!)

The joyous work of gathering and sending flowers weekly to hospitals, the giving of jellies and preserves and books; the classes that had taught members so much of practical and "francy" (accordingly pleasant) possibilities for the home and personal adornment, the Legislative instruction that made not only for information but understanding of political backgrounds, the raising of money for fine causes, the Christmas gifts for eager children, the value of press publicity, are just a few of the avenues by which their members have grown and progressed in one short year, as shown by chairmen who told briefly the pleasant story.

A financial report showed over $1,100. given in good causes. The Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Richardson, reported 204 letters written, and 75 women waiting to join the club, and ended her statement with the remark that hers was the best job in the club—little to do, and an unlimited term to enjoy club friendships in service if a Nominating Committee proved indulgent! The Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. Horton S. Allen, humorously declared her committee martyrs in unpopularity, because of the ruling that members show tickets at the door, which ruling it became their unpleasant duty to enforce.

An amendment to the constitution was adopted by which the Chairman of the Nominating Committee became a member of the Executive Board, as was the intent of Article four, but not specified correctly for this interpretation as given in Article seven. Article four was amended, inserting the words: Chairman of the Nominating Committee.

Miss Louise Sherman read the report of the tellers, and the following officers were declared elected: President, Mrs. Austin H. Decatur; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, Mrs. Harry A. Burnham, and Mrs. Edwin P. Crawe; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Robert E. Bruce; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Richardson; Treasurer, Mrs. Albert D. Auryansen; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Don M. Leonard; Clerk, Mrs. Harry B. Greene; Chairman of Finance, Mrs. Gorham W. Harris; Chairman of Publicity, Mrs. Edward K. Titus; Directors for three years, Mrs. William H. Timble, Mrs. Raymond E. Thornton, Mrs. Frederick W. Harding, and Mrs. Myron M. Davis; Nominating Committee, Miss Marion Drew Bassett, Chairman, Mrs. William L. Vossburgh, Mrs. Harold C. Bond, Miss Susie Dickinson and Mrs. Walter T. Kelley.

That Mrs. Decatur is a most popular and beloved leading officer was evidenced by the continuous applause on the mention of her name on the first reading of the ballot by the Nominating Chairman. The ballot also showed a preference for 2.30 as the hour of meetings, rather than 2.15 as proposed, and favored the continued use of postcards announcing meetings.

In taking leave of the retiring officers and board members Mrs. Decatur expressed in her gracious way the regret felt, and the warm appreciation of the services rendered. Each was presented with a basket of flowers, and replied to the tributes gracefully, cleverly, occasionally breaking into rhyme—sure sign of Spring!

The Annual Meeting of the Review Club was held at Oriole Manor, Natick, on the 21st also, at 11 o'clock. The Secretary's report of the previous meeting, and then that for the entire year was read, and both were accepted. A brief resume of the year's work for the Education Committee, Mrs. Davidson, Chairman, was given. Notices from the Art Committee, Mrs. Madison M. Cannon, Chairman, and a report from the Special Library Committee were read. After the treasurer's report was given ten dollars was voted to the Newton Welfare work and a few other bequests were noted.

The Nominating Committee presented the following names: President, Mrs. N. W. Dennett; Vice-President, Mrs. Florence Bridgman; Secretary, Mrs. W. Van Patten Steiger; Treasurer, Mrs. Amos R. Wells; Directors, Mrs. W. H. Blood, Mrs. F. F. Davidson, and Mrs. W. J. Spaulding.

Mrs. George Howland, Chairman of the Program for the new year, read through the topics and then the assignments for the next year's papers were drawn. The first part of the year will be spent in New England; the second half in Africa. It promises to be a year of diversified study, surely!

NEW PASTOR

The Reverend Rubens Rea Hadley of Providence, R. I., has accepted a unanimous call to become the pastor of the Newton Universalist Church, Washington Park, Newtonville. He will conduct his first service in this church Sunday, May 3. Mr. Hadley has been pastor of the First Universalist Church in Providence since January, 1919. Before that time he had been in Everett, Mass. He is an active man interested in the welfare of the community as well as of his own church.

NEWTON CLUB

The annual meeting of the members of the Newton Club will be held at the Club House on Saturday, April 25, 1925, at 8 P. M.

The last Neighborhood Dinner and Dance was held on Tuesday. The committee in charge were: Mrs. Arthur LeBaron, chairman; Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mrs. Howard Niven, Mrs. Allen Salmon, Mrs. Guy Bauer, Mrs. Stanley Arend, Mrs. Joseph Cryan, and Mrs. Frank T. Day.

THE MASTER SUBURB

Coral Gables, Florida, Is One of the Most Remarkable and Noteworthy Real Estate Developments in the Country

Yesterday a dream? Today, a reality. Tomorrow, a vision.

The Sanskrit poet says:—"For yesterday is only a dream. And tomorrow is only a vision. But today, well lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness, Every tomorrow a vision of hope."

one, the Granada entrance. The Douglas entrance calls for an immense archway between two large and stately apartment houses, while the others are less noticeable.

The street layout is the reverse of the usual formal style of many cities and gracefully curves around, forming numerous plazas, with beautiful foun-

at Miami or Coral Gables, depending on which hotel you are assigned, a courteous and gentlemanly salesman calls for you, and drives you about Coral Gables, explaining the development, and deftly calling attention to lots of land which he thinks are good investments. At noon you are invited to the Venetian Casino, shown in one

VENETIAN CASINO AT CORAL GABLES

And that vision of today and tomorrow is solely the conception of Mr. George E. Merrick, a man not yet forty years of age, who has made the wilderness in very truth blossom like the proverbial rose.

Coral Gables is the product of a brain that can plan, a course that defeated all obstacles and a faith in the future that was unshaken.

Three years ago, the city now called Coral Gables was a pine wilderness surrounding an orange grove of 160 acres of water amid flowering shrubs. Mr. Merrick maintains a nursery and property owners in Coral Gables are furnished with advice and shrubs and plants with which to beautify their grounds.

Water costs $1 a month, electricity for lighting and cooking is not at all expensive and sewerage is taken care of by the use of septic tanks. Taxes are ridiculously low, $7 or $8 a year for property costing $12,000.

Realizing the value of access to the

of our illustrations, where there is usually an exhibition of diving and where at 12.30 each day, Hon. William J. Bryan gives a talk on Florida for about a half hour. We were told that Mr. Bryan has about 400 to 500 persons a day to hear him. His talk the day we were there was most entertaining and was eulogistic of course of the beauties of Florida. Following the talk, we were the guests of Coral Gables at one of the beautifully furnished hotels in the property. In the afternoon there was another drive about the development, thru the Coconut Grove section of Miami and to our hotel.

The second day we were free to explore Miami and Miami Beach. Four years ago I stopped a day or two in Miami, then a city of about 30,000. Today it claims a population of 90,000 and is still growing. Four years ago, the Tamiami Hotel was practically on the western outskirts of the city. Today, the centre of population is west of that hotel, and growing constantly towards Coral Gables.

The business streets of Miami are too narrow for the throngs of people who use them. The main street is lined with beautifully furnished offices of numerous land developments, with lectures, and motion pictures to attract attention from the passing throngs. Twice a day Pryors band gives concerts in the park, and on Sunday morning Mr. Bryan conducts a Bible Class of several thousand persons at the same place. The hotels and apartment houses have been unable to take care of the visitors at Miami. We were told of one Newton gentleman, who with his wife and daughter were unable to find a room and were finally provided, given the room of the proprietor of one of the large hotels and charged $48 a day for the service. One hotel accommodating 250 persons stated that they had actually turned away that number in one day.

The return trip starts the third morning, and we reached DeLand once more on the afternoon of the fifth day.

In such unique ways as this Coral Gables is advertised all over Florida, and while other land developments had copied the plan, Coral Gables, is still far in the lead. We found the bus drivers a most capable and courteous set of gentlemen and were told they received a bonus for every trip made without an accident. Our driver certainly made good on the trip we took, stopping at every railroad cross-acres owned by Mr. Merrick's father about three miles from the prosperous city of Miami. Today it comprises about four thousand acres (to which an additional tract of 6,000 acres has just been added) with over a hundred miles of paved streets, a population of over 4000 persons, a bank opened last December with deposits of over a million dollars, a post office, a telephone exchange with equipment for 25,000 subscribers, a school with 300 pupils and four hotels.

At first blush, the project of creating a city in the pine lands west of Miami, without access to the water and with but little if any scenic beauty seems chimerical and absurd. Just water Mr. Merrick is digging a canal for the Miami river thru his property, and will have one or two lagoons large enough for sea going yachts to enter, a water way, two hundred feet wide all with easy access to the Bay of Biscayne.

His latest purchase of 6,000 acres, previously mentioned, connects the present Coral Gables tract with a large frontage on the Bay and it is said will entail an expenditure of a hundred million dollars to carry out the ambitious plans of Mr. Merrick.

Coral Gables itself will have a street car connection with Miami, while the new purchase will provide a railroad station on the Florida East Coast system.

The land at Coral Gables is plotted into various sized lots, the four thousand acres having approximately some 15,000 lots, which sell from $2500 to $20,000 each. The property can be purchased on the installment plan, with 25% down, and the remainder in monthly instalments covering three years at 8% interest.

Other land developments in Florida, in comparison with Coral Gables are mere pikers.

Most of them have entirely removed the trees, leaving bare patches of sandy soil. At Coral Gables, every tree, not in the street layout has been saved and in addition Mr. Merrick has imported hundreds of coconut palms to add to the beauty of the landscape.

The advertising of Coral Gables is an art by itself. Everywhere in Florida are immense billboards calling attention to the desirability of Coral Gables. One and two page advertisements are used in many of the newspapers at frequent intervals. But the climax is reached in the bus service maintained by the Company. Thirty-two comfortable busses, seating about 20 persons each and costing about $9,000 each, furnish regular passenger service, free of cost from all over Florida and one route even reaches Atlanta, Georgia. From DeLand, two trips are made each week thruout the entire year. The trip is taken on invitation of the salesman, each person signing a release from claims for damages caused by accident and also stating that he or she is able to make an investment of a least $2000 if it ap-

A PLAZA IN CORAL GABLES

Imagine some real estate developer, announcing and attempting to create a city of 40,000 people on the plains of Needham as an ultimate integral part of the city of Boston. It would be a fair comparison of what Mr. Merrick actually has accomplished at Coral Gables which he calls the "finest suburb of America" or the "Master suburb of America."

At the beginning of the enterprise, it is said that Mr. Merrick was unable to obtain the credit he required from the Miami banks. Today he has the backing of some of the wealthiest insurance companies of the country—a business that demands the utmost security for its investments.

Money has been, and now will be lavishly expended for the beautification and development of the property. A Biltmore hotel, to cost ten millions of dollars is now under construction, with one wing to be used as a Country Club, almost completed. There is a polo field, two golf courses, numerous tennis courts and a wonderful swimming pool, for the amusement of the people, while business is confined to one section of the area called the Arts and Crafts section.

The development, of course, is largely residential and in that respect is unique for Mr. Merrick has restricted the architecture to the Spanish type and each building fits into the general effect as a bit of mosaic.

There are four entrances into the property, and our illustration shows peals to them. The only expense is the cost of the meals and of lodging, provision for which is made by the Company. The trip from DeLand takes about a day and a half, the distance being about 275 miles.

We also found Coral Gables well served by a most courteous corps of salesmen, some 200 in all, who were selling an average of one million dol-

WINNING LETTER

Contest Editor,
Dear Sir:—

I have been a reader of the Newton Graphic for many years and note with interest the contest for the betterment of homes that you are now running.

It is principally through the newspapers and the advertising that they carry that we get our ideas for making the homes more beautiful—inside and out.

It would seem then, that a household column in the Newton Graphic would fill a long felt want. Possibly an out-of-doors column, regarding the home, would also be a good thing.

As the newspaper is a part of home life it should carry suggestions, hints to housekeepers, schemes for decoration, etc., in a special column set apart for this purpose.

There are a great many ways to make our homes better, but to my mind, the best way is to carry the ideas through the newspapers. Therefore, I would suggest that the Newton Graphic, in the near future, inaugurate in its columns a Better Homes Column and thereby benefit a great number of its readers.

MRS. THOS. J. KAVANAUGH, 20 Marion Road,
Watertown, Mass.

NATURE teaches that in the time of plenty we should lay in a store for the lean months. The thrifty housewife "puts up" fruit and berries in the summer when they are cheap so as to have regal fare for winter months. In the Fall, you save by laying in potatoes and apples for coming months, discounting the certain rise in price. In APRIL, lay in your winter's supply of coal. Coal is always cheapest in April. SACRED DRAMA TO BE REPEATED AT AUBURNDALE CHURCH

The drama "Amos," presented Easter Sunday night at Centenary M. E. Church, Auburndale, will be repeated next Sunday night.

The drama is written, coached, and produced by Mrs. Eleanor Wood Whitman, whose sacred dramas have been presented in leading churches and theatres throughout the United States and abroad. John Pratt Whitman, well known as a playwright of Biblical characters plays the leading role. A carefully selected cast of men and women from Centenary Church make up the remainder of the cast.

Splendid interpretations, effective costumes, appropriate scenes, superbly lighted combine to make this a memorable departure in dramatic service in the church. Probably never before have citizens of Newton or Boston had an opportunity to witness such a production without paying admission, as a Sunday night service in the church.

The presentation is in the nature of an experiment undertaken by the pastor and officials of the church to determine the effectiveness of this form of religious expression, instruction, and inspiration. Elaborate musical services and a limited use of pageantry has featured the Sunday evening services of Centenary Church during the past four years. This is the first use of pure drama.

An audience overflowing the church witnessed the first presentation, and many were unable to gain admission. A very large attendance is expected.

for the second presentation. The young women of Lasell Seminary will attend the service Sunday night. There will be room for two hundred or more people beside, but only early arrival will insure seats.

CITY HALL

Mr. George E. Stuart, Street Commissioner, was a guest of the Town of Concord at the exercises held on Monday in celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Concord and Lexington.

Fifty years ago, on the hundredth anniversary, Mr. Stuart was a witness at the celebration when President Grant, General Sherman and General Sheridan took part in the exercises.

The report of the Public Buildings Commissioner for 1924 has been made public. Among the recommendations for the coming year are appropriations of $135,000 for schoolhouses, and $38,500 for the maintenance of other buildings. The commissioner recommends that several sheds and buildings be torn down, among them the two buildings in the rear of City Hall, the Wilcox street stable and the Froebel school in West Newton. It is reported that all the hospitals in the city have complied with the rules of the Department of Public Safety. Commissioner Chadwick recommends that a study of conditions at City Hall be made and that more office space and vault room be provided. Many of the vaults are not of suitable construction and, in case of fire, serious loss of records is quite possible at present.

A most delightful luncheon followed this meeting and at this time the roll was called and each one answered with a funny story or a favorite quotation. A brief, interesting, and distinctly unique entertainment was presented by several members who were called to take part in an impromptu program by the Program Chairman, Mrs. J. Scott Rider. The meeting adjourned at about 2:30 o'clock after all had agreed that a day of greatest enjoyment had been spent.

At the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning, members and guests enjoyed a lecture by Mr. Howard H. Cleaves on the subject "Experiences with Wild Birds," illustrated by his own photographs. Some of them were remarkable views of nests with eggs and young birds, others of adult birds in characteristic action. He told many interesting stories showing that they have "emotions." Mr. Cleaves spoke of the enemies of bird-life, chief among them the marauding cats, and boys and men who consider it sport to shoot and snare. The laws of protection in this country are strict, but in remote places cannot be adequately enforced. He emphasized the economic value of the birds in keeping down the insect pests. Incidentally, Mr. Cleaves showed some amusing pictures of three young racoons being brought up "by hand."

Mrs. Nina Mae Forde, soprano soloist, assisted by Mrs. Lucy Chase Stoddard, pianist, gave a most interesting program at the Annual Meeting of the Woman's Club on Tuesday. It is a pleasure to hear one who enunciates so clearly and sings as charmingly as does Mrs. Forde.

Mrs. Simonds' piano accompaniment deserves especial mention, as does her solo work. The Club Chorus also assisted on the program.

The Boston Women's Civic Club held its annual meeting and luncheon at the Hotel Brunswick on Wednesday, and had a most pleasurable gathering. Mrs. Smith brought greetings from the State Federation; Mrs. Poole, as General Federation Director, spoke in her usual inimitable manner; Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Pride, District Directors, gave inspiring messages, and the various club members were called upon for amusing stories. Among the Newton women who were so invited to speak by the President were Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton, Mrs. William Birdsall, Mrs. Mick, and Miss Emma D. Coolidge. Mrs. Birdsall presented Mrs. Hayden and Miss Howes, the Secretary, with bouquets—and more lasting token of affection of club members—books, which latter many members autographed. Her presentation was splendidly done, and the tribute to Mrs. Hayden's untiring cheer and aid and calm through all storms a tribute that was never more merited by a club president—touched our president, proving her kind heart. Mrs. Samuel McCall, beloved member, also was paid much homage.

The new President is one well-known in club circles—our Director of Mothercraft for the State Federation, and one of the new Directors is no less a personage than Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole. Mrs. Hayden gave this statement in her farewell words—words that Newton women may be complimented to know—that while this little group was a small club its members were the cream of the State! A former Federation Director was also one of its members, we were reminded by the President, in a fitting "memorial"—Mrs. George Minot Baker. The ballot unanimously elected as President, Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Ledyard W. Sargent; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Walter E. Weld; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Walter G. Dennison; Treasurer, Mrs. Susan L. Greely; Auditor, Mrs. Joseph B. Brown; Directors, Mrs. William E. Birdsall, Mrs. Henry H. Cudworth, and Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole.

Coming Events

April 27th is a popular date for Annual Meetings. The Waban Woman's Club holds its business meeting that morning at 10:30 o'clock at Union Church, followed by luncheon at the Neighborhood Club at one o'clock. In the afternoon there is also planned a short entertainment for a final remembrance of the enjoyable club year. The change in ballot will be voted upon that day, and it will be noted that there are many changes from the past year: President, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Warren H. Hoey; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. James O'Hearn; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Walter F. Stevens; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Frank Redmond; Treasurer, Miss Ethel Proctor; Auditor, Miss Elizabeth Ryan; Directors for Two Years, Mrs. Chas. Chadwick, Miss Clementine Varr, Directors for One Year, Mrs. Harry Cook, and Miss Nellie Osborne.

Reports of the year's work by various committees will be followed by luncheon tendered to the club members by the President and Executive Board. The Monday Club also winds up its affairs on the afternoon of the 27th. Mrs. James Kingman of 32 Fisher ave.

nue graciously opening her home. Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee and Mrs. S. H. Woodrow will also aid as hostesses.

On the 27th also, but not an annual meeting, is the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. at the home of Mrs. Isaac Goddard, Lincoln street. Mrs. George F. Hardy and Mrs. George H. Fernald will continue, for the second installment of an interesting subject, the discussion of "Henry Fifth." Questions will be in order, always an entertaining possibility!

On Wednesday morning, April 29th, the Social Science Club will hold its annual meeting and luncheon at the Brae Burn Country Club. The meeting will be at 10:30 and the luncheon at 12:30. Members wishing transportation and those who can furnish it please notify Miss Clara Soule, 82 Walnut Park.

On the evening of the 29th the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club gives its Dramatic Night in Emerson School Hall at 8 o'clock, when a breezy western comedy—"Take My Advice"—is scheduled to delight all who attend. The cast has been ably coached by Jack Cronin, whose fame and ability needs no advertising to prove the success of the play. Piano selections will precede the performance, and between the acts there will be selections by a young men's trio. Tickets may be obtained from club members or, if more convenient, at Aiken's Pharmacy.

Rev. Henry H. Crane, who has recently returned from a trip to China with his uncle, Dr. Frank Crane, the well-known author, will speak before the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, April 30th, at 2:30 P. M. His subject will be "Ghosts." This title certainly will awaken all manner of "visions," and make club members and others want to go and "see" what it is all about. There will also be a short business meeting—very short.

The 30th is also the opening date of a week's exhibition of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Sculpture in the Art Room. Those who have followed these exhibitions this year realize how worthwhile they always are, and will be glad of this news that there is to be another.

On the 28th the Children's Carnival will bring new entertainment to the children, at 2 o'clock on that day. Dancing and refreshments will follow the program. This carnival is repeated this year, due to the great success of the carnival of last year, and threatens to become an annual feature. Mrs. Phil M. Riley is Chairman of the program.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. cordially invites its members and friends to their Annual Meeting, Luncheon and Entertainment at the Newton Y. M. C. A. hall, on May Day, the business meeting beginning at 12 noon. Reservations should be made before Monday the 27th, and tickets for the luncheon may be paid for, if so reserved, at the meeting. Address Mrs. F. H. Franklin, 33 Richardson street, Newton.

May 2nd is Annual Meeting day for the Christian Era Study Club, when the President, Mrs. E. B. Smith will entertain members at 729 Boylston street, Boston. The Nominating Committee, which will bring in the list to be acted upon at the time, include Mrs. Edward Edmunds, Chairman, Mrs. Arthur Desoe and Miss M. Shepard.

Newton Centre

—Herbert L. Ray has purchased two lots of land on Ridge avenue. —Chester C. Rauch has taken an apartment in the new house at 141 Park street. —Lillian E. Rolger has purchased two lots of land on Ridge avenue on which she intends to build. —Mr. John J. Doyle of Watertown, has purchased the new house and garage at 43 Halcyon road for occupancy.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. Rawlinson of Shanghai, have been adopted by the First Church, as their representatives on the foreign field.

Next Monday is "Bundling Day" for the Near East. Citizens of Newton are asked to leave their contributions at the nearest fire or police station.

Mr. Thomas P. Beal of Chestnut Hill, has leased "Foregate," Mr. Francis Wigglesworth's estate at West Manchester, for the coming season.

On Wednesday evening, April 29, "A Stitch in Time" will be given in the Chapel of the First Church. Refreshments and a social hour will follow.

Mrs. Constantine Hutchins of 4 Arlington road, Chestnut Hill, who sailed last week for Europe, will be joined abroad by Mr. Hutchins in about a month. They plan to return to this country for the Summer.

The engagement is announced of Robert Ivan Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Bradley of Chestnut Hill to Miss Hortense S. Cobb of Lancaster, South Carolina. Mr. Bradley is a graduate of Mass. Institute of Technology.

There will be a Union Meeting of the Men's Clubs of Newton Centre, at the First Church, next Monday night, at 6:30. Mr. Frank P. Sibley of the Globe, will be the speaker of the evening. A "stunt" will be given by each club and a greeting by each of the pastors.

A Union Meeting of the Men's Clubs of the churches of Newton Centre will be held on Monday evening, April 27, at the First Church. The program will include a good dinner, a "stunt" by each club, a short talk by each minister and "community" singing led by Mr. Pottengill.

Miss Rosamond Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen S. Bartlett of Chestnut Hill, has chosen Saturday, May 23, for her marriage to Mr. Roger Brooke Coulter of Cambridge, son of Mrs. Robert C. Coulter of Sandy Spring, Md. The ceremony will take place in the afternoon at 3:30, in the First Church at Chestnut Hill, and will be followed by a reception. Miss Bartlett made her debut in 1920, and is a member of the Junior League. Mr. Coulter is a graduate of Williams College, class of 1918, and of the Harvard Law School, class of 1922. He served in the World War. The engagement was announced two years ago.

DEATH OF MR. BARTLETT

Mr. Martin Van Buren Bartlett, one of the oldest residents of South Natick, died at his home on Elliot street, Friday, following a long illness. He was a native of Newton, was born in the Newton Lower Falls section, Dec. 14, 1839, and went to South Natick with his parents when a child. He formed a copartnership with Eliot Perry and opened a grocery store. He retired from active business in 1911. He had been a lifelong member of the Elliot Congregational Church and held many offices within the church, being deacon for sixty-five years. For many years he was a trustee of the Beacon Free Library and treasurer of the South Natick Historical Society.

His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Bartlett, and two daughters, Miss Florence Bartlett, who lives in South Natick, and Mrs. M. A. Waite, survive.
